LEWIS MULCTS MINERS TO BUOY TOTTERING C.I.O.

Also Exacts Tribute for Political Slush.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—The latest official report of the United Mine Workers shows that John L. Lewis is milking that organization in an effort to sustain the tottering structure of the Committee for Industrial Organization and to finance his political activities.

Long standing reports that other large international unions affiliated with the C. I. O. have ceased paying per capita taxes to Lewis' central organization are substantiated by the report of Thomas E. Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, for the six month period from Dec. 1, 1937, to June 1, 1938.

In that period the U. M. W. lent the C. I. O. $180,000. It lent the Steel Workers' Organizing committee of the C. I. O. $100,000, and it lent the Textile Workers' Organizing committee of the C. I. O. $99,000.

Martin Charges Substantiated.

These loans tend to confirm charges made by Homer Martin, president of the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers, that the C. I. O. steel and textile unions are paper organizations which pay nothing into the C. I. O. treasury. The fact that the C. I. O. had to borrow $180,000 from the miners to finance its activities in other industries indicates some of the other unions are paper organizations.

During the six month period Lewis took a total of $881,600 from the treasury of the United Mine Workers, his own union, to finance his activities outside that union. The disbursements were as follows:

May 12, state committee, Kennedy for governor, loan	$100,000
May 20, state committee, Kennedy for governor, loan	5,000
Committee for Industrial Organization, loans	180,000
Committee for Industrial Organization, taxes	180,000
Labor's Nonpartisan league, contributions	217,600
Steel Workers' Organizing committee, loans	100,000
Textile Workers' Organizing committee, loans	99,000
Total	$881,600

$500,000 for C. I. O. Ticket.

Kennedy, the U. M. W. secretary-treasurer, is lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania and was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination against C. Alvin Jones. The $105,000 put up by the mine workers was part of a $500,000 fund raised and spent by the C. I. O. ticket, Kennedy for governor and Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia for the United States senate.

The Roosevelt administration supported Kennedy for governor, but supported Gov. George H. Earle, who was nominated, for the United States senate.

The $217,600 which the mine workers donated to Labor's Nonpartisan league, political adjunct of the C. I. O., was spent during the 1938 primaries, in which the C. I. O. coöperated with President Roosevelt's ill-fated undertaking to purge the Democratic party of all except yes-men. The C. I. O. had a black list of its own, closely following the administration's purge list, and it was a 95 per cent failure.

40 on Black List; 38 Win.

Of the 40 members of congress on the C. I. O. black list, 38 were renominated and two—Representative William J. Driver [D., Ark.] and Representative John J. O'Connor [D., N. Y.]—were defeated. O'Connor, chairman of the house rules committee, still has a chance to be reëlected, since he was nominated by the Republicans and polled a majority of the total vote cast in the primary. He is running as an independent Democrat.

The so-called nonpartisan league is expected to dip much deeper into the mine workers' treasury during the current general election campaigns. In 1936 the miners put up $500,000 for the reëlection of President Roosevelt, and organizations dominated by Lewis raised a total of $700,000.

Publicly proclaiming that he reelected Mr. Roosevelt, Lewis foreclosed the mortgage on the White House during the sitdown and steel strikes of 1937. Moreover, since 1936, he has dominated the national labor relations board, the national bitumi-

GEN. MOSELEY WARNS OF U. S. DICTATOR PERIL

Draws Rebuke from Sec'y Woodring.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—A stir was caused in the war department and in administration circles today by criticisms of the national administration made by Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley. The charge, the answer and the rejoinder were as follows:

1 Gen. Moseley issued a statement at Atlanta, Ga., from the headquarters of the Third army which he commanded, assailing the country's present leadership. He warned that the nation is threatened with dictatorship. The statement was made on the occasion of his retirement from the army after 43 years of service.

2 Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring, in Washington, immediately rebuked the high officer. He accused Gen. Moseley of flagrant disloyalty and of violating military law by criticizing his commander in chief [President Roosevelt.]

3 Gen. Moseley, replying to the rebuke, pointed out he was exercising his right of free speech and reiterated that, as an American citizen, he did not agree with many things done in the name of democracy.

Native of Evanston, Ill.

Gen. Moseley reached the age of 64, the statutory retirement age, on Wednesday. Maj. Gen. Stanley K. Embick was ordered to relieve him as commander of the Fourth corps area and the Third army, one of the nation's four field armies.

The retiring officer is a native of Evanston, Ill. He is one of four officers to receive the distinguished service medal twice. He served in the Philippine insurrection, on the Mexican border, in France during the world war, and had several other foreign assignments. He went to France in 1917 as commander of the Fifth field artillery and later became a member of Gen. Pershing's staf.

Gen. Moseley was decorated by the British, French, Belgian, Italian, and Panama governments. He was deputy chief of staf of the army shortly before he was assigned to the command at Atlanta from which he retired today.

The severity of the official rebuke administered to him by the secretary of war was declared by other army officers to be without parallel in their memory. The incident, however, was compared with that in which Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood was relieved of his command and allowed to retire in 1936 after his criticism of New Deal relief spending.

Desires to Help Nation.

It is customary for a general officer to issue a statement or address to his commands on retiring. General Moseley explained that in his statement today he departed from military subjects because of his desire to help in the evolution of serious national problems.

Secretary Woodring, in his rebuke, made it clear that he was addressing Gen. Moseley as an officer of the United States army in spite of the general's retired status. The secretary pointed out that Gen. Moseley will

Loving Captor Starves Baby Chimp in Cage

New Orleans, La., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—A baby chimpanzee was a prisoner tonight in the Audubon park zoo, and neither zoo officials nor police were able to free him. The infant is starving, the victim of a strange jungle devotion.

He was born yesterday to Coco. The rage of her husband, Pete, who, after the manner of apes, hated the baby, quickly turned the mother's happiness into tragedy.

As Coco held her baby to her breast, Pete dashed at her to seize it. Panic stricken, Coco dropped the baby to the floor.

Maiden Seizes Baby.

Then Luizette, a maiden chimpanzee, rushed in. She picked up the baby, chattered defiance at Pete, and scurried to a corner of the cage.

Zoo keepers waited several hours for the chimpanzee tempers to cool and then tried to take the baby from Luizette. She cannot nurse him and he will starve unless taken from her.

Luizette refused, however, to give him up. Bribery, threats, and proddings were of no avail. She held the baby against her breast.

Luizette Foils Lasso.

Detective John Grosch undertook to handcuff her, but lacked strength to do so. Then zoo keepers tried to lasso her. After several attempts they succeeded in dropping a loop around her neck, but Luizette simply stooped over and untied the knot.

Frank Neelis, zoo superintendent, telegraphed Robert Bean, assistant director of the Chicago Zoölogical park at Brookfield, Ill., for suggestions. Bean advised giving Luizette a sleeping potion.

HUSBAND SIGNS UP FOR RELEASE FROM DOGHOUSE

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Perry D. Read has promised to be a model husband, his estranged wife said today.

She said he agreed to: Give an account of money she gave him; not to fuss about the food, especially eggs; let her read in the evening; let her have the mail when it is delivered; be pleasant at family parties or stay away.

Read sued her for $250,000, which he said she owes him. Mrs. Read countered by declaring he owes her $6,000 on a promissory note.

STORK VISITS FAMILY FOR 14TH TIME; FINDS IT SHORT ON NAMES

If you can think of a good name for a baby girl that Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tennyson haven't used, they'll be happy to know about it. The stork, which might as well hang his hat there and save himself a lot of flying, has just brought the fourteenth baby to their home at 301 Powell avenue, Waukegan. The Tennysons were already Waukegan's largest family.

If you really want to help them choose a name, you can pass these up as already in use: Neal, 1 year old; Wilma, 2; Norma, 3; Reta, 4; Marilyn, 6; Barbara, 7; Otto, 9; Louise, 10; Dorothy, 12; Florence, 13; Maxine, 15; Roger, 16; Edward, 17. Arkie's out, to. That's their dog.

TOWN REFUSES U. S. OFFER OF CIVIC BUILDING

Mahwah, N. J., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—The Works Progress administration may be a little put out today because Mahwah has joined the growing list of communities that refuse to accept government largess. By a vote of 780 to 140 the citizens of this town of 4,000 turned down the offer of the Federal government to build it a $212,500 community center.

The citizens felt a $200,000 community building in a town which has a number of frame school houses would be like "giving a family on relief a Rolls-Royce automobile." Besides, they have a $75,000 community center which was built nine years ago.

Hundreds Call Police to Ask of Peter Quill

The mysteries of the Crimson Wizard! The identity of Peter Quill! The secrets of the Red Circle!

They started out last night to be just another radio mystery thriller. But before W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system had half completed the first episode of the spy drama public attention had been swerved from war and baseball to the theft of naval secrets and the mysteries of espionage.

Calls Swamp Police, Tribune.

Telephone calls told the story of the public interest. Hundreds of them poured into state, county, and city police stations; into W-G-N, into the office of THE TRIBUNE Sunday editor [one of the characters in the drama] and into the news department of THE TRIBUNE. The presentation had been so real that the listeners demanded more information and verification of the story.

Twice the announcer during the half hour's broadcast from 8 to 8:30 p. m. told W-G-N listeners that the presentation was purely fictional.

Demand More Details.

That made no difference.

Here are some of the comments coming into THE TRIBUNE switchboard:

"But some of it must be true..." "Wasn't there even any fire in the naval building?" "It WAS true; we heard the squad cars and everything." "I didn't think it was true at first but I watched my wife's face and decided it must be." And then there were scores who asked: "But who IS Peter Quill?"

And hundreds of other questions. The answers? THE TRIBUNE telephone girls could not give them. If you want to learn them read the first instalment of "The Crimson Wizard" in tomorrow's color Graphic section of the CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE. And the great governmental spy inquiry will be resumed at the same hour next Friday night on W-G-N and the Mutual chain.

Tie Cardinals, 7 to 7; Pirates Lose and Win

If—

The Cubs can win the National league pennant today by taking two games from the St. Louis Cardinals, regardless of what Pittsburgh does against Cincinnati in its two remaining games. Should the Pirates lose to the Reds today, the Cubs could clinch the championship by winning only one game of their doubleheader. If the Cubs divide their two games and the Pirates win today, the championship would hinge upon tomorrow's final games, when a victory for the Cubs or a defeat for the Pirates would give Chicago the title. A defeat for the Cubs and a victory for the Pirates would make Pittsburgh the champion by one percentage point.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Pictures on back page.)

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 30.—A 6 to 1 lead in the third inning wasn't enough for two of the Cubs' tourist guest pitchers, Tex Carleton and Larry French, today. Nevertheless, the league leading Chicagoans were not to be denied their daily heroics. They stood off a three hit attack by the St. Louis Cardinals in the ninth to throw the game into a 7 to 7 darkness tie. The tie will be played off in a double header starting at 1 o'clock tomorrow.

The Cubs retained their game and a half lead because the second place Pittsburgh Pirates divided a doubleheader with Cincinnati, losing the first, 7 to 1, and winning the second, 4 to 2.

That Exciting Ninth.

Since the ninth inning stand transcended the prior disappointments in pennant importance, we'll give you the setting as darkness fell:

The Cards made one run off Clay Bryant, the third Cub pitcher, in the seventh to tie the score—only a miracle maneuver by Phil Cavarretta when he trapped a ball off the right field wall, kept them from making a hatful of runs—and that tie prevailed with but one scare in the eighth.

The Cubs got a runner as far as third in the ninth, and when that threat vanished the Cardinals went to work in the one session that daylight would allow.

Strategy Delays Runner.

Mickey Owen led off with a single to center. Cub luck then manifested itself in a spectacular way. Pepper Martin hit the right field wall, but Cavarretta feinted a catch and Owen held up momentarily, then stopped at second. Moore fouled to O'Dea, but Stu Martin was credited with his fourth hit of the game when Bryant dropped Herman's throw. Bill had captured Stu's bouncer after

HITLER FORCES TAKE OVER FIRST SUDETEN AREA

Bridges Wrecked by Retreating Czechs.

BERLIN, Oct. 1 [Saturday].—(AP)—The first contingent of German troops crossed the Czechoslovak frontier near Aigen, Upper Austria, early today, starting Adolf Hitler's occupation of territory granted him by the four power Munich accord.

The gray clad German infantrymen marched over the border shortly after 1 a. m. [6 p. m. Friday, Chicago time], little more than an hour after the midnight deadline Hitler had set for his occupation.

Main Army to Follow.

About 600 infantrymen were in the group which first stepped across the Czech border. They had advanced along several roads from Aigen to take possession of posts immediately behind the Czechoslovak frontier in southwestern Czechoslovakia.

It was explained this movement was regarded as merely a vanguard, reconnoitering the terrain and preparing for the main army of occupation to march in later today and take over the first of four Sudeten districts granted Hitler immediately by the Munich pact.

The main body of troops, some 30,000 men assembled along the border of German Austria, was expected to follow up the vanguard shortly after 6 a. m. [11 p. m. Friday, Chicago time].

Czechs Destroy Bridges.

Aigen and other towns near the frontier, opposite the Krumau district which Germany was authorized to take over first, resembled large storehouses with quantities of canned goods, rice, and flour assembled for transport into Sudetenland to supply any needs of the populace as well as the army.

Observers in the district reported hectic activity before nightfall on the Czechoslovak side of the border.

It was reported wooden bridges across the Moldau river were being destroyed by retreating Czechoslovaks.

To assure transport into Sudetenland without a hitch, the army ordered farmers to place at their disposal all available horses.

Six Slain in Clash.

ASCH, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Four Czechoslovak soldiers and two Sudeten Germans were killed today in cross fire outside Eger, in the farthest western tip of territory being ceded to Germany. Otherwise all fighting stopped in this Sudeten region as the Sudeten German free corps prepared to march back into Czechoslovakia behind the German army of occupation.

NEW PEACE PACT

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—"Never again will there be a war between Germany and England."

This was the triumphant cry that spread through Germany today after Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain announced in Munich that he and Reichsfuehrer Hitler had signed a new Anglo-German declaration of peace. Chamberlain's announcement was made after a final two hour meeting with the Fuehrer before he flew back to London.

The new accord was a sequel to yesterday's conference in the Bavarian capital, where the "Big Four"—Britain, Germany, France, and Italy—decided last night to carve up Czechoslovakia.

Plan Nonaggression Pacts.

Before having his final talk with Hitler, Chamberlain conferred with Premier Edouard Daladier of France. Reliable sources said England and France have virtually agreed to sign nonaggression pacts with Germany—pacts similar to those which Hitler has been offering to sign for years. Daladier was said to be eager to sign such a treaty.

This is to be the forerunner to a "holy alliance" among England, France, Germany, and Italy which the Nazis hope will become a reality in the near future. Armaments and the Spanish civil war will be among the questions to be settled.

Chamberlain's statement announcing the Anglo-German friendship agreement said:

"We, the German Fuehrer and chancellor and the British prime minister, have had a further meeting today and are agreed in recognizing that the question of Anglo-German relations is of first importance for the two countries and for Europe.

"We regard the agreement signed last night and the Anglo-German naval agreement as symbolic of the desires of our two peoples never to go to war with one another again.

"We are resolved that the method of consultation shall be the method adopted to deal with any other questions that may concern our two countries, and we are determined to continue our efforts to remove possible sources of difference and thus to contribute to assure the peace of Europe."

Mention of the Anglo-German naval agreement was a reference to the treaty signed in 1936, under which Germany pledged itself to limit its naval tonnage to 35 per cent of that of Great Britain.

Daladier Goes Nazi.

Premier Daladier, who was escorted during most of the time he was in Munich by the jovial Field Marshal Herman Wilhelm Goering, left Germany an enthusiastic friend of his new Nazi acquaintances. In describing his experiences in Munich to French newspaper men, Daladier evinced such glowing enthusiasm that his assistants asked the press not to quote him because this might prove embarrassing upon his return to France.

All through the Munich conference the relations between Germany's Fuehrer and his foreign guests were most cordial. Chamberlain and Daladier greatly shocked Hitler, it was disclosed, by telling him bluntly that their countries were ready to go to war unless the occupation of the Sudeten areas was carried out by means based on an international understanding.

Hitler's foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, had been assuring the Fuehrer that he need not fear that the foreign powers would dare act, regardless of what he did. Goering, on the other hand, had seconded the German general staf in its efforts to convince the Fuehrer that there was no need of taking an unnecessary war risk—that his goal of "liberating" Sudetenland could be reached by peaceful means.

This open discussion of vital problems, it was said, greatly helped clarify the international situation.

International Board Meets.

This afternoon, with Chamberlain, Daladier, and Premier Mussolini back in their capitals, the center of action switched from Munich to Berlin. The international commission to supervise the German occupation of the Sudeten area met in the German foreign office. The commission was appointed by the "big four."

Members of the commission are Sir Nevile Henderson, British ambassador to Germany; André François-Poncet, French ambassador to Germany; Count Ernst von Weizsaecker, German secretary of state in the foreign office; Bernardo Attolico, Italian ambassador to Germany, and Dr. Vojtech Mastny, Czech minister to Germany.

The latter arrived in Berlin by plane this afternoon, bringing his government's acceptance of the four power plan. With him were three Czech army officers who will negotiate directly with German army officers concerning the evacuation of the Sudeten area by Czech troops and civilians who wish to leave.

Occupied Areas Defined.

The territory to be occupied by German troops tomorrow lies in the southwestern corner of Czechoslovakia, north of Passau and Linz. It includes the towns of Hohenfurth and Wallern. By securing this strip the Germans open a breach into the Boehmerwald, a mountain range always highly valued by the Czechs as a natural barrier against Germany.

On Oct. 2 and 3 the Germans will occupy a strip on the Saxony-Bohemian border, including the towns of Tetschen on the Elbe, Rumburg, Warnsdorf, and Friedland.

The biggest territory is to be occupied on Oct. 4 and 5. It includes the towns of Graslitz and Eger, the famous health resorts of Carlsbad, Marienbad, and Franzensbad, and the city of Asch, headquarters of the Sudeten Nazis and birthplace of their leader, Konrad Henlein. The seizure of this district opens another breach in the natural defenses of Czechoslovakia—the northern ranges of the Boehmerwald and the Erzgebirge, along the Saxony border.

On Oct. 6 and 7 the Nazis will occupy a strip on the Moravian-Silesian border, including the towns of Jaegerndorf, Freiwaldau, and Freudenthal.

The total area to be occupied by the German troops is much smaller than Hitler demanded in his memorandum in which he mapped out the district to be ceded to Germany without a plebiscite. This is due to Premier Mussolini's efforts. Il Duce persuaded Hitler to reduce the area to be occupied immediately by German troops and instead increase the plebiscite area. Hitler was able to compromise, since the German public never was allowed to see the map accompanying the memorandum.

Cement Belgian Relations.

German and Belgian relations, which have improved steadily since the Belgians canceled the Franco-Belgian military alliance, were further cemented today when the German legation in Brussels and the Belgian legation in Berlin were raised to the ranks of embassies. During the last critical weeks Belgium called six classes of reservists to the colors and distributed its forces equally on the German and French frontiers. This caused much satisfaction in Germany.

While negotiations with England, France, Italy, Belgium, and Czechoslovakia have been proceeding, little attention has been given to developments in Germany's relations with Poland. Though Hitler has announced that he has no more territorial claims in Europe, Germans are eager for the return to Germany of Danzig and Memel. The Germans expect that Danzig soon will return to the reich.

Since Hitler recognizes that Poland needs an outlet to the sea, plans have been worked out to create a neutral narrow corridor linking Germany, Danzig, and East Prussia, running east to west in the Polish corridor. German groups living on Polish soil in this region are to be exchanged for Polish groups living in Germany and thus restore "racial peace."

Since the transfer is very complicated, it is assumed that it will be some time before the Polish-German agreement will be made public.

CZECHS SUBMIT TO NAZIS; POLES RENEW DEMAND

New Warsaw Note Asks Decision at Once.

PRAGUE, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The Czechoslovak government, after bowing under protest to the Munich partition accord, received a new Polish note tonight calling for immediate response to Poland's territorial demands.

Poland has asked the Czechoslovak government to evacuate all Czechoslovak territory inhabited by Poles.

One report said the Poles demanded that Czech troops be withdrawn immediately from the Teschen area.

[In Warsaw, the Polish government was understood to have set noon today (5 a. m. central standard time) as a deadline for answering its demands. Polish authorities did not disclose details of the demands, but the region generally mentioned is the Teschen district in Silesia, an area of 772 square miles, where most of the Polish minority of approximately 100,000 resides.]

"Compelled to Accept."

Extra police and soldiers were drafted to curb demonstrations against the Munich accord after Gen. Jan Syrovy, soldier premier, announced the government's decision to surrender Sudetenland to Germany. He said the decision was made in face of "a superior force which has compelled us to accept."

"We are ready to give our blood—don't give in," and "We want the whole republic—we want to fight," the demonstrators shouted.

Police used only persuasion to quiet them. There were no clashes.

The government, however, determined not to give Germany any excuse for intervention, ordered a fresh blackout similar to those conducted on recent nights as defense against possible air raids.

Radio Programs Canceled.

The Munich agreement, signed yesterday by the government leaders of Germany, Italy, Britain, and France, was published in Prague tonight. The nation thus learned for the first time the details of the plan for ceding to Germany the Sudeten German areas of Czechoslovakia.

Radio programs were canceled as a signal of national mourning. Only an occasional news bulletin or appeal for order went on the air.

Gen. Syrovy, a veteran campaigner, now 50 years old, said in a broadcast earlier in the day telling of the government's capitulation to the accord:

"The government of the Czechoslovak republic, having examined the Munich decision in all details as well as the circumstances which influenced that decision, and after having taken into account all the pressing recommendations which were sent to Prague by the British and French governments, has decided, in full realization of its historic responsibility and in full accord with responsible elements of the various political parties, to accept the Munich decision of the four powers.

Protests Munich Plan.

"It has done this in the belief that it is necessary for safeguarding the nation, and that it is not possible today to take any other decision.

"The Czechoslovak government in making this decision sends at the same time to the world its protest against this agreement, which was made in a unilateral manner and without its participation."

Later the premier said:

"I am appealing to the people to maintain confidence in their leaders. Our state will not be the smallest. There are smaller states than we shall be. But understanding with our neighbors will be easier.

"We Have Been Abandoned."

"We have been abandoned. We are all alone. Our neighbors are under arms. Our position is like that of a fortress besieged by crushing forces.

"My duty was to consider everything. As a soldier I had to choose the way to peace."

The Czech decision was taken in a four hour meeting of the cabinet.

Gen. Ludwig Krejci, commander in chief of the army, issued a proclamation that the "army associates itself with the profound mourning which this amputation of the heritage of our ancestors represents for us."

At the same time, he appealed to the army to protect loyally the new, shrunken state bereft of its rich industrial and agricultural Sudeten areas.

More than 50,000 Sudeten German Social Democrats already have fled Sudetenland to seek refuge in interior Czechoslovakia. They do not share the views of the pro-Hitler Sudeten Nazi party.

The president of the Social Democrats said he planned to appeal to Britain in an effort to see that at least part of the anti-Nazi Germans be given new homes and new possibilities of existence in some far away country, perhaps Canada.

5,000 BRITISH TROOPS WILL POLICE CZECHS IN PLEBISCITE ZONES

LONDON, Sept. 30.—(AP)—It was learned reliably tonight that six battalions of British troops would be sent to Czechoslovakia soon. They will assist in police duties connected with carrying out the partition decreed by the four power agreement signed yesterday in Munich.

The accord provided for an international force to police areas not immediately ceded to Germany, where plebiscites will determine their ultimate nationality.

The troops—numbering about 5,000—were expected to depart within a few days.

Two battalions will be from regiments of the line. Four battalions will be selected from five regiments of footguards which supply sentries and guards of honor for King George VI. of Great Britain. These are the Grenadier Guards, Coldstream Guards, Scots Guards, Irish Guards, and Welsh Guards.

BRITISH PREMIER PLANS SEA TRIP; MAY SEE IL DUCE

LONDON, Sept. 30.—After confronting parliament next week, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain intends to take a short vacation. It is said in political quarters here tonight he may go yachting in the Mediterranean and sandwich in a conference with Premier Benito Mussolini on Spain and the Anglo-Italian agreement.

The French premier is expected to join the talks, some of which may be held aboard the yacht. An invitation to a conference was extended to Chamberlain by Mussolini during the Munich talks, according to British sources.

Apparently influenced by President Roosevelt's world-wide appeals on the Sudeten-Czech issue, British newspapers suggest that the results of Chamberlain's recent activities might be extended eventually into a world conference under the auspices of the American government to settle world problems. These might include international trade barriers, exchange and currency restrictions and access of "have not" nations to sources of raw materials.

GERMAN VESSELS RESUME THEIR OCEAN CROSSINGS

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Germany's merchant vessels on the Atlantic today reverted from emergency to normal operations, but the clamor of Americans abroad to come home continued.

The German liner Europa, which turned back from its westbound voyage Wednesday and sped through the heavily guarded English channel, turned around again today and headed for New York.

While regular sailings were resumed—and some even advanced to accommodate Americans—the British liner Aquitania continued to "stand by."

The United States line announced that the liner Washington, in the English channel, had been recertified to carry 270 passengers above the normal capacity of 1,081.

Encouraged to Go On.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Americans in Europe were under considerably less pressure today to come back to the United States. At the state department it was said that, as a result of the four power agreement, American envoys were softening the urgency of their suggestions to leave before war should strike Europe. Nevertheless, those who have taken steps to leave were encouraged to continue.

HULL APPLAUDS SETTLEMENT OF EUROPEAN CRISIS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Reflecting the attitude of the American government toward the four power conference at Munich, Secretary of State Cordell Hull today hailed its settlement of the Czechoslovakian crisis as affording a universal sense of relief.

At the White House, President Roosevelt declined to discuss the peace pact, other than to praise the work of the state department at home and American diplomats abroad during the crisis. He said all he had to say was the wonderful work was performed by Secretary Hull, Undersecretary Welles and other state department and diplomatic officials.

Secretary Hull disclosed that President Roosevelt issued a world-wide appeal for aid when he sent his first peace plea to Chancellor Hitler of Germany and President Benes of Czechoslovakia last Monday. At that time, Secretary Hull declared, the President sent a message to American diplomatic representatives throughout the world, asking them to enlist the support of other nations in a concerted appeal for peace.

Chamberlain Is Seen as Ally of Hitler.

(The following article predicting the outcome of the Nazi-Czech trouble was mailed Aug. 25 from Copenhagen. It did not become available for use until yesterday. It will be interesting to note the precision with which the European events of last week were forecast.)

BY JOHN DICKSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Aug. 25.—While German military preparation proceeded at a feverish pace, available information today confirmed a vital Nazi theory and hope. It is that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain has cast his lot with Germany in its conflict with Czechoslovakia.

Germany may not use her war machine to kill. Certainly, however, she is using it to bluff others into letting her have what she wants. Reichsfuehrer Hitler now seeks the Sudeten German area of Czechoslovakia and Great Britain, fearful of war, may help him get it. London is playing a complicated game in an effort to save some of its old prestige.

Pretends to Mediate.

Great Britain, through Viscount Runciman, who was sent to Prague, pretends to mediate the Czechoslovaks' friction with their German minority, which demands autonomy. Germany and many foreign diplomats, however, believe Chamberlain is on the side of Berlin.

Runciman, they predict, will draw up a mediation plan unacceptable to the Czechs, but which will meet only slight objections from the Germans in Czechoslovakia.

This would give Chamberlain a chance, they assert, to tell the British public and France that the Czechs showed bad faith and that the western democracies can wash their hands of them. Under such circumstances, the Germans believe, Britain and France would just sit back and express their regrets in nicely worded editorials.

Nazis Expected to Repay.

"When the Runciman era is over the Sudeten area will fall into Germany's lap like a ripe plum," the Nazis say. "England will shake the tree to make the plum fall."

In exchange, it is predicted, Germany will demobilize part of her troops and will agree to some substitute for the Locarno treaty [guaranteeing the borders of western Europe]. She also would agree to a limitation of armaments, including air forces, and would permit emigrating Jews to take with them about 10 per cent of their property.

This, it was explained, would be to satisfy the "humanitarian wailings of the Evian committee people"—the international group which met in Evian-les-Bains, France, this summer to seek a solution of the world refugee problem.

Fear Ouster of Chamberlain.

Germans admit that if Chamberlain loses the upper hand in Britain, British policy might change. Then, it was conceded, Britain might not be content to let Germany be the strongest force on the continent.

Germans have given dark warnings to their British friends. They have told them the British empire will be lost if Britain does not concentrate on helping the Nazis.

"The trouble in Palestine might spread to other possessions," was one warning.

Anti-Nazi Englishmen in Germany refer to what they term a systematic campaign by Nazi agents trying to increase Britain's difficulties with the Arabs.

Nazi Logic Is Told.

The question is asked: Will Britain really be satisfied to allow Germany to become the master of the European continent in exchange for mere promises?

"Chamberlain will," one hears in reply.

Will France be satisfied to drop her ally, Czechoslovakia, in exchange for a new Locarno treaty which can be scrapped as easily as the first one?

A prominent German army man said in answer: "The French will stand on top of their Maginot line and shout 'Vive la France.' The Germans will stand in their modernized pill boxes in the newly fortified lines and shout back 'Heil Hitler!' Meanwhile, the organized Nazi Sudeten Germans will fraternize with the German troops massed along the Czechoslovak border and, under their guidance, will occupy the new eastern border of Pan-Germany."

Expect Czechs to Fight.

The Germans expect the Czechs will fight.

"It will take us four weeks to lick the Czechs, or at the utmost six weeks," the Nazis assert. "Incorporation of the Sudeten German territory may cost 30,000 or 40,000 lives. It will be worth it, however, because we shall be the masters on the European continent."

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI., informed after mass this morning of the four power accord reached yesterday in Munich, expressed great joy to those about him. Vatican sources said it was a considerable physical strain for the pope to broadcast his appeal for peace in an address yesterday. His physical condition today was described as good.

DUCE GETS WILD HERO'S WELCOME FROM HIS PEOPLE

ROME, Sept. 30.—(AP)—A wildly jubilant Rome hailed Premier Mussolini tonight as a peace maker for his share in the Munich four power accord. In their joy at having escaped another war, the masses welcoming Il Duce outroared even their habitually thunderous demonstrations.

Called again and again to the balcony of the Palazzo Venezia by the cheering crowds, Il Duce finally raised his hand for silence and cried:

"You have lived through memorable hours. We have worked at Munich for peace according to justice. Is this not the Italian ideal?"

The crowd responded as with one voice:

"Yes! Yes!"

ENGLAND CHEERS CHAMBERLAIN AS CONQUERING HERO

Crowds Throng Airport, Streets and Palace.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain received a welcome worthy of any conqueror when he arrived at Heston airdrome at 5:40 p. m. today and hurried to Buckingham palace to report personally to King George VI. on his peace mission to Munich.

Crowds of thousands cheered and sang and broke through the police cordons at the airport and later at the palace.

They clambered over his car, hammered on the roof, tried to get in to shake his hand and threw bunches of flowers at the car and in front of it.

King and Queen Appear.

Their insistent roars of "We want Chamberlain," and "We want the king," brought the king, Queen Elizabeth, and Chamberlain and his wife out on the palace balcony into the glare of powerful anti-aircraft searchlights pressed into service.

Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, usually the picture of dignity, waved his hat in the air at Heston as he led cabinet colleagues, diplomats, and the huge crowd in frenzied cheers.

Halifax, Ambassadors Dino Grandi of Italy and Charles Corbin of France, Theodore Kordt, the German chargé d'affaires, and the lord mayor of London pressed around to shake Chamberlain's hand and congratulate him while the crowd roared its approval.

Premier All Smiles.

Though close to exhaustion from the strain of the last few weeks, the prime minister was all smiles and waved cheerily to the crowd as he turned to read the king's letter. Through a microphone he spoke to the crowd before leaving.

Chamberlain thanked them for the "immense number of letters . . . of support, approval and gratitude" he and his wife had received.

"Next, I want to say that settlement of the Czechoslovakian problem which now has been achieved in my view is only the prelude to a larger settlement by which all Europe may find peace," he said.

"This morning I had another talk with the German chancellor, Herr Hitler, and here is the paper [waving it in his hand] which bears his name upon it as well as mine."

Pledge Never to War Again.

It was a signal for a new paroxysm of cheering that drowned out his voice. When the cheering slackened, he continued by reading the statement issued today in Munich that they "agreed in recognizing the question of Anglo-German relations of first importance for the two countries and for Europe," and hoped never to go to war against each other again.

Crowds massed in Downing street and in adjacent Whitehall sang a hymn and nationalistic songs as they waited.

Their cheers brought Chamberlain to an upstairs window again—and again under the glare of a handy searchlight—after he had entered the house and he told them: "My good friends, this is the second time in our history there has come back from Germany to Downing street peace with honor."

He referred to the earl of Beaconsfield's return from a Berlin conference in 1878 which removed the threat of a conflict in the near east.

Chamberlain tonight made a full statement on the Munich agreement to the cabinet at a 35 minute meeting. It will meet again tomorrow. Parliament will reassemble on Monday.

Hitler's Sergeant

ALBERT PATRICH.

Little Falls, Minn., Sept. 30.—(AP)—While Adolf Hitler was playing a game of life and death in Europe this week, his old wartime sergeant was harvesting on his Morrison county farm near here. His is Albert Patrich. For two years, from 1916 to 1918, Hitler was one of the five corporals under his command.

Patrich, an Austrian, said he did not see how Hitler could want a war after going through the carnage of the world war.

To the question, "What kind of a person was Hitler in the war?" Patrich shrugged his shoulders.

"He was just a corporal," said the farmer. "What could he say or do? Seven men were under him, that's all. I was a little higher than he. I had forty men under me. I had to give orders to him but he never talked much."

7 HELD CAPTIVE WHILE ROBBERS BREAK INTO SAFE

Seven men were held prisoners for two hours late last night while robbers forced open a large safe in the office of the Standard Oil company, 1350 South Leavitt street. The hoodlums obtained only about $100 in loot, according to estimates.

The robbers, three young men and all armed, rounded up their seven prisoners systematically. The first was Edward Basowski, 1902 West 21st street. He was working on the top of a fuel tank, but two of the gunmen climbed up after him and forced him down. Then one by one they rounded up Michael Karczmirczek, 4359 South Whipple street, the watchman, four other employés, and a driver employed by another company.

While the seven were held in the pumproom by one bandit the two other robbers went to work on three safes in the nearby offices. They used acetylene torches. Two of the safes resisted their efforts, but the largest one yielded.

JAPANESE PIERCE YANGTZE FORTS IN 3 WEEKS' SIEGE

HANKOW, China, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Chinese authorities tonight admitted that invading Japanese forces, after three weeks of pounding at Chinese defenses, finally had reduced the strong Split Hill fortifications in the Yangtze river valley 100 miles below Hankow.

The Japanese attacked with land artillery, naval guns, and aerial bombs. The Chinese officially estimated the Japanese suffered 10,000 casualties and severe damage or total loss of half a dozen warships.

Chinese headquarters tonight announced the Split Hill defenders had withdrawn to positions previously prepared.

ENGLAND HAILS PEACE, BUT FEARS FOR THE FUTURE

Wonders if Chamberlain Made a Secret Deal.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 30.—England's intense relief at the dramatic change in the international situation was qualified by two misgivings tonight.

Did Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, in the talk he had with Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Munich today make a bargain to return Germany's former colonies now held by England?

And has there been any understanding for demobilization of the enormous military forces now under arms in Europe?

So far as is known there is no answer to either question.

Fear Secret Deal.

It is feared here, nevertheless, that some deal has been made whereby the Chamberlain government is going to hand back the former German colonies. There may be snags. The British say that parliament must be consulted before there is any question of handing over colonial territories. Any proposal to give back territorial mandates in Africa or in the Pacific presumably would meet with great opposition from the government of the Union of South Africa and from Australia.

Some uneasiness also is expressed about other commitments which Chamberlain may have made at Munich. England has an isolationist group. This group thoroughly dislikes the bargain which Chamberlain apparently made last night to guarantee the new borders of Czechoslovakia after Germany moves in. The isolationists feel that new commitments have been made, from which new anxieties and new troubles are likely to spring.

While the populace rejoices over the fact that war has been postponed or perhaps entirely averted, observers are not so sure about the future.

Mobilization Cost Immense.

Many Englishmen believe Hitler has won a diplomatic victory at the expense of the British empire. They wonder if Chamberlain has not paid too great a price for peace.

Happy faces in the streets of London today did not reflect that the last week has cost the British treasury by rough calculation something like $200,000,000 for national defensive measures. That is the bill for one week here.

What the mobilization cost in France and what Germany has been spending in the last two months are other items in the European bill for this summer's melodrama.

Gas Masks Cost 30 Million.

Out of Britain's $200,000,000 bill for this last week it is figured that mobilization of the British navy cost $50,000,000 alone. Gas masks handed out this last week have cost the government $30,000,000, and thousands of dollars more have gone for fire fighting apparatus, distribution of sand and labor for trench digging, reinforcing buildings and other raw materials.

Apart from these government expenses it is figured that $50,000,000 also was spent by the commercial world to make their premises and stafs safe at a cost of about $5 per worker. This money has been expended on arranging gas chambers in cellars, on blackout paint and curtains, first aid outfits, fire buckets, asbestos suits, gas masks and labor.

There also is the cost of calling up the auxiliary air force, manning anti-aircraft units, and organizing women's territorials. This, it is estimated, cost $15,000,000. School authorities spent at least another $5,000,000 removing children to the country.

Chamberlain Prestige Soars.

There will, perhaps, be no objection to these costs if it can be felt that Munich accord assures permanent peace in Europe, but about this nobody seems to be certain.

There is no doubt about the enormous prestige which Prime Minister Chamberlain has acquired by his activities of the past week. It was suggested tonight that he may be an uncontested candidate for the Nobel peace prize this year. In some quarters it was suggested that Chamberlain's party [Conservative] will seek a general election soon on the basis of his accomplishments.

It is a fact, however, that authorities are going on with anti-air raid precautions and that the enormous trenches which have been dug in Hyde Park, Kensington Gardens, Hampstead Heath and other big parks of London will not be filled up, but will remain as permanent institutions of Europe's greatest metropolis.

France Goes Wild with Joy; Throngs Hail New 'Armistice'

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 30.—Giving a free rein to their emotions after the nightmare of the last week, the people of France late today cut loose in a minor Armistice day orgy.

The arrival of Premier Edouard Daladier from Munich, where he signed the four-power agreement giving Germany the Sudeten territory of Czechoslovakia, was the signal which set off the demonstration in the capital. A big crowd already was waiting at Le Bourget airfield when the premier's bi-motored Air France liner dropped out of the skies at 3:55 p. m.

Greeting for Daladier.

Stepping out of the plane, Daladier was greeted with flowers, tears, and top hats. The crowd shouted wildly, "Vive la paix! Vive Daladier!"

Diplomats and politicians, among them William C. Bullitt, United States ambassador to Paris, who played a big rôle in obtaining the message from President Roosevelt which made the Munich meeting possible, tried to express their congratulations more decorously, but they were not wholly immune from the common emotion.

Camille Chautemps, minister of coördination, and Georges Bonnet, foreign minister—whose relations with the premier were not excessively cordial a few days ago—threw their arms around Daladier and kissed him. It was not a ceremonial accolade but a real Gallic kiss.

Makes Brief Statement.

Daladier, a little moisty in the eye and very red in the face, scowled like a bulldog trying to control his emotion when someone shoved a microphone in front of him and in a husky voice, he said:

"I am back from Germany. The negotiations indeed were difficult, but I have a profound conviction that the accord concluded was indispensable to the maintenance of peace. I am equally certain today that, thanks to the willingness for mutual concession and the spirit of collaboration which animated the four great western powers, peace is saved."

Everywhere there was the same cry, "Vive la paix! Vive Daladier!"

Flags and tri-color bunting kept over from the recent visit of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain appeared on office buildings and apartments along the way.

The crowd was not content with just cheering peace and Daladier. Women and old men wept with joy and sometimes embraced one another.

Cafes and bars, which had been almost deserted the last few days, were suddenly mobbed—the French drink only when happy.

French Cabinet Meets.

President Albert Lebrun congratulated Daladier at a cabinet meeting held at 6 p. m. Daladier made a report to his colleagues on the Munich conference and also received their congratulations. It agreed to convoke both chambers on Tuesday.

On all sides the universal query was when will demobilization begin. In some quarters it was said that this will begin forty-eight hours after the Germans begin demobilization. It also was said a tentative arrangement was reached in Munich to begin the German demobilization on Tuesday or Wednesday.

POLES SEND NEW NOTE TO CZECHS; DEMAND LAND

Charge Prague's First Answer Is a Stall.

WARSAW, Poland, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Poland sent the Czechoslovak government a new note tonight calling for prompt fulfilment of her "just" territorial demands. It was understood that the note, delivered in Prague shortly before midnight, set noon tomorrow [5 a. m., central standard time] as a deadline for compliance.

[In Prague the Polish note was reported to have demanded quick evacuation of Czechoslovak troops from Teschen, Silesia, 772 square mile area in which most of Czechoslovakia's 100,000 Polish minority resides.]

The semi-official Polish Telegraph agency issued a communique saying the Polish government was "obliged to draw the consequences and place responsibility for attacking on the Czechosolvak side."

Places Blame on Czechs.

The Czechoslovak reply to Poland's previous note demanding evacuation of Teschen reached Warsaw at 1 p. m. today. Polish political quarters asserted the government was amazed to find the reply dealt only in generalities. They charged that this was a maneuver by the Prague government to evade fulfiling its promise.

Broadcasts by Polish radio stations emphasized that Warsaw was not bound by the four power accord reached in Munich for ceding Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland to Germany, and was free therefore to achieve her aims independently.

One broadcast said a "sharp" communique had been addressed to Prague by Warsaw as a result of an alleged border violation yesterday. It said this provocation would entail serious consequences.

Beck Sees Envoys.

Foreign Minister Col. Josef Beck received practically all foreign diplomats accredited to Warsaw, ostensibly to inform them of the situation Among them were the American, German, Italian, British, and Rumanian ambassadors and the Hungarian and Belgian ministers.

[DNB, German official news agency, reports received in Berlin said fiery anti-Czechoslovak speeches were made in Warsaw tonight in mass demonstrations in the city's public squares. The agency said the demonstrators claimed Poland was determined to take the Teschen area by force if it were not handed over voluntarily. Latest reports from Teschen, DNB said, were that the Polish minority was "in open uprising."]

Hungary to Ask Border Area from Czechs at Once

BUDAPEST, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Hungary will present to the Prague government in a few days a new two point demand regarding the Hungarian minority of about 800,000 now living in Czechoslovakia, a foreign office spokesman said tonight. Hungary will demand: Immediate unconditional transfer to Hungary of all Czechoslovak territory in which a purely Hungarian population lives; a plebiscite for other southern Czechoslovak regions adjoining this area.

BULLETS RIDDLE OFFICE WINDOWS OF KONKOWSKI

Another fusillade of bullets was fired into the front windows of the real estate office of Ald. Frank E. Konkowski at 1030 Chicago avenue early today. A similar attack was made only eight days ago.

The gunmen this time riddled the windows with six or seven direct hits, damaging them beyond repair.

Ald. Konkowski represents the 26th ward and is also Democratic committeeman of the ward. He lives above his real estate office with his parents. Police are investigating reports that the gun attacks were inspired by the the failure of some of Ald. Konkowski's constituents to get on the police force in the newest batch.

HURL ODOR BOMB, SHOOT AT WIFE OF POLICEMAN

A mysterious terrorist tossed a stench bomb into the home of Policeman Walter Lutz, 5035 Byron street, late last night, and then fired a shot at his wife, Isabelle, as she opened the front door to let out the fumes.

The terrorist drove up to the house in an automobile with a companion. He alighted, hurled the stench bomb through a front window, and waited. He fired at Mrs. Lutz, an expectant mother, a moment later. The bullet just missed her.

Policeman Lutz, who is attached to the Town Hall station, said the attack was an absolute mystery.

REDS MAY PURGE DIPLOMATS FOR DEFEAT IN CRISIS

Moscow Resents Snub by Britain and France.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 30.—A high official of the Russian foreign office hinted today that the soviet government would punish its diplomats for what it feels was the snubbing accorded it during the recent Czechoslovak-German crisis.

He intimated that Russia would conduct another monster purge trial in Moscow in the near future. In it, he said, former diplomatic assistants of Maxim Litvinov, soviet foreign commissar, would confess that they coöperated with British spies in the Baltic states and other capitals in plotting against Russia.

The council of peoples' commissars was said to have telegraphed Foreign Commissar Litvinov to return to Moscow from Geneva and explain why Russia's position in European affairs was so weakened. The possibility was not excluded that Litvinov may join his assistants in the dock during the trial, said now to be in the course of preparation by Andrey J. Vishinsky, soviet prosecutor.

Charge Envoys in Plot.

Former soviet ministers in Latvia, Estonia, Finland, and Lithuania and former ambassadors to Poland, Germany, and Tokio were said to be involved in a huge plot with Great Britain against the bolshevik régime.

The Moscow foreign office feels that the soviet government was pointedly ignored by the governments of Great Britain and France during the negotiations which led up to yesterday's four power agreement in Munich, Germany.

Litvinov, officials said, was available for consultation in Geneva. Russia, however, was called upon neither by her ally, France, or by Britain to assist in negotiations with Germany. Nor was Russia invited to the Munich conference, though Russia is an ally of Czechoslovakia.

Point to Russian Minorities.

The Munich agreement, granting the Sudeten area of Czechoslovakia to Germany, was greeted with a storm of indignation by the soviet press and radio. It was suggested that the soviet foreign office call attention to the projected international conference to discuss the Polish and Hungarian minorities in Czechoslovakia, and place on the program of that parley the question of Ukrainian and White Russian minorities in Poland.

President Roosevelt, Russians said, was the only statesman in the world to appeal to the soviet government to approach both Prague and Berlin to urge a peaceful settlement of the Sudeten crisis.

The President's appeal was published on the first page of Moscow newspapers yesterday. The official reply pointed to Moscow's peace moves, and said the soviet government is willing to attend a world conference called by the United States.

INDICTED BY U. S., A. J. M'KAY QUITS ELECTION BOARD

Accused of False Reports on PWA Sewer Jobs.

Alexander J. McKay resigned as chairman of the Chicago board of election commissioners late yesterday. Five hours previously he had been indicted by the federal grand jury, charged with making false reports on PWA construction work performed by his concern for the sanitary district.

The resignation was accepted by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, who said that he had found McKay an honorable man of high integrity. No successor to head the city's election machinery was announced. Jarecki met with department heads of the election board and asked them to continue as they had until a new chairman is named.

Indicted with McKay were two employès of his contracting firm, which now is inactive. They are J. H. McCaughey, 2970 Sheridan road, and J. B. Nystrom, 434 Diversey parkway. Both are former secretaries of the McKay Engineering and Construction company.

The three indicted men notified United States Attorney Michael L. Igoe's office that they would surrender to United States Marshal McDonnell. Their bonds were fixed at $2,500 each.

Plan Surrender Today.

In a 171 page indictment, containing twenty-eight counts, the government charged that McKay and his former employès had made false reports in monthly statements of work completed on two of three sewer jobs the concern performed for the sanitary district. A 30 per cent grant of federal funds was involved in each contract. Agents of the Public Works administration made the investigation and turned their evidence over to Igoe.

Igoe's first assistant, Warren Canaday, presented the evidence to the grand jury, which made its report to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday.

Twenty-seven of the twenty-eight counts in the true bill were accompanied by estimate vouchers. In these the concern stated that all bills rendered to it for material, labor, etc., on the construction work had been paid.

But the government alleges that in each of the twenty-seven separate instances, bills were outstanding and had not been paid.

Accused of Conspiracy.

The twenty-eighth count in the indictment charges McKay and the two others with conspiracy. The maximum sentence on conviction of any or all of the first twenty-seven counts is ten years in prison and a fine of $10,000. Conviction on the conspiracy count carries a two year maximum sentence and a $10,000 fine.

McKay promptly denied his guilt. In a three and one-half page statement he said the indictment came as a complete surprise and its suddenness left him bewildered. He said he had had no opportunity to be heard on the matter before the grand jury.

The ex-chairman added that he had completed the sanitary district contracts—for which he was paid $2,110,000—at a great personal sacrifice.

"It took every dollar of my personal fortune and all that I could borrow on a credit built up as the result of a lifetime of hard work and business dealings," he said.

"I am still waiting," he continued, "for the sanitary district to pay me thousands of dollars for work ordered by the district to meet unusual and trying conditions as they were encountered.

Asserts Collateral Is Waiting.

"Every bill for labor and materials used on the job has been paid. If any person has any claim for either labor or materials that is not paid, I have never heard of it, and the company has ample collateral on deposit with the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company to guarantee the payment of any such claims if they should be presented.

"The engineer of the sanitary district and the PWA were on the job all during the time when the work was being done. Their accountants and financial staf audited the company's books and its bills and accounts two or three times each month.

"My integrity had never before been questioned in connection with my business life. I have never done any act in my business life for which I am ashamed.

"I emphatically deny that there is any truth to the charge now made against me, and I shall demand that it be tried as soon as possible."

Assistant United States Attorney Canaday disputed Mr. McKay's statement that he had paid all moneys due contractors on the work involved, declaring that bills totaling more than $100,000 still were outstanding.

Ross A. Woodhull, president of the sanitary district, said in a statement that the legal action was solely between Mr. McKay and the government and that the district was not involved in the controversy.

The projects involved in the indictment were the Upper Dsplaines intercepting sewer in River Grove, and the West Towns outlet sewer in Berwyn. Thy were completed last Jan. 14.

GANG ENGRAVER REVEALS $65,000 TAX STAMP FAKE

12 More Hunted in Moran Counterfeit Ring.

Berger Hanson, expert engraver for a nation-wide gang of counterfeiters, talked yesterday. His revelations, Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's police said, will lead to the arrest of probably a dozen persons in several states.

Thirteen persons, including Hanson, already have been implicated in the activities of the gang. This group is headed by George [Bugs] Moran, prohibition gang leader, and Frankie Parker, airplane bootlegger of the same era.

Fake Checks Trip Up Gang.

They were seized last June when forged American Express company travelers' checks were prematurely cashed by some of the gang. Before then, according to Lieut. Kelly, the gang had issued between $300,000 and $400,000 in fake rail bonds, $42,000 in travelers' checks, and $65,000 worth of fake liquor and cigaret tax stamps.

The counterfeiting of the revenue stamps was among the new disclosures made by Hanson, whose arrest, Lieut. Kelly said, rounds out the plot. Hanson and two other men were seized Tuesday in his engraving shop at 538 South Clark street. Later Hanson disclosed the hiding place of copper plates and some of the stamps to be used in the counterfeiting scheme.

His admissions also caused the rearrest of Ralph Hanna, 2043 Mohawk street, once an investigator for the state's attorney. Hanna was arrested nearly a year ago when he tried to offer $53,000 in fake New York Central railroad bonds to a loop broker. He was acquitted by a jury.

Issue Bogus Tax Stamps.

Hanson told of making counterfeit plates for Moran, who paid him with a genuine $1,000 New York Central bond. The gang, he said, issued $25,000 in fake Kentucky and Missouri cigaret stamps and $40,000 worth of fake Missouri and Kansas liquor stamps.

There were to be sold in Kentucky, Kansas, and Missouri on a wholesale basis of 20 per cent of their face value to underworld retailers.

Lieut. Kelly also stated that Hanson's confession linked the gang with the manufacture of $100,000 in spurious American Telephone and Telegraph bonds. These, the police officer said, were offered unsuccessfully in a recent deal for a Texas oil well. The four men involved in this deal are now held at Laredo, Tex.

BOOKIE BANDITS ORDERED HELD ON MURDER CHARGES

A coroner's jury recommended yesterday that Charles Lane and William Wright, members of a bandit gang, be held to the grand jury on charges of murder. Lane was wounded and Wright was captured in a gun battle with police Sept. 22 during the attempted robbery of a handbook at 3633 North Halsted street. The handbook operator, a woman patron, and one of the bandits were killed, and two policemen were wounded. The death of the bandit, James Gilfoy, was termed justifiable homicide.

Murder Charged Against Gambler for 1930 Killing

A warant charging murder was issued by Judge John J. Rooney yesterday against Edward J. Rollins, a gambler, who is under indictment in Los Angeles in connection with a 1930 racket murder. Rollins was seized Thursday near Wrigley field. He will be held on the murder warant pending extradition proceedings.

DEMOCRATS MAY NAME MIODUSKI AND RYAN TODAY

John G. Ryan and Adam S. Mioduski probably will be named the Democratic candidates for state representative in the 13th senatorial district when the senatorial committee meets today. Two vacancies exist because of a ruling by Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski of the Circuit court that because Republicans participated in the Democratic primary, no Democrats had legally been named.

The late Representative William W. Powers and Mioduski were declared nominated by the canvass of votes. Ryan, a present representative, ran third. Subsequently a recount showed Ryan winner over Mioduski. The situation was complicated by the death of Representative Powers.

A decision today to name both would be regarded as a harmony move because Mioduski was supported by the Horner-Courtney faction in the primary fight. Ryan had the backing of the Nash-Kelly organization.

And if she has had time and some paint, she will have changed the name to the Lucille Coal company, for Frank isn't in the business any more. He resigned as co-president yesterday when Lucille agreed to take over the company and pay him alimony from the profits.

An Attractive Coal Heaver.

Lucille is 33 years, a slender brunette. She knows how to wear clothes. She smiled yesterday when she asked Judge Philip J. Finnegan for alimony from Frank, whom she is suing for divorce.

Frank looked sad. He said his coal business wasn't earning enough for alimony.

"It is, too, judge," said Lucille. "I know because I drive the truck lots of times. I've been the coal hiker [carrier] when Frank drove. We organized and managed the company together, but since we've been having trouble he won't let me on the truck."

With a white and dainty hand she rolled up her sleeve. And she showed the judge an arm with muscles that bulged.

"If he can't make money for our company," she said, "I can."

"I think you can," the judge told her.

She Gets the Business.

Lucille, who lives at 409 South Leavitt street, conferred with her attorney, Henry B. Rothenberg.

"Give me the company," she told the judge. "I won't ask for alimony. I'll pay him alimony—$1 a day."

Frank nodded his head in acceptance.

"But I'll have to change the name," said Lucille. "It'll be the Lucille Coal company."

Frank agreed to that. Then he sent his attorney, E. E. Schultz, over to see if Lucille would hire him as a hiker.

But the president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, board of directors, and driver shook her pretty head.

MENACE OF U. S. DICTATOR VOICED BY GEN. MOSELEY

Retiring Officer Draws Rebuke from Woodring.

receive $6,000 a year pay as an inactive officer.

There was no indication, however, that Secretary Woodring intends to take any further disciplinary action, to which Gen. Moseley still is subject as an army officer despite his retired status.

MOSELEY'S CRITICISM

Gen. Moseley, noted for being outspoken, expressed his frank disapproval of present conditions without mincing words. In his retirement statement, issued today at his headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., the distinguished officer declared that the United States faces danger of decay within.

"This is not a cry from a military man for more soldiers and ships of war, although our national defense must be kept adequate," he said. "Rather, it is an appeal for better men and women as integral parts of the nation itself.

"Our dangers are at home and in the home. The Republic of the United States, like the once omnipotent republic of ancient Rome, cannot be destroyed from without until weakened by decay within. But the signs of that decay already are in evidence.

Points to Roman Citizens.

"The Roman citizen sold his freedom for government money and a life of easy sloth. Today statisticians estimate that over 20 million people—approximately one-sixth of our total population—are getting subsidy directly or indirectly.

"Is this a temporary expedient, gratefully accepted as such by the vast numbers receiving this bounty? Far from it. With a view to demanding more, there is now a determined effort on foot to organize on a permanent basis those on relief.

"We have arrived at the dividing of the ways where all democracies of history have failed. The problem before us is just this: Have we the character, the determination, and the ability to solve our problems by vote? Or must we accept the oft repeated statement that all theories of government which assume the majority of people willing to act virtuously on every issue are purely utopian?

Drift from Democracies.

"The world drift is away from democracy, away from individual freedom, away from individual responsibility, and America is caught in that drift. There is much encouragement, however, in the results of the September primaries where the integrity and independence of the American voters have been shown.

"We do not have to vote for a dictatorship to have one in America. The issue is not as clear cut as that. We merely have to vote increased government responsibility for our individual lives, increased government authority over our daily habits, and the resultant federal paternalism will inevitably become dictatorship.

"For when we make the government responsible for finding a living for all of us, that government inevitably must crack down on talk of 'the more abundant life' and shift the emphasis to the enforced duty of the worker to produce as a patriotic act—to produce or be liquidated.

Calls for Leadership.

"In addition to a lack of outstanding leadership, our government has recently suffered from an indigestible mass of untried theories and ideas upon which we have lavished the greatest peacetime appropriations in our nation's history.

"Many costly experiments have been visionary—doomed to failure from the outset. Others appear to cloak a sinister ulterior motive behind a humanitarian front, and these are being eagerly pushed by the alien element in our midst.

"In a democracy it is fundamental that every citizen have full confidence in the integrity and fair-minded impartiality of his government. The government must be fully entitled to that confidence and respect.

"But today in America we often see class marshalled against class, and unfair preference is sometimes shown. For the first time in the history of the army we have been compelled to give preference to the applicant of a certain definite class over and above his equally qualified fellow Americans."

Warns of Dictator

Maj. Gen. Geo. Van Horn Moseley.

WOODRING'S RETORT

Secretary of War Woodring, in his formal statement rebuking the general, attributed his criticism to pique because he was not chosen chief of staf of the army. Gen. Malin Craig was appointed to that post by President Roosevelt in 1935.

"Because he was disappointed," the secretary said, "in his ambition to become chief of staf of the American armies, Gen. Moseley has celebrated his retirement from military service by assailing the federal government and, by inference, attacking his commander in chief.

"As to the reasons that Gen. Craig was preferred for the important post, I do not think any one needs to look farther than to read Gen. Moseley's flagrantly disloyal statement.

Entitled to His Own Views.

"Obviously the general is entitled to his own views on governmental and other policies, but I have an idea that Gen. Moseley's brother officers will be as much astonished and dismayed by this exhibition of pique and bad taste as the general run of American citizens who believe and have always accepted the theory that an American officer's loyalty to his chief did not cease when he went off active service.

"Though he retired today, he continued to be an officer of the army, receiving the inactive pay, which in his case is approximately $6,000 a year."

MOSELEY'S REJOINDER

Gen. Moseley, in replying to the rebuke, referred to Mr. Woodring as "my friend," and said the pique charge was a misfire because his record put him out of line for the position of chief of staf.

"It is well known," the general said, "that during the Hoover administration I was in the war department working very closely with the secretary of war, often with Mr. Hoover and the leaders of his administration. That association in itself eliminated me from consideration for the position of chief of staf, although Mr. Dern, the new secretary of war, was my devoted friend up to the date of his death.

"Further, when the appointment was made I did not have sufficient time to serve according to the rule, and that fact itself would have eliminated me from consideration.

"Gen. Craig was the best choice by far. He and I have been devoted friends for many, many years and no army or corps area commander has supported Mr. Woodring and Gen. Craig more loyally than the writer. They both have countless evidence of that fact."

BUSINESS CALLED SCAPEGOAT WHEN ROOSEVELT FAILS

The Roosevelt administration has attempted to make business the scapegoat for its own mistakes, Sen. Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.], asserted yesterday. He spoke at a luncheon of the Executives club in the Hotel Sherman.

"Never before have we seen so much hatred shown by government officials against private enterprise," he said. "The present administration leaders believed they could substitute statutory law for economic law. They failed.

"To cover up the failure, they wanted a scapegoat, and the scapegoat was business. It was to be the big bad wolf. Not only was business affected by sitdown strikes on the part of workers but it was affected by the government sitting down on it."

Senator Holt said there could be no recovery from the present economic collapse until the administration quits its policy of taking men off private payrolls and putting them on public payrolls.

He referred to the recent unsuccessful attempt of the President to purge the senate of members who opposed his policies.

"Even the blind followers of the New Deal will admit the purge was unsuccessful. Some of them will admit it was a stinging defeat. The purge failed because of the sterling Americanism of voters in the states where it was tried."

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

NEWS AT THE DEPOT

By CALEB

IN LITTLE TOWNS along the railways an old, old pastime, long neglected, has returned to popularity. Once again folks gather at the station to watch the trains go through—a thing that has not happened to any great extent in more than thirty years.

A knot of people on the platform comparing watches—a distant whistle, a roar, the gleam of sunlight on sleek steel surfaces—and the streamliner has come and gone. The little crowd disperses—having paid tribute to one of the finest bits of merchandising accomplished in this decade. As it always does, human nature has responded with lively interest to the new and colorful.

All the colors of the rainbow—interiors of striking and beautiful pattern, air conditioning, long, unbroken exteriors of cars drawn by bulbous monsters—these things appeal to the imagination and pique the interest. People not only look at these new trains—they ride in them.

The new trains travel the same tracks to the same terminals—often with no great change in schedule—but they accomplish an old and useful purpose with a new and exciting touch. That is merchandising at its best. Real merchandising involves a flair for doing things well—with that extra something that brings great fun and broadened horizons along with homely usefulness.

All this explains at once the fascination and the difficulty of all merchandising. It explains as well something of the rewards that come to those engaged in it. It would be difficult to describe adequately the pleasure that comes to the skilled buyer of a great store who discovers or creates some fine new thing in his field. Sometimes it is an item new and exclusive—but even more often it is some old familiar object that has the magic touch to lift it from the commonplace into a merchandising triumph.

The ability to find such things steadily over a period of years is no easy gift or happy accident. It means digging—literally and figuratively—through endless commonplace items to the goal of the unusual. Prime mover in the search is the unflagging will to find the unusual. That one quality we have fortunately retained here, so that steadily, through the years, we have been able to impart that extra something to bring added zest and pleasure in possession for thousands of our discriminating customers.

N. Y. DEMOCRATS DRAFT LEHMAN TO RUN 4TH TIME

Base Appeal on Effort to Beat Dewey.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—On the defensive for the first time in 16 years of power, the Democratic state convention this afternoon drafted Gov. Herbert H. Lehman to run for reëlection. It is a desperate effort to stem the tide toward District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican nominee.

Lehman, who had wanted to go to the senate, was pressed into service by Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley, who still retains his state chairmanship. It was learned Farley made his plea on the grounds Lehman was the only man who could stop Dewey, save the party in the state this year and the nation in 1940.

Second Draft for Lehman.

It was the second time Lehman had been drafted by the New York Democratic organization which was called a "gangster's tool" last night by Dewey in a rousing acceptance speech before the Republican convention at Saratoga. In 1936 President Roosevelt prevailed upon Lehman after the governor announced he planned retirement from public office.

The Democratic gathering, which wound up tonight, had all the earmarks of a great love feast between Tammany Hall, chief target of Dewey's warfare on rackets in the past, and the forces under Roosevelt and Farley. Sitting at Farley's side on the platform this afternoon was Christopher D. ["Christy"] Sullivan, the head of Tammany in New York City.

James J. [Jimmy] Hines, Roosevelt henchman, most powerful single leader in Tammany who is facing a second trial as official protector for the policy racket in New York, was also at the convention. Dewey prosecuted Hines several weeks ago, only to have the case thrown out by a Tammany Judge Ferdinand Pecora.

Mead and Wagner Nominated.

Also heading the ticket for another full term in the senate was Senator Robert F. Wagner. Congressman James M. Mead of Buffalo, chairman of the house post office and post roads committee, was picked for the two year term filling the vacancy resulting from the death of Senator Royal S. Copeland.

John Lord O'Brian, Buffalo attorney, was nominated by the Republicans last night at Saratoga to run against Wagner while Edward Corsi, deputy commissioner of welfare under Mayor F. H. La Guardia in New York, was selected as the G. O. P. candidate for the short term.

New Deal Forgets Enmity.

Until the swing against the Roosevelt administration, as shown by the purge failures, became manifest during recent months the political fate of Gov. Lehman was much in doubt. He had incurred the enmity of the President last year by opposing the scheme for packing the United States Supreme court.

Lehman's stand on the Supreme court issue was another factor in the dashing of his ambition to run for the senate. President Roosevelt is said to have told friends it was all right if Lehman stayed in Albany but he didn't want to have to contend with him in the senate at Washington.

Dewey Praises Platform.

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, Republican nominee for governor, termed the Republican platform a "splendid liberal document" today, and said he approached the campaign "with enthusiasm and eagerness to do a big job."

"It is interesting," he said upon his return from the Republican convention at Saratoga Springs, "that the Democratic bosses should again so desperately implore Gov. Lehman to run again for an office from which he has twice stated his wish to retire."

Dewey said he intended to retain his office as district attorney—to which he was elected last year—during the gubernatorial campaign, retiring Dec. 31 if elected to the governorship.

Pittsburgh Boat, First in 10 Years, Goes Up Mississippi

McGregor, Ia., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—The first boat from Pittsburgh, Pa., to come up the Mississippi in ten years went through the draw of the pontoon bridge here today, bound for the twin cities. It was the Steel City, with a tow of five barges carrying 2,000 tons of gasoline and furnace oil.

Leads Police a Chase

Henry Decker, arrested in Evanston on charge of running through a red light on his bicycle.

Henry Decker's bicycle wobbled alarmingly as he propelled it through the streets of downtown Evanston yesterday. His left leg was held out stiffly in the breeze as he pumped for all he was worth with his right.

Behind Henry came Policeman Herman [Duke] Cohen, once a star guard on the Northwestern university footfall team. He had commandeered the car of a citizen for the chase. Henry led him up and down alleys, around corners, and through filling stations. Once Cohen lost the trail, then he found it again. Motorcycle Policeman Wesley Brown, who also is Northwestern wrestling coach, joined the pursuit.

They captured Henry in Hinman avenue near Davis street. He gave his age 21 and his address 1240 Hinman avenue. He complained that a fractured foot, suffered two weeks ago, kept him from traveling faster. And the charge against him?

"He ran through a red light down on Fountain square," said Policeman Cohen sternly.

ARREST 4; FIND $1,000 IN STOLEN RADIOS, BICYCLES

Four young men, avowed members of a burglar gang, were in custody last night because one of them tried to sell a stolen bicycle. His prospective customer became suspicious and summoned Policemen John Sloan and William Frauenfelder of the Cragin station.

Soon all four were arrested. They are George Exner, 18 years old, of 3324 Maypole avenue; Fred Weiner, 18, of 2429 Division street; Casimer Szerlong, 16, who gave no address, and Henry Wolfelschneider, 17, of 1936 North Spaulding avenue, named by the others as their chief. More than $1,000 in jewelry, radios, and bicycles was recovered.

The police took into custody Mrs. Rose Anderson, 23, of 3209 Franklin boulevard, and Joseph Dema, 34, of 3817 North avenue. The police said both had bought loot from the gang, Mrs. Anderson having bought $400 worth of jewelry for $6.

PRESIDENT NOW LAUDS LEHMAN, COURT BILL FOE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt surprised his semi-weekly press conference this morning by saying the news that Gov. Herbert Lehman had consented to run for reëlection had made him very happy. He added Lehman was a splendid governor.

The words were surprising because some eighteen months ago the President was denouncing Lehman as a Judas because of the governor's vigorous protest against the Roosevelt plan to pack the Supreme court.

Lehman's letter to Senator Robert F. Wagner [D., N. Y.], assailing the court plan wrecked a warm friendship. To close friends, Roosevelt characterized the letter as a stab in the back.

The hate was fanned by Lehman's budget message of last January which was released on the same day Mr. Roosevelt delivered his budget message to congress. Where the President acknowledged his schemes would put the nation still further in debt, Lehman boasted that he had cleaned up a 100 million dollar deficit he inherited from Roosevelt when the latter left Albany for the White House.

COTTON ED SMITH SPOUTS ANGER AT ROOSEVELT SNUB

Denied Hearing, He Asks: 'Is This Democracy?'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—A wrathful unpurged senator, Cotton Ed Smith of South Carolina, roared a furious protest today when President Roosevelt denied an audience to a delegation of cotton and wheat senators.

"I thought we were senators representing sovereign states, but perhaps this isn't a democracy," said Senator Smith.

A special committee headed by Senator Smith, chairman of the agriculture committee, had waited all afternoon for a White House appointment to present a resolution calling for higher cotton and wheat loans. Word came that it would be impossible for the President to receive them. Instead, two officials of the AAA were assigned to the conference.

Makes Impromptu Speech.

Aroused by the White House snub, Senator Smith made an impromptu speech before a group of cotton farmers attending the conference. His indignation had not cooled when reporters saw him later.

"I have been here with five Presidents preceding the present one," he said. "I never was refused an audience and I never was asked what my business was before this."

Asked whether he wished to be quoted, he said: "Hell, yes! Why not?"

Senator Smith recently survived President Roosevelt's attempted purge in the South Carolina Democratic primary. The President denounced Senator Smith as a man who thinks in terms of the past and governs his actions accordingly.

Four Other Senators Present.

Four other senators were with Smith to tell of widespread resentment against the administration of farm loans. They were Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.], Senator Theodore G. Bilbo [D., Miss.], Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], and Senator Elmer Thomas [D., Okla.].

The senators agreed to seek an increase in the government loan rate on cotton from the present minimum of 8.30 cents to 11.85 cents a pound permitted by law and a proportionate increase in wheat loans to the maximum of 75 per cent of the parity price.

Five officials of unions whose members work in the dairy and associated industries appeared yesterday before the special federal grand jury investigating an alleged monopoly in the Chicago milk industry. The officials brought records of their organizations and correspondence files. They are Steve Sumner, veteran secretary-treasurer of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, No. 753; Robert Fitchie, president, and James Kennedy, vice president of this union; Leslie G. Goudie, president of the joint council of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and John Thibeau, secretary-treasurer of the Ice Cream Drivers' union. The jurors also had before them eight van loads of correspondence and records of the Borden company which were moved into a wing on the fourth floor of the courthouse building in response to subpenas.

IT'S CIRCUS DAY TOMORROW, KIDS; AND IT'S ALL FREE

Hey, kids! The circus is coming to town—clowns and jugglers, lions and tigers, peanuts and popcorn. And it's all free!

The big show starts at 2 p. m. tomorrow in a lumber yard at 2221 South Ashland avenue.

Louis L. Meitus, owner of the lumber yard, is sponsoring the one day show and the hosts will be his children, Ivan, 6 years old, and Elaine, 4. The idea originated several weeks ago when Meitus went to Sheboygan, Wis., to buy a pony for his son from a circus which was disbanding. The circus wouldn't sell on pony, so he bought five. Then he bought the rest of the menagerie—two elephants named Lucy and Billy, three lions, nine monkeys, one hyena, a tiger, a leopard, a baboon, two deer, six horses, one mule, and four dogs.

LEWIS MULCTING MINERS TO BUOY TOTTERING C. I. O.

nous coal commission, and the department of labor.

Special Assessments Needed.

The income of the U. M. W. for the six month period was $2,263,409.65 and the expenditures were $2,079,866.76. The income from taxes—50 cents a month for each member—was only $1,343,474.79, but two special assessments imposed by Lewis brought in $674,023.39. These special assessments of $1 a member for January and February were necessary because the expenditures of the union exceeded its normal income.

The Kennedy report shows that Lewis padded the membership of the mine workers' union for the purpose of increasing the per capita taxes paid to the C. I. O. In the period, the U. M. W. paid per capita taxes totaling $180,000 to the C. I. O. Since the unions affiliated with the C. I. O. pay a per capita tax of only 5 cents a member a month into the central organization, a total payment of $180,000 for a six month period would indicate a membership of 600,000.

Disparity Is Disclosed.

However, taxes, or dues, collected by the U. M. W. show that it has only 447,491 dues paying members. Dues are 50 cents a month, which would be $3 a member for the six month period. Taxes collected were $1,343,474.79, indicating a membership of 447,491.

The special assessments indicate a still smaller membership, but this disparity probably was caused by delinquencies. A total of $674,023 for two special assessments at $1 each would indicate a membership of only 337,011.

The report shows that Lewis personally received $14,829.47 for the six month period, including $10,333.32 as salary and $4,742.15 for expenses. In addition to this amount the report lists expenditures of $1,000 a month for the contingent fund of the president's [Lewis'] office.

SITDOWN STRIKERS QUIT SWIFT PLANT, TURN TO PICKETING

Sioux City, Ia., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Three hundred C. I. O. sitdown strikers quickly evacuated the Swift Packing company plant today when sherif's deputies arrived with warrants for the arrest of 125 of them. The strikers then picketed the plant, causing operations to cease.

Government meat inspectors condemned carcasses of 36 beeves, 60 sheep, and 125 hogs left on the floor when the strike started yesterday. The carcasses were sent to the rendering plant.

Sixteen strikers arrested last evening were arraigned in Municipal court this morning. They were held in bonds of $500 each pending possible action by the grand jury. A picket was slightly injured today by a company truck carrying cots and food to office employés remaining in the plant.

HUGE NEW COLOR PRESS TO PRINT TRIBUNE COMICS

Latest Addition in 8 Year Building Program.

Keeping pace with the growth of both circulation and advertising, THE TRIBUNE in the next two weeks will put into operation 16 new printing press units to turn out 1,200,000 Sunday colored comic sections each week. As the characters in Tribune comics have become more and more popular, the demand for advertising space in the section has increased.

The new color presses are the latest step in this newspaper's building program begun in 1930. Through depression years THE TRIBUNE spent more than $1,850,000 on new printing equipment. The rapid rise of color printing, in both daily and Sunday editions, has called for finer, faster presses. New black presses have been installed. The result—a better newspaper, produced at higher speed.

Located Under W-G-N.

The new comic section press is situated under the auditorium of radio station W-G-N, with another new press of six black and one color units which first began to print TRIBUNE's last March. Special methods of installation prevent noise and vibration from affecting broadcasting instruments or disturbing studio crowds.

The new battery will be the third since 1901 to be used exclusively to print Tribune comic sections. In that year a nine-roller press was installed in the old Market street plant. The Sunday circulation was 199,500, far below the capacity of the press.

By 1915 the Sunday circulation had risen to 647,000. The press carried on, until 1927, when each week's printing of the comic sections totaled 1,154,000 copies. An eight-unit press, heavier and faster, was bought. It could run off 22,500 comic sections in an hour. In 1933 four more color units were added, transforming the press into a 12-unit bank, capable of printing a 12-page section, four colors on each page.

Old Presss for Emergencies.

This press will be retained for emergencies. The new 16-unit bank will turn out a 16 page four color section at a speed of 35,000 sections an hour. The principle of the horizontal press rather than the vertical press—a principle originated by THE TRIBUNE in its black presses—is continued in the new color units.

Late improvements and refinements that hitherto have been applied only in black press units are present in the new color press. An example: all shaft ends, gears and bearings are enclosed in oil tight guards. These prevent dust and grime from entering the gears. They insure perfect lubrication for they move in a bath of oil under pressure. No oil drips on the floor below to make footing insecure.

Rollers of Forged Steel.

Rollers are of solid forged steel instead of cast iron with a separate steel shaft. The units are powered by ten 25 horse power motors to do away with the possibility of a breakdown. The stopping of any one motor will not stop the press.

As in other new Tribune presses, the units are mounted on laminated steel springs placed between special steel fulcrums encased in rubber. Pressroom foundations are separated from the walls and interior girders of the studio building.

ILLINOIS PARTY CHIEFS PREDICT G. O. P. VICTORY

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 30.—(AP)—The executive committee of the Illinois Republican County Chairmen's association today predicted the election of Richard J. Lyons to the United States senate and forecast victory for its other state candidates in the Nov. 8 election.

The committee of sixteen county chairmen issued a statement expressing confidence after meeting with five members of the Republican state central committee.

Edward F. Moore, chairman of the Cook county Republican organization, said straw polls in Chicago showed that 19 per cent of the voters who supported Roosevelt in 1936 would vote Republican in this election.

Gets $200,000 Gift

Margot Grahame, actress, who received wedding gift of $200,000 in cash from her new husband, Allen McMartin.

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—A flying honeymoon to Bermuda over, Allen McMartin of Montreal, wealthy director of Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines, Limited, brought his bride, Margot Grahame, movie and theater star, to his home at the Seigniory club, Quebec, tonight.

Secretly married near Montreal, the 27 year old British actress and her husband flew to New York and Bermuda before returning today.

McMartin was reported by friends to have given his bride $200,000 in cash as a wedding gift.

The wedding came less than a month after the blonde star's divorce in Reno from Francis Lister, English actor, whom she married in March, 1934.

4 ARE ARRESTED ON CHARGE THEY AIDED FUGITIVE

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Three women and a man were held to the grand jury in $10,000 bonds today in police magistrate's court on charges of harboring Walter Brown, 29 years old, Bloomington murderer. Brown was one of five convicts who escaped from Menard prison Sunday. The other four have been captured.

The four made a formal statement before Joseph E. Ragen, state superintendent of prisons, in which they admitted aiding Brown. They are Brown's sister, Mrs. Zelma Moore of Bloomington; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gilbert of Normal, and Mrs. Viola Ogan of Normal. They were unable to supply bonds and were taken to the county jail.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert admitted they took Brown by auto late Wednesday afternoon to a corn field hideout six miles north of Bloomington. They also fried a chicken and took it to him. The sister confessed giving Brown money and clothing. Mrs. Ogan admitted Brown hid in her home Tuesday night and Wednesday. Brown escaped the police net here and is still at large.

INSANE SLAYER OF HOUSEKEEPER DIES AT MENARD

Peter Hughes, a discharged Chicago policeman who shot and killed his housekeeper, died Thursday in the Illinois Security hospital at Menard, it was disclosed yesterday. He had been sent to the institution Sept. 22 after a jury in Criminal court found him insane.

Dr. J. M. McManus, superintendent of the hospital, said his death was due to nervous exhaustion caused by acute alcoholism. Hughes, he said, was in a coma when brought to the hospital and it had been necessary to feed him by tubes and transfusions.

Hughes killed his housekeeper, Miss Mary Blake, last Aug. 11 in his home at 1024 Belden avenue after he had fired on his daughter, Margaret, 16 years old, and a son, Jack, 15. He became violent in the county jail while awaiting trial for murder. Hughes lost his job on the police force because of his drinking.

LYONS BLAMES GOV. HORNER FOR PRISON ESCAPES

G. O. P. Nominee Charges Criminal Inefficiency.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Richard J. Lyons, Republican candidate for United States senator, tonight blamed Gov. Horner's political activities for conditions which resulted in the recent escape of five prisoners from Chester penitentiary.

"Crime and politics under Horner are worse than at any other time in the history of the state, and he goes prancing over Illinois telling people what a great fellow he is," said Lyons. "If he is going to be governor, let him break up this horrible relationship between crime and politics.

Charges Criminal Neglect.

"Culminating a series of jail breaks and prison riots, we have the unsavory spectacle of five insane inmates practically walking out of the Chester penitentiary while a lot of Democratic ward heelers stood around in guard uniforms and watched them go. Investigation of the reports of the escape show criminal inefficiency and neglect. The neglect can be attributed directly to Gov. Horner."

Lyons accused the governor of firing veteran guards at Joliet because they joined a union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. He said Horner replaced the guards with incompetent ward heelers.

"I suppose the same thing happened at Chester," he said.

Scores Parole System.

Lyons also attacked the parole system. He said it is left in the hands of political bosses while the governor's director of public welfare is running around the state finding excuses for not paying the old age pension.

"During the last two sessions of the legislature and prior to that every effort was made on the part of members to correct the parole evil in Illinois, which in my judgment is the most vicious system in America," he said.

"Representative Elmer Schnackenberg and myself and some Democrats tried to improve the system and divorce crime and politics, but the governor vetoed the bill and the vicious parole system is back where it always has been. There is only one man responsible for this condition, and he is Gov. Horner."

TENSIONS RELAXED.

The agreement reached in Munich is being referred to as a compromise, but it is difficult to justify the use of the word in this connection. Herr Hitler made no significant concessions. His demands were met not only in substance but in form.

Germany's present day might has thus been acknowledged and her sphere of influence in central and eastern Europe is conceded. The indignities and deprivations suffered at Versailles have been canceled and it is to be hoped that the tensions created in Europe by the peace treaties may now be relaxed.

Causes of conflict in Europe will remain because of Europe's peculiar racial conditions and the division of the continent into a score of political entities for which there is no sound economic justification, but these conflicts may not become explosive for another generation.

Americans may look forward with greater confidence to an era in which this country will be relatively free of a pernicious form of meddling in its affairs. When Europe fears war its statesmen seek to involve the United States in it. Their habit of mind is to regard America as a special kind of colony. The various national groups in this country are subjected to violent appeals to passion and prejudice which can only obscure loyalty to this country and prevent a single-minded devotion to its interests.

Under pressure from national groups in this country and more especially to acquire personal importance and social prestige, men concerned with our foreign relations have shown a woeful indifference to America's welfare. They have been busily pulling chestnuts out of the fire for other nations, regardless of the risk to America. It is to be hoped that this kind of toadyism, which is at once repulsive and dangerous, will now cease.

PLANES AND TRAINS: A CONTRAST.

Private enterprise in America is being heckled, harassed, and all but hamstrung by New Deal legislation. That it is hard to kill is being demonstrated continuously of late by those transportation companies which seek favor of the traveling public. The rail and air lines are particularly illustrative of this. Speed, safety, comfort, economy—these are the chief objectives for which these competitors strive. The order of their importance varies according to the paramount requirements of each passenger.

Now that we have the long-delayed streamlined rail service between Chicago and New York in addition to such service between Chicago and the Pacific coast, we have a basis for some interesting comparisons between the two de luxe forms of air and rail travel. From Chicago to New York two of the world's most famous passenger trains now make the trip in sixteen hours. Each has a capacity of approximately 130 passengers.

The nonstop planes competing with this train have a capacity of twenty-one passengers and make the trip in three hours and fifty-nine minutes. This is the scheduled time, but is generally shortened considerably in proportion to the amount of tail wind prevailing. On the westbound trip the schedule is four hours and forty-five minutes, the longer time being due to prevailing head winds.

A typical crew of employés for the train includes an engineer, a fireman, a conductor, two brakemen, and two baggagemen. The Pullman company adds a conductor, two dining car stewards, eight cooks, sixteen waiters, ten porters, one maid, one barber, and one stenographer. On the trip from Chicago to New York seven crews of engineers and firemen are employed, the crew being changed at each of six division points. The conductors and brakemen are changed twice en route. The Pullman company's employés and the baggagemen go all the way through. In other words, in the train run over this route sixty-five employés are engaged, an average for a capacity load of two passengers per employé. The nonstop plane employs a captain or pilot, a first officer, and a stewardess, only three in all, for a capacity of twenty-one passengers, a ratio of seven passengers per employé. When the new forty-two passenger planes are put in service this ratio will be increased to fourteen passengers per employé.

If we take a transcontinental trip from New York to Los Angeles and compare the crack streamlined train service now prevailing with the through sleeper plane service available, we find a more marked difference in the number of employés involved.

A sleeper plane with a capacity of fourteen passengers leaves Newark at 5:10 p. m. with a crew of three employés, arriving at Nashville at 9:15 p. m., after having had dinner served aloft. Another crew takes charge and the next landing is made at Dallas at 1:25 a. m., where the crew is again changed and arrival is made at Los Angeles at 7:50 the following morning. Fourteen passengers and six employés are involved. It requires seventeen hours and forty minutes for the trip.

On the rail run the 130 passengers are carried to Chicago with a crew of sixty-five and, considering the crew changes at division points en route on the train from Chicago to Los Angeles, it takes seventy-two employés to carry the same passengers over that portion of the trip, a total of 137 employés for 130 passengers for the trip from New York to Los Angeles, which by rail requires a total of fifty-five hours and forty-five minutes actual running time.

DEWEY FOR GOVERNOR.

Thomas E. Dewey, New York City's racket busting district attorney, has been named the Republican candidate for governor of his state. The fundamental issue of the campaign has been posed. It is a continuing fight against the alliance between politics and crime, which Mr. Dewey pledged in his speech of acceptance.

The best testimonials to the quality of the candidate come from his enemies, the Roosevelt-Farley-Jimmy Hines-Tammany alliance with the New York underworld.

Pecora, the Tammany judge, had a double motive in ending the trial of Hines on a dubious technicality. The first, of course, was to save from Sing Sing the New Deal's liaison agent with the underworld. The second, by preventing a conviction before election, was to damage Dewey politically and if possible forestall his nomination for governor.

The artifice failed. It was too barefaced. Pecora's stock, not Dewey's, fell. Hines must face a jury again—after the election—and Dewey has been nominated.

Now the corrupt alliance in New York has fallen back to a second line of defense. Jim Farley has persuaded Gov. Lehman to seek reëlection. His renomination is a confession alike of Dewey's strength and of the bankruptcy of Democratic leadership in the state. It was Lehman or nobody.

Although he has benefited by the votes of New York's politico-criminal alliance, Gov. Lehman has not been happy in the company of its leaders. His relations with the White House have been strained. He paid off the state government's enormous deficit, which drew attention to the fact that it was Franklin D. Roosevelt who rolled it up during his incumbency as governor. He opposed court packing.

In persuading the governor to seek reëlection Farley won a double victory. He not only got a respectable front man for the politico-criminal alliance. He forestalled the chance of Lehman, a man of integrity and independence, entering the senate. In his place the Democrats will run the more pliant James M. Mead of Buffalo.

Gov. Lehman's personal qualities cannot obscure his allies in the campaign now opening. Beside him on the firing line he will find Hines and Pecora. He will find the numbers game and the racketeers of New York. He will find the communist hordes of the misnamed American Labor party, which is neither American nor representative of labor. They may well lose him the election. They should.

WEEDS, DOLLARS, AND HEALTH.

Citizens of Illinois, farmers and city folk alike, are more alive today to the menace of weeds to their pocketbooks and health than they have ever been in the past. For this, we believe, THE TRIBUNE may fairly claim a share of credit.

Weed eradication has long been a project of the state department of agriculture and of the University of Illinois. In the cities hay fever victims have led their fellow members of clubs and civic organizations in cleaning up ragweed and allied offenders.

The anti-weed drive has reached its present proportions only during the last year, however. The expansion of the campaign to its present proportions followed a state-wide publicity drive, in which THE TRIBUNE took the lead last year.

"Kill Weeds to Save Dollars and Promote Health" has not yet appeared in our platform for Illinois, because we did not think the time ripe for it to appear. Campaigns which depend on coöperative effort for their success require time to nourish. We hope the time will soon be ripe to make weed eradication a major policy in the state.

Until this year it was necessary for the university college of agriculture and the state department of agriculture to promote weed control work. This year both have been swamped by requests for leadership and assistance in the campaign. More than 10,000 persons from fifty-seven counties have attended the state department's demonstrations.

City dwellers know weeds as an eyesore and in the pollen season as a serious menace to health. Hay fever, while it is rarely if ever fatal, can destroy the efficiency, not to mention the comfort, of its victims during the pollen season as effectively as more serious maladies.

But to the farmer weeds are an ever-present threat to his bankroll. Two-fifths of the pasture land in the state, instead of growing plants useful for forage, are overrun by weeds. Seeds scattered from unkept pastures and wild lands invade crop fields at costs reckoned in millions.

The American farmer is the most efficient in the world in the application of machine power to his work. He is one of the least efficient in his treatment of his land. Weeds above the soil line are as great a financial menace as erosion and over-cropping are to the soil itself.

Weed eradication campaigns pay farmers direct and immediate profits, in better crops and in better prices. The eradication work has been highly successful in those counties which produce seed for commercial use. Freedom from weed seeds has boosted their prices appreciably this year.

THE DEAD OF CANNAE.

[Detroit News.]

School boys and girls who have struggled with the history of Hannibal and have puzzled over what the eminent Carthaginian general did and did not do ought to be interested in the report by Italian archæologists that they have found the burying place of 80,000 men killed at the battle of Cannae.

Probably the report on the number of bodies discovered in the necropolis is considerably exaggerated, because 80,000 men would account for practically the whole of the defeated Roman army, and while a great part of the consular forces was killed Hannibal took 10,000 prisoners and quite a number of the Romans made tracks.

However, true interest in the discovery by the Italian archæologists resides in the unusual fact that the dead, so far as they are the remains of Romans of 2,000 years ago, represent all that is left of heroes who did not die in vain in the defense of home and empire, even though they were killed in one of the worst defeats ever suffered by the arms of the Roman republic.

For it was directly after Cannae that Hannibal unexpectedly and inexplicably abandoned his march along the road to Rome, and so in the opinion of most historians and military experts threw away an opportunity to make Carthage the mistress of the ancient western world.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Reg. U.S. Pat Office

YE OLDE CURIO SHOPPE.

A frantic customer came crashing into the Line's Old Curiosity Shop a few days ago to proclaim that wooden Indians frightened him and cast iron deer meant nothing in his life but that he was in mad pursuit of an iron horse's head hitching post of the Chester A. Arthur period. He wanted to ride it to a barbecue, or escort it to a fancy dress ball, or use it in the scenery for a little theater production, or something. So we told the lads in the stockroom to fetch down a few samples of this article of early Americana; and here are the results:

* * *

Advise the fellow who is looking for a horse's head hitching post to drive out to 114th street and Fairfield avenue, not far from Mount Hope cemetery. On the west side of the street he'll see a house with a fence composed of horse's head hitching posts. Mimi.

* * *

A swell black one showing the whites of his eyes is in front of a home on Gregory avenue in Wilmette, with house number on a white wooden plate fastened to the rein rings. M. E. B.

* * *

Tell Ward Monte we have two cast iron horse's head hitching posts in Marengo, Ill., on the main street. Our daughter, aged 2, has to "pat the horsies' heads" every time she passes them.

Marengo Mac.

* * *

I have a cast iron horse's head hitching post. The poor animal has been in our basement for fifteen years without a bite to eat. If Ward Monte wishes to rescue it I shall be glad to hear from him.

Mrs. J. S. Earll,
Prairie du Chien, Wis.

* * *

If Ward Monte will go to 7340 University avenue on the front lawn he will see a cast iron horse's head hitching post. It has been there for many years. M. Smith.

GRANDMOTHER SPAYTH.

(Born July 9, 1795.)

Hers was an era past, an epoch lost,
Hers a presence spectral, dim. At Granny's,
When very small, at times I would accost
Shades of her in unexpected crannies.

Her snuffbox, with its musty, teasing scent,
Crouched in a drowsy nook, serene in rest.
And once or twice I smoothed, hands reverent,
Her bonnet, cached in a cedar chest.

I saw her wineglass through the cupboard door;
I knew she'd used it daily till she died.
But best I knew that Grandma, only four,
Had long sat piecing quilt blocks by her side.

And best I knew that her tired, quiet eyes,
Spared visions of this hectic world of ours,
Must now pierce boundless space to supervise
The piecework of Minerva and the Hours.

Roberta Ridgely.

Polish All-Star Generals.

After reading about the controversy over the change of the name of Crawford avenue I would recommend as an All-Star Generals team whose statues should surround that of Frederick the Great in Washington the following: Pulaski, Pulaski, Pulaski, Pulaski, Pulaski, Pulaski, Pulaski, Pulaski, Pulaski, Pulaski, and Pulaski.

Flaskawiski.

Lowest Form of Speech.

The following was actually overhead by a tired secretary—her tired boss speaking over the phone:

L-O. O. O. I. C. O. K. U. R.? Y? O. G.! O. O. I. C. O. K. Flo.

Lumberjack Lingo.

Apropos of your railroad dialect, I offer a bit of lumberjack vernacular.

A lumberjack sustained a broken leg and was brought to a Spokane hospital for treatment. An intern asked him how the accident occurred, and received the following account:

"I was skyhooking for a gyppo out near Deer park. The ground mole was sending up an old, blue buckskin; she was coming a bit short, so I yelled at him to throw a sag into her, but he slipped her a St. Croix and gunned her, and here I am."

To which the doctor replied: "I am afraid I can't understand that."

"Neither can I, doc; I think the damn fool must have been crazy." J. Carroll Roberts.

Hooray! je vais on my vacation.
Plus de I. C., de petits luncheons.
Instead, streamlined trains, swell restaurants,
Dancing, golfing, nouveaux flirts,
Nuits étoilées, romance!
Et je soupire, "Quel bonheur!"

Après:

Helas! C'est fini.
Morning and night je catch the I. C.
Pork and beans luncheons.
And again: "May I help you, Madam?"
While je regrette the moonlit nights,
Le handsome flirt who is parti;
Et je soupire: "Quel dommage!"

Contribs' Hall of Fame.

Reading the Satevepost, I was interested to see stories by two of the Liners from way back when—Leonard H. Nason, who wrote under the name of Steamer, and MacKinlay Kantor, who used to write verses. Wonder why we cannot have a reunion of some of the old Liners—Donfarren, Jayhawker, Pierott, Eolus—how sad I feel in writing those names to have to leave out our beloved Jay G. Sigmund, who was killed last year. All of these and many more have strayed from the fold—maybe you can steer them back. Jin-Jin.

HELPFUL PROCEDURES IN WHOOPING COUGH.

EVERY physician has heard on numerous occasions the remark, "Why all this fuss about childhood diseases? I just let my little ones catch them and get over them. Most of them came through all right." On questioning, however, the truth usually is reached with the admission, "Yes, two of my babies died—one from whooping cough and the other from scarlet fever."

Nowadays we do not believe in letting children "catch" anything—not even a cold. Even though the ailment itself is overcome, sometimes damaged hearts, kidneys, or lungs may remain—organs that have to be petted and spared throughout life.

The largest number of cases of whooping cough arise about the fourth year of life, but fatal results are rare after the age of 2. Perhaps it is not the infection itself that is so harmful, but the victim is likely to lose weight so rapidly and his resistance drop to so low a level that some vital part of the body, other than the bronchial tubes, will be affected seriously. Thus we encounter instances of pneumonia and intestinal inflammation as sequels to the affliction.

Fortunately, the germs which are responsible for whooping cough have been identified and, while a serum has not been perfected for cure once the disorder has "taken hold," neverthless a vaccine which will safeguard the boy or girl has been developed. But complete protection probably is not established until four months after the injections have been given. Thereafter the chances are better than 90 to 1 that the child will not be susceptible; and even if the disease should manifest itself it will be so mild as to cause little inconvenience—certainly no danger to health.

With the malady in "full bloom" the patient presents a pitiful picture. First there appears the so-called catarrhal stage in which every one about the home believes that Johnny has a bad cold. The nose and throat are involved and there is considerable hacking and expectoration [which young children swallow]. But after a week or ten days the symptoms fail to abate; in fact, the episodes may increase in severity as well as frequency. About this time the parents may begin to suspect that the lad is facing some difficulty other than an ordinary nasal infection.

A positive diagnosis is made with the first succession of machine gun barks, followed by a long drawn out crowing inspiration—the typical whoop. Air cannot enter the lungs during a seizure because the coughs succeed one another quickly and, in consequence, the face may become deeply cyanotic [blue] and congested. Hemorrhages may be visible in the white portions of the eyes and the veins of the scalp and forehead will bulge prominently.

There are several helpful procedures which may be employed from the standpoint of home care. If there is a fever, keep the child in bed; otherwise the more time that he can spend quietly out of doors the better. Chill must be avoided, as a cold drink or a draft may bring on a paroxysm. A rather snug binder encircling the body, which extends from the lower edge of the ribs to the hips, should be adjusted in order to ease the strain on the abdomen. Furthermore, during a siege some one should hold the youngster's head, forcing the lower jaw forward.

The diet should consist of small meals—repeated after each vomiting attack—and be relatively high in vitamins. Cod liver oil and orange juice are excellent remedies. Foods that require little chewing are preferred and, for this reason, soups containing barley or sago are suggested.

Sometimes steam inhalations or vapor containing tincture of compound benzoin will offer much relief. The sufferer should be encouraged to expectorate, as the thick, tenacious mucus which gathers in the windpipe [trachea] is a possible cause of the paroxysm. Many a tot will be reasonably free from discomfort after a plug of this material is thrown off.

Drug treatment necessarily must be left to the physician, and occasionally sedatives will be helpful. The sleeping room should be airy but not drafty, and a screen placed before an open window will permit adequate ventilation.

SHOULD SEE DOCTOR.

S. S. writes: For about a year a woman of 46 years has had a sore, about the size of a dime, on the inside of her right cheek. Could this be cancer?

REPLY.

She should consult a physician without delay. While cancer is unlikely it may be a sign of several other more or less distressing ailments.

MANIC-DEPRESSIVE.

P. E. writes: What is the meaning of the word "manic-depressive"?

REPLY.

Manic-depressive refers to a type of mental disease, generally characterized by alternating periods of excitement or mania, and depression.

THEY SOMETIMES DO.

A. P. writes: Do warts ever disappear spontaneously?

REPLY.

Yes—whether they are rubbed with a toadskin or not.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—What action can be taken against the city for damages to automobile and tires caused by hole in the street? Tonight while driving east in Lawrence avenue on the south side of the street, I hit a nasty hole in the brick pavement that caused a blowout of my right rear tire, rendering tire and tube useless, and may have otherwise damaged my car. Isn't the city responsible in such cases or does the public have to take it and like it? What recourse do I have against the city in this case? W. H. N.

Technically you are entitled to recover your damages if you can satisfy a court that the city had notice, but as a practical matter it seems probable that the amount involved is not enough to make court proceedings worth while. You might try to see if a voluntary settlement could be made through your alderman.

HEAT IN FLATS WHEN NEEDED.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—A vote of thanks to Ald. Thomas J. Daley of the Seventh ward for introducing a measure in the city council which would require the landlords to supply heat whenever needed during the year. At last the people who have suffered from lack of heat in so-called steam heated apartments have a champion. Let us all write or telephone our aldermen and urge quick passage of this measure. Why should we pay the same rent the year round and not receive heat when the weather is cold, just because it is September and not October?

GRACE CORNWALL.

HYPHEN NOT WANTED HERE.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—The writer, and undoubtedly thousands of your other readers, are in hearty accord with your editorial entitled "Froth on the Melting Pot."

I have always been a firm believer that to be a good, real American, you cannot claim hyphenated citizenship. You can either be an American or whatever the other nationality might be, and those citizens who have adopted our country as their home should either support it to the fullest extent or return to the land of their origin.

In other words, what right has any group of citizens to try and involve our country in foreign country problems, which they do when they hold parades or massmeetings? Have we not enough problems right here in our own country to take care of without mixing into other people's business? How unfortunate, too, that some of our daily press print such glaring, misleading headlines, which arouse hatred and fear in a lot of people. JOHN G. LEINER.

BLAMES IT ALL ON THE RADIO.

Chicago Heights, Ill., Sept. 29.—I hope you will print these few lines. For some time I have seen complaints about the radio. But they have not even touched on the real damage the radio is doing our country. That terrible current of electricity shot up in the air 24 hours a day is raising havoc. It has already affected our weather.

They had 2 inches of snow and the thermometer read 27 in August in Montana. Then last week we had frost and snow flurries, here, while Minot, N. D., had 92 in the shade. Central Texas, a dry country, had so much rain that twenty people drowned. All our eastern states suffered from floods and hundreds of people drowned.

In England they had snow in August, besides a hail and sleet storm. If not stopped it will ruin our country.

HENRY THIELMAN.

THAT HOUR OF SUNLIGHT.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Your recent editorial on daylight saving time was much appreciated. When we remember that the number of persons going to work between 4:00 and 5:00 a. m. represents only a small percentage of the number going home from work between the hours of 5:00 and 6:00 p. m., there seems to be no logical reason why Chicago should not enjoy daylight saving as long as possible.

October is one of the best months of the year. Frequently it is even warmer than September, and children especially should have the opportunity of another hour for outdoor play. B. F. B.

DR. EDWIN J. KUH.

A STEP TOWARD SINGLE TAX.

Wichita, Kas., Sept. 28.—Aside from party contests in the coming November elections it is probable no single measure to be voted upon will exceed in importance the Ralston amendment in California, prepared by the Henry George tax men of that state, and recently qualified by the California State Supreme court to be voted upon at that time.

This amendment to the state constitution does not provide the single tax, but like the Pittsburgh plan, represents a long step in that direction. Under its provisions the tax upon ground rent is to be increased from a limit of 25 per cent to approximately 60 per cent. All taxes on the products of labor and industry, whether called improvements or tangible personal property, are gradually eliminated during a period of nine years, following the method of the Pittsburgh plan. The amendment repeals the retail sales tax act. It repeals the companion act, the use tax act. These two taxes now produce some $100,000,000 in revenue. The Ralston amendment is the result of many years of effort of California men and supported by contributions from single taxers elsewhere who regard this amendment as an entering wedge for their philosophy which will make easy acceptance of it thereafter.

HENRY WARE ALLEN.

TERRITORY TAKEN BY FORCE.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—In a recent letter to the American Legion the Polish Army Veterans' association urges that a fair consideration be given Poland in its demand for a slice of Czechoslovakia.

"Poland has no hatred for Czechoslovakia," the letter read. "It does not desire to see the dismemberment of another nation. It demands only what was taken from it by force eighteen years ago."

Then what of the Vilnius territory which was taken by Poland from Lithuania by force eighteen years ago come Oct. 9? This territory, one-third of the whole of Lithuania, with its ancient capital, Vilnius, was occupied by Poland only two days after she recognized the new state of Lithuania with Vilnius as its capital.

Since then Lithuanians in the Vilnius territory have been brutally opressed and their rights in school, church, and press denied. JAUNIMAS.

PREFER THE CZECH RULE.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—In the eastern part of Czechoslovakia there are over 700,000 Karpato Russians, or better known as Ruthenians. Prior to the world war, for over a thousand years, they were under Magyar rule. The land of the Ruthenians was mostly uncultivated forests; their people poor and backward, and they received no help from their government. After the world war this little nation was given the opportunity of expressing its wishes and it voted that it no longer desired to be under the Magyar rule. In 1918 a treaty was granted by the late President Masaryk and signed by the Ruthenian leaders in America, wherein was guaranteed autonomous freedom within the Czechoslovakian republic.

Such autonomous freedom has not yet been granted. But the little nation with the aid of the Czechoslovakian government has made far greater progress in twenty years than under the Magyar rule. The Karpato Russians desire to remain within the Czechoslovakian republic. PETER KALINAK.

PUT MONEY IN THE HIGHWAYS.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Consider every street and highway improvement project in the light of how it will affect all of the motorists who are supplying the funds and not just one section of the city.

Congress street may be a perfectly valid project for improving conditions on the west side, but it is certainly not wise to spend so much money to purchase buildings and property when the entire sum could be spent building and improving highways where this is not necessary.

We of the northwest side are naturally trying to get some sort of better motor transportation to the loop, but at no time have we ever tried to force the issue. JOHN H. KERR.

OLD MAPS AND NEW.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—This is written to express my appreciation of the sane and commonsense way in which the European situation is being brought to us by your paper.

It does seem that we may have to get acquainted with our old maps back to 1914 and after the strife is settled our old maps may be quite modern.

FIVE LAKE COUNTY TOWNS BACK 'L' HIGHWAY PLAN

See Many Advantages in Northwest Artery.

BY HAL FOUST.

Lake county civic and political leaders, at a Chicago Motor club luncheon in Waukegan yesterday, indorsed construction of an elevated highway in Chicago northwest from the loop. A petition was addressed to Springfield asking the state to prepare plans and specifications.

This is the fourth group meeting within the last two weeks to indorse this proposed construction in the northwest corner of Chicago. Another was adopted by Desplaines, Park Ridge, and other northwestern suburbs. North side organizations also asked for the northwestern elevated highway, not for the use of their own neighborhoods, but to relieve congestion on lake front boulevards due to west side trafic.

Five Towns Represented.

Attending yesterday's meeting were representatives of Waukegan, Lake Forest, North Chicago, Highland Park, and Libertyville. They were told by James E. Bulger, a director of the motor club, that an elevated highway in Avondale avenue, abutting the Northwestern railroad embankment, would save 32 minutes and six miles of driving on a round trip from Lake county to the loop.

"Our engineers have calculated," said Bulger, "that placing this trafic on elevated highways, isolated from pedestrians and cross trafic, would have 27 trafic deaths and 900 personal injuries annually.

"This danger, as well as the delays in getting in and out of the city, retard transaction of Chicago business by Lake county residents. Lake county residence by Chicago workers is discourgaed and Lake county's resort industry is handicapped."

Road Chief Favors Project.

R. M. Lobdell, Lake county highway superintendent, said he appreciated these advantages to his territory and favored the elevated highway, although this advocacy might kill any chances of reducing the state's automobile license fee or the gasoline tax.

Two publishers, A. H. Hagerty of Libertyville and James D. Bolger of Lake Forest, said they believed their communities approved the project.

F. R. Bairstow, president of the Waukegan Chamber of Commerce, also spoke.

Bulger said the cost of the northwest elevated road might be $5,000,000 or $10,000,000, depending on whether there should be four or six lanes and whether segregated facilities are provided for trucks. He said that current funds are adequate for a five year construction program if the state, Cook county, and Chicago will concentrate on elevated highways a portion of their paving expenditures now distributed among many comparatively local improvements.

POSTPONE WIFE'S TRIAL IN ARSON FAKE SHOOTING

A charge of assault with intent to murder against Mrs. Ruth Moran, 26 years old, of 517 North Wood street, was continued to Oct. 19 yesterday by Judge John J. Rooney in Felony court. The continuance was granted to allow time for the recovery of Glenn Moran, 27, her estranged husband. He was shot and badly wounded by Mrs. Moran in the rear of 1637 Grand avenue on Tuesday.

Mrs. Moran was the sweetheart of Frank Kolesiak, who with another man was implicated by fake confessions in a west side fire last April in which eight persons lost their lives. The confessions were obtained by State Fire Marshal S. E. Coultas and a group of amateur investigators, and were found to be false. Mrs. Moran said she shot her husband because he was cruel to their children. Police think she shot him because she believed he caused the arrest of Kolesiak.

Gov. Horner is investigating the methods used by Coultas and the amateur investigators in obtaining the fake confessions.

PLAN TO REOPEN NO. SHORE ROAD TODAY DROPPED

A plan to resume operation of the North Shore railroad today was dropped yesterday because the management was unable to work out an agreement with union officials, Col. A. A. Sprague, receiver, said. The road has been idle since Aug. 16 when a strike was called in protest to a 15 per cent wage cut. The wage issue has been overshadowed by a fight between unions on jurisdiction.

Fewer than half of the 960 operating employés of the road, it was said, responded to an invitation by the receiver to return to work this morning. Sprague wrote to the men on Tuesday asking them to state on a reply card if they wanted to go back to work. He needed assents from two-thirds of the workers to go ahead, he said. It was reported that union officials had advised their members not to return the cards.

Sprague has until Wednesday, under a federal court order, to work out a contract with union officials. Meanwhile 1,300 employés of the road have gone payless for more than six weeks.

AUTO HITS TRUCK NEAR ELGIN; TWO KILLED, 1 INJURED

Son of Textile Plant Owner Is Victim.

John H. Collingbourne, son of A. B. Collingbourne, president of the thread mill in Elgin bearing his name, was killed last night in an automobile accident near Elgin. C. W. Wilkins, 62 years old, who was riding with him, was also killed. Another companion, John O'Malley, 45, of 753 Bluff City boulevard, Elgin, was seriously hurt. Collingbourne, a maintenance engineer, was 27 years old and lived at 993 St. Charles street, Elgin.

He, Wilkins, and O'Malley were driving west in route 20, three miles west of Elgin, when their car sidewiped the eastbound truck of Duane Pursel of Moorepark, Mich. He was not hurt. Collingbourne and Wilkins were killed outright. O'Malley is in St. Joseph's hospital, Elgin. Wilkins, a boiler installation engineer, had a Chicago address at the Eastgate hotel.

Jury Clears Driver, 15.

A coroner's jury yesterday exonerated Matthew King, 15 years old, 6230 Blackstone avenue, in the death of Miss Alice Kraeger, 35, of 5220 Kenwood avenue. She was fatally injured by a car he was driving on Sept. 13. It was the first time he had driven the automobile unaccompanied by an older person.

A sharp reduction in automobile deaths in Cook county for the first nine months of 1938, compared with the same period in 1937, was reported yesterday by Coroner Frank J. Walsh. There were 603 fatalities in the 1938 period as against 789 in 1937. The number killed last month was seventy compared with 100 in September of last year.

No City Deaths in 48 Hours.

There were no trafic deaths in Cook county for the forty-eight hours preceding 4 p. m. yesterday, according to the coroner's office. Up to that time since Jan. 1 463 persons had been killed by automobiles in Chicago, where 14,659 were injured in the same period.

Marriage License Figures Zoom During September

The marriage license business boomed last month. County Clerk Michael J. Flynn issued 3,057 licenses compared with 2,564 in September, 1937. The total for the first nine months of 1938, however, is only 23,812, as compared to 33,238 in the same period a year ago.

SEEK GUARANTEE SUBWAYS WILL BE USED BY 'L' LINES

Mayor Opens Parley with Traction Officials.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Mayor Kelly acted yesterday to back up the city's application for a PWA subway grant with a guarantee from Chicago traction companies that they would use the tunnels if they are built.

Harold L. Ickes, Public Works administrator, has set up as a condition of a 14 million dollar grant that the city produce a guarantee that the subways will be used by the transit lines.

The mayor met yesterday with Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson and traction leaders at a conference called by the judge. He said Judge Wilkerson is anxious to coöperate with the city and the traction chiefs will seek to work out an agreement within two or three days.

Promise Action Soon.

"The traction officials are going to make every effort to reach a conclusion as to whether they can satisfy Secretary Ickes that the subways will be used," he said.

Mayor Kelly seeks an agreement from the surface lines and elevated companies that if a unification of the systems is worked out the new company will operate the subways. If there is no unification he wants an agreement from the elevated that they will use the tunnels.

Those at yesterday's conference included Col. A. A. Sprague, trustee for the elevated lines, and the four receivers of the surface lines companies, headed by Guy A. Richardson.

Approve Transfer Compromise.

A compromise on the division of fares paid by transfer riders between the elevated and surface lines was approved by Judge Wilkerson yesterday. Under the arrangement the elevated will receive 58.6 per cent of the 10 cent fare and the surface lines 41.4 per cent.

The settlement will enable the elevated to pay off trustee certificates issued to employés since July 15 as part of their pay. Employés had been receiving 12½ per cent of their wages in certificates. Judge Wilkerson authorized payment to the elevated of $1,219,807 out of a joint fund created with disputed transfer fares.

Judge Wilkerson also authorized the surface lines receivers and the elevated trustee to join in an application to the commission for an increase in the interline fare.

This action is without much significance, however, as both systems in a case pending before the commission are contending that the present 10 cent joint fare is inadequate.

$38,000 ALL GONE, WOMAN IS DENIED ALIMONY 2D TIME

For the second time in six weeks, Mrs. Marian Birkinshaw was denied temporary alimony yesterday from George Birkinshaw of 3435 Fulton street. The Birkinshaws are the parents of Mrs. Frances Schildhauer, whose husband, Edwin O. Schildhauer, Austin High school bandmaster, was mysteriously shot to death in 1932.

Mrs. Birkinshaw, whose address is 44 West Division street, is suing for separate maintenance. Birkinshaw's attorney, Robert E. Cantwell Jr., said Mrs. Birkinshaw was not entitled to alimony because she left her husband, who is nearly blind, soon after her daughter collected Schildhauer's $38,000 insurance. It was intimated that the mother and daughter, now business partners, have spent most of this money. Judge Robert C. O'Connell said he saw no reason for alimony.

RAMS SAME AUTO 3 TIMES; SENT TO JAIL FOR 10 DAYS

Edward Gorak, 1734 LeMoyne street, was sentenced to ten days in the county jail by Judge Frank M. Padden in the Safety court yesterday for reckless driving. Testimony showed Gorak, who is 21 years old, drove into the same parked car three times while on his way to pick up his mother at church on Aug. 21. Gorak blamed a hole in Paulina street near LeMoyne for the accident. He could not explain why he had hit the other car two times more trying to drive away.

Capt. Flynn, Police Trafic Chief, Bruised in Crash

Capt. David Flynn, chief of the police trafic division, was bruised yesterday when he was thrown against the side of a Chicago Motor Coach company bus. Capt. Flynn was boarding the bus at Wilson and Racine avenues when it was struck from the rear by another bus. He did not require medical attention and continued to his office.

Romains Adds 7th Volume to His Great Epic

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Death of a World," by Jules Romains. [Knopf, $3.] Published Monday.

The seventh volume of Jules Romains' monumental epic of present day France ends with the call to mobilization on Aug. 1, 1914. It ends, with a rapid knitting-up of the threads of previously dangling lives, in a tapestry of the lives and thoughts of a people long accustomed to peace and, despite occasional hints of a possible war, so completely unprepared psychologically that not even men in high affairs gave the murder of a Serbian archduke its due importance.

Like the previous volumes of "Men of Good Will," this one consists of two of the parts published separately in France. In each book M. Romains either concerns himself intensively with the actions and reactions of one character [as in "Mission to Rome," the first half of "Death of a World"] or gathers together swift, vivid impressions of the actions and reactions of a great many characters who have appeared in previous books [as in the latter half, "The Black Flag"].

By intensively working out the lives of a few characters and securely fixing them in their places in the intricate design of the populous whole, M. Romains is creating one of the epics of our age, which includes actual historical characters as well as fictional ones and is a literary monument rising in tremendous power.

"Mission to Rome" treats in detail of a secret political mission undertaken by a young French abbé to discover the extent of and to undermine if possible the power of Cardinal Merry del Val, whose sentiments were known to be anti-French. "The Black Flag," with sharp impressions, though not impressionistically, pictures "the clammy sweat of history . . . the oozing to the surface . . . of the hidden menace of the times," as the journalist, Jallez, says.

To the French, Jules Romains, with this great panorama, is the Balzac of modern France.

A Skilful Novel About American Family Life.

"Bricks Without Straw," by Charles G. Norris. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.50.]

Charles G. Norris, departing from his one syllable titles, tells the story of youth's rebellion and of parents' bewilderment. He does it with honesty and skill, characteristics not too often allied in modern novels. The drama of its pages never steps over into melodrama, although it could very easily do so.

The first half of the novel records Jerry Kennedy's rebellion against his too strict father, his too soft mother. It pictures him as a young man just out of college, living gayly and joyously in New York away from his oppressing father and mother, marrying for passionate love a girl who wanted to be a great singer and never forgave him for marrying her. And it tells of the economic pinch which wrecked his marriage and of his sister's stubborn love affair.

The second half tells of his honest struggle to give his children the good life . . . three children by his second wife, plus his sister's tragically orphaned daughter and his first wife's son, deserted by his father and given into Jerry's hands on the boy's mother's deathbed. Jerry does not want to duplicate his father's strictness. He is often torn by his ideals. Two of the children finally go off to fight with the loyalists in Spain. The one who seemed certain to come to a bad end settles down, finds the one girl in the world Jerry would have chosen for him. Another of them dies as he is reporting a strike for his paper. His favorite daughter gets into a mess and emerges to marry Jerry's best friend's son.

"Bricks Without Straw" is an excellent novel of American family life in two generations, proving that you never can tell about children and that even the most conscientious parent may prove a failure.

Literary Art Surveyed by Ford Madox Ford.

"The March of Literature," by Ford Madox Ford. [Dial, $3.75.] Published Wednesday.

Eight hundred and sixty closely packed pages from the pen of one of the great writers and critics of our day describe "the great stream of literature issuing from its dark and remote sources and broadening through the centuries until it comes to irrigate with its magnificent and shining waters almost the whole of the universe of today," as Mr. Ford puts it.

"If we succeed in turning out a work of insight and imagination and one couched in clear, uncomplicated and not harsh prose," he declares, "we too shall have produced a piece of literature."

Which is exactly what he has done! He has brought to life the past, has given his readers a sense of the social and human, as well as literary, results of the great works of literary art, and has illumined his really scholarly tale with his own personality.

This might be a textbook on world literature [though it contains no supplementary recommended reading lists or quizzes to test the percentage of absorption of knowledge]. Any one reading this book and then going to its sources might well consider himself well read, for he will be so. But the sense of pleasure in knowing more intimately great books and the men and women who wrote them will outweigh the reader's pride in his acquisition of knowledge.

James Stuart Woven into Historical Novel.

"Crippled Splendour," by Evan John. [Dutton, $2.50.]

One of the best historical novels of many a day is this long, populous, vividly alive tale of "the strange life and most terrible death of James Stuart." The historic facts in themselves are of heroic stature and Evan John has used them with infinite skill and care as warp in a tale whose woof, even when synthetic, is authentically of the period.

Of the early years of "James Stuart, first of that name to rule in Scotland, companion-in arms to Henry V., prisoner, poet, musician, soldier, law-giver, lover, and king," less is known than the author tells. However, he makes the eighteen years of his wanderings from one prison in England to another and his years as battle mate in the Hundred Years war in France seem fact if they are mostly fiction. When James returns to Scotland and takes over the reins of his country, brings design into a government which had never known it, makes of his native land one of which history has sung epics, James thoroughly fulfils the latter half of Mr. John's title. There is nothing crippled about the author's skill in bringing to life both a person and a period, but there is true splendor.

Four Foreign Lands Beckon Travel Reader

BY RUSSELL MAC FALL.

"Rumanian Journey," by Sacheverell Sitwell. [Scribner's, $3.50.]

"Third Class Ticket to Heaven; A Black Forest Adventure," by Helen Follett. [Winston, $3.]

"Holland: Crossroads of the Zuider Zee," by Hendrik de Leeuw. [Lippincott, $3.]

"Cheddar Gorge; A Book of English Cheeses," edited by Sir John Squire. [Macmillan, $3.]

Sacheverell Sitwell, in a four week journey through Rumania, finds it amazing, rich, unspoiled, and primitively magnificent. As an erudite amateur of European art, he pronounces the convent at Hurez a gem; the painted churches in the Bucovina masterpieces of Byzantine architecture; the family portraits of descendants of the orientalized Boyers excellent, and the Bucharest café music, "the only good popular music I have ever heard."

He has occasion for brilliant asides—essays in brief—about the handsome Laetzi gypsies, and the Russian cab men of the Skoptzi sect. Perhaps most remarkable of all is his judgment of King Carol—"ablest man in his country and, after Kemal Ataturk, perhaps the person of most ability in eastern Europe." Like all good and readable travelers, Mr. Sitwell brings as much to his journey as he takes away.

It is no great jump from the peasant districts of mountainous Rumania to the Black forest, where Helen Follett spent a sentimental season. She lived close to the peasants at Himmelreich, in a cottage known as Traum-Hütte [Dream Cottage]. Not only has she been successful in conveying the peculiar charm of this happy region, but she has put into words the rhythm of the seasons which binds the soil and its tillers together, so that they live to fulfill the demand of the fields and in turn live by their produce. Into this grand theme has been woven a love story which mars but can not ruin the primitive symphony.

Hendrik de Leeuw's pilgrimage to Holland, the land of his birth, is in the nature of a guide for others. After chapters describing Holland's stormy history and her battles with sea and Spaniard, he rounds the little nation, keeping a sharp eye for points of interest to the American traveler. In Oud-Vossemeer, Zeeland, the ancestors of President Roosevelt once lived. From Leiden sailed the Pilgrims, and elsewhere in Holland's past are foreshadowings of the younger republic's political system, just as Dutch words have been carried over into English. Of course, he has much to tell picturesque and amusing about Amsterdam, Rotterdam, the Hague, Delft and other regions.

Sir John Squire and his crew of gourmands, numbering among them Horace Annesley Vachell, Osbert Burdett, and Andre Simon, fear that the great British local cheeses are dying. To revive the languishing industry they have contributed essays on the history of ten great cheeses together with observations on the art of making them, the landscape which nourishes them, and the literary references which immortalize them. For, as one contributor remarks, "the only way to learn about cheese is to eat it," they can be savored best, perhaps, in conjunction with the hearty drawings of Ernest H. Shepard, mottled through the text like veinings of M. Simon's Blue Vinny.

Looking Over Latest Books

An Engrossing Novel from South America.

"From Jungle Roots," by Marcos Spinelli. [Covici-Friede, $2.50.]

South American fiction is greatly enriched by the publication of this novel of a wild, tempestuous lad from the Matto Grosso who never quite outgrew his primitive boyhood. Civilization clutched at him time and again and for a moment almost had him, but the book's end finds him back in the jungle which, spiritually, he had never left.

Carlos Diaz was reared by his grandfather, an earthy old cattle owner, in a sprawling ranch house in the interior of Brazil, where a boy was a man at the age of 12, and entirely accustomed to man's responsibilities. At 12, Carlos was completely—and astoundingly—in that tradition. But his grandfather then died and Carlos was taken out of the jungle by his hitherto absent father, who had no idea of what he faced in trying to put a conventional polish on his stormy offspring.

The attempt failed miserably in a San Paulo academy, but an old world college in Florence, Italy, seemed just the thing for a time, until Carlos, caught in the restlessness of the early world war days, drifted to Paris. There he became involved with some Brazilian revolutionaries and started on a course which eventually led him back to the Matto Grosso—still untamed.

Australia Background in Fascinating Novel.

"Waterway," by Eleanor Dark. [Macmillan, $2.50.]

Eleanor Dark, author of "Return to Coolami," has written another novel about Australia in this study of people who live in a suburb of Sydney. Again her descriptions of the country, this time the harbor and the boats that ply across it, are extremely well done.

Her method is similar to that used by Thornton Wilder in "The Bridge of San Luis Rey." She builds up a tremendous interest in a number of characters whose lives and destinies are more or less interwoven. She then follows them through one day, beginning at sunrise and continuing to sunset, when they all are involved in one common tragedy, the sinking of a ferry boat.

Besides the actors in this drama [there is the old triangle love affair, the happy marriage, the dilemma of the young girl who is trying to make up her mind whether to marry money or brains], there also is an exposition of ideas—the new generation versus the old, the moneyed parasite versus the underprivileged, new thought versus hidebound conservatism. "Waterway" holds your interest from beginning to end.

Warm Feeling for Nature in These Tranquil Pages.

"Here I Stay," by Elizabeth Coatsworth. [Coward-McCann, $2.]

Here is a book without passion, without suspense, and with the thinnest vestige of a plot, yet it is a book of surpassing calm, tranquility, and beauty.

It is, briefly, a saga of the Maine seasons, and of the life under them of Margaret Winslow, who chose to stay alone in the cabin her father had built after all her fellow-pioneers trekked westward to Ohio. And she finds romance in the forest.

Elizabeth Coatsworth, already distinguished as a writer of children's stories, has a warm and perceptive feeling for nature. Fortunately so, as this gives substance to what otherwise might seem 246 pages of too precious writing, its smoothness too polished to be true.

The book seems to turn on the words of Santa Teresa, the Spanish mystic: "Let nothing disturb you, let nothing affright you, all things pass—patience conquers all." This became the philosophy of Margaret Winslow, as it perforce is with all who live alone with nature.

This Intriguing Volume Brings Geology to Life.

"Our Amazing Earth," by Carroll Lane Fenton. [Doubleday-Doran, $4.50.]

Geology is the story of the earth. If all the college professors could tell the story as Carroll Lane Fenton does, it is hard to see how any student could be anything except interested. In fact, it might be a good idea if both the students and professors read "Our Amazing Earth." The birth of rivers, the death of mountains, the history that is there for those that can see—Fenton makes the reader feel that this is something that is part of life and not just a way to get college credits.

For geology comes to life when the author blows breath into its too long dead body. Every one, everywhere, can see the things about which Fenton writes. He brings a whole new world that we have looked at, but failed to see.

A Charming Portrayal of Norwegian Family.

"Storevik," by Gosta af Geijerstam. [Dutton, $2.]

Gosta Geijerstam delighted American readers with his first book in foreign translation, "Northern Summer." It was an account of himself, his wife, their children, their old servant, the animals, and the scenery of their home in western Norway—the story of a beautiful and simple domestic scene, drenched with warm humor.

In "Storevik" Geijerstam again writes of the life of his own family, about eight years after the first episodes. The book draws its title from the name of an island in the fjord near their home where they have a summer farm, and where some of the most exciting days of their life were passed. If possible, this book has even more of those charming qualities which made "Northern Summer" popular.

Story of Filming Movie on an Isolated Island.

"200,000 Feet," by Michael Powell. [Dutton, $3.50.]

Twenty-four men and two attractive women on an isolated island would seem to present ideal ingredients for trouble and plenty of it. That is the dramatis personæ of this book, but everything is pure. For these twenty-six are members of an English movie company. This is the story of their filming of a motion picture, "The Edge of the World" on the tiny island of Foula, one of the outer isles of Scotland.

Michael Powell, the author, was the director of the film. He had the idea for a dramatization of how the isles were being slowly depopulated. He promoted the money to make the film, found the island, collected the cast, managed the expedition, and had time to act, too. There was joy and sorrow amid the crags and much hard work. The book is illustrated with photographs.

DEMOCRATS FACE CALIFORNIA SPLIT OVER UTOPIANISM

Combination of Factions Rends Party.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—The combination of radicalism with utopian projects has rent the Democratic party in California asunder and brought about that party realignment which is taking place generally in the country at large.

In the November election the Republicans and the conservative Democrats will be arrayed against the New Deal Democrats, the communists, the C. I. O. and other radical elements, the single taxers, and the utopians dreaming of prosperity produced by the distribution of "$30 every Thursday" to unemployed Californians over 50.

The issue is in doubt, with the initial advantage resting with the radicals. In the state registration Democrats outnumber Republicans 3 to 2. In this most populous section there are two Democrats to every Republican. And the Democratic party is dominated by the left wing, which nominated the ticket and dictated the platform.

G. O. P. Faces Uphill Fight.

Republican leaders confess they are facing an uphill fight and that they cannot hope to elect their ticket without the aid of close to 50 per cent of the registered Democrats. It was an upheaval of such proportions in the Democratic party, however, that enabled the Republicans to defeat Upton Sinclair's utopian EPIC [end poverty in California] in 1934.

Democratic leaders never were so confident of success. They believe they have an unbeatable combination in the subsidized farmers and fruit growers, the C. I. O. and other radical labor unions, the relief vote organized by the communistic Workers' alliance, the votes deliverable by the New Deal jobholders, and the votes represented by the 250,000 members of the $30 a week pension organization.

The issue of radicalism has been sharply accentuated by the labor disturbances, fomented by the C. I. O., which for months have paralyzed large areas of business, industry, and agriculture.

Shipping Hard Hit.

Shipping has been hard hit by the water front strikes, engineered by Harry Bridges, the west coast C. I. O. leader, whose deportation as an alien communist is sought.

San Francisco warehouses are tied up by a deadlock between the employers and the C. I. O. San Francisco department stores, picketed by their C. I. O. employés, are doing only a nominal business. Fruit growers and other farmers are in almost constant collision with C. I. O. unions.

First sign of a widespread reaction against John Lewis' radical unions was detected in the recent Los Angeles election in which Mayor Frank L Shaw was recalled and an initiated ordinance regulating strike picketing was adopted.

Reds Join Democrats.

The communists, who are strong enough in California to constitute a political party, have openly aligned themselves with the Democrats.

They have nominated candidates for minor offices only in this election and are campaigning for the election of Sheridan Downey as United States senator, Culbert Olson as governor, and other Democratic candidates for major offices.

Downey, who defeated Senator William G. McAdoo in the Democratic primary, is a formidable contender for senator. He has the support of the $30 a week contingent, a large proportion of the Townsendites, of whose movement he is a pioneer; the EPIC Utopians on whose ticket he ran with Sinclair in 1934, the New Dealers generally with the blessing of Mr. Roosevelt, and the radical labor unions with the blessing of John Lewis.

Downey's Republican opponent is Philip Bancroft, a farmer who has shaken up the political dry bones with forthright pronouncements on ticklish issues in defiance of the dictates of political discretion. The disbursement of the social security trust funds for current expense he calls "legalized embezzlement."

DROWNING VICTIM FOUND.

The body of Mrs. Philip Anderson, 30 years old, wife of an attorney living at 632 South Auston boulevard, was recovered from the Fox river yesterday near Wilmot, Wis. Mrs. Anderson drowned Sunday night when a rowboat capsized.

DRIVING COMFORT DICTATES FALL STYLES FOR MEN

The man who drives his own car is dictating the fall style in suits and topcoats. The result is a greater accent than ever on comfort, according to members of the Merchant Tailors' and Designers' association of Chicago, who last night held their annual fall style show in the Palmer house.

Drawing more than 400 midwest tailors of the more expensive clothes, the show is recognized as a pace setter in men's clothes.

The wasp-waisted suit coat of last season, W. J. Fitzgerald, spokesman for the association, declared, is out. That is, halfway out. Coats displayed yesterday continued to give that hourglass suggestion when viewed from the front but, by a tailor's skill, they fell straight and loose in the back.

Other changes have been made to give the man greater relaxation while dressed in his Sunday best. The overall length is an inch or more greater, the waistline is lower and the pockets have been dropped a couple of inches. A coat half as long as the man's height minus four inches [32 inches for a six-footer] is now de rigeur, Fitzgerald asserted.

And, said Charles C. Pollich of Chicago, president of the national association, driving comfort is also the motif of the new topcoats. He pointed to a Hollywood model which is scarcely knee length and flairs from armpits to bottom like a bell.

POLICEMAN GETS MISTAKEN IDEA; SHOOTS A CLERK

A policeman's mistaken suspicions and Archie Rosenthal's eagerness to catch a street car combined to bring about a shooting at Broadway and Lawrence avenue early today in which Rosenthal was shot in the right ankle. He is 27 years old, a clerk, and lives at 4719 North St. Louis avenue.

The policeman, Charles Maloney, 47 years old, 3749 Kenmore avenue, who was off duty at the time, was taken into technical custody by Lieut. Michael J. Ahern of the Summerdale station. Lieut. Ahern said that Maloney had been drinking. Maloney works out of the Summerdale station.

According to Lieut. Ahern, Rosenthal went into the drug store at 4800 Broadway to make a purchase. Maloney thought he intended to rob the place and began questioning him. Rosenthal answered his questions until he saw his street car, and hurried out. Maloney followed, and fired three shots at him. Rosenthal is in the Swedish Covenant hospital.

DENY AX SQUADS WILL STOP RAIDS; ANSWER: 6 MORE

Persistent rumors that State's Attorney Courtney was about to cease his ax raids on horse betting joints were vehemently denied at the prosecutor's office. As a further answer four raiding squads were sent out. They chopped up six resorts, bringing their total to 292 for the campaign.

One of the few places in which women patrons have outnumbered the men was smashed at 7924 South Chicago avenue, where 100 or 150 betters were women. Other raids were at 216 West Chicago avenue, second floor; 4646 Champlain avenue, a garage behind a tavern; 2613 Milwaukee avenue, 6520 South Cicero avenue in Clearing, and 4078 Broadway, where more than 200 persons were wagering in a garage.

As one of the regular periodic changes in the Municipal court, Judge Francis Borrelli was assigned yesterday to sit in the South State street branch, where prisoners seized in police gambling raids are tried. He will replace Judge Eugene J. Holland on Monday. Judge Holland will make a circuit of three north side branch courts. Yesterday he freed 23 defendants for lack of warants.

Ten men were arrested by city police in six raids on alleged gambling places.

WPA LETS DOWN BARS—AT LEAST UNTIL ELECTIONS

50,000 Waiting the Call to Easy Jobs.

[This is the twenty-first in a series of articles on the Works Progress administration. Today's article explains how the Illinois WPA machine is being prepared for the coming elections.]

BY WILL O'NEIL.

For the last three months WPA officials have been doing everything possible to build up the Illinois WPA machine in preparation for the November elections. The bars have been let down and the multitude has been invited to come and partake of the fruits of WPA, at least until November.

The multitude answered with a rush. Some got in and a lot of others didn't. Those who didn't get in give local relief authorities the prospect of a gigantic headache this winter.

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission reported a few days ago that there were 51,416 persons in Illinois on Aug. 31 who had been approved for WPA jobs, but not assigned to them. Chicago had 26,935 of these men and women on its waiting list.

The Rules Are Changed.

There was a time when it was necessary to scour the direct relief rolls to get enough able bodied men to fill the available WPA jobs. WPA changed that when the elections popped up on the horizon.

Until last Jan. 6 here is what John Unemployed had to do to get a WPA job:

He had to apply for direct relief. If he was accepted he had to remain on the direct relief rolls for thirty days before he could be certified [approved as eligible] for a WPA job. Relief authorities said that this gave them time to make sure that Mr. Unemployed needed and was entitled to relief before they certified him to WPA.

An economic crisis occurred in the late winter months. It just happened that this crisis bore a strange relationship to the April primaries. Here is what John Unemployed had to do after Jan. 6.

He went to the direct relief office and asked to be certified for WPA. He was interviewed in the direct relief office in Chicago by an employé of the Chicago Relief administration. If the CRA worker decided that John was entitled to help on the basis of his story he was certified immediately for WPA.

No More Waiting.

No more thirty days on direct relief. No more tiresome investigation of his need and eligibility for aid. WPA accepted the CRA's verdict that John needed a job.

This emergency system of certification was continued until five days before the April primaries. Then it was stopped and the old system was started again. CRA employés agreed that the emergency system had attracted to WPA many men whose pride and self respect would have kept them from applying if they had to go on relief first. They had managed to get along before and would have managed again, these workers said.

With the fall campaign getting under way the orthodox system was upset again in June at the orders of WPA. The emergency system was put back into effect for all of Illinois and a new wrinkle was added to it.

Change as Elections Near.

Each local relief unit—township, county, or city—had its own standards for determining the eligibility of its residents for relief. WPA objected to this because, the WPA officials said, there were many persons who should be given WPA jobs who could not meet their local standards of relief need.

Although the system had been in effect since July 1, 1936, it was not until the approach of the elections that WPA acted to change it. When WPA's changed attitude was revealed last May Charles E. Miner, state WPA administrator, evaded questions on what had caused it.

Miner announced that the Illinois ity for WPA for use in Illinois and that local relief units no longer would have power to determine an unemployed person's eligibility for WPA. He said that he expected this change would add many eligibles for WPA jobs.

IERC Helpless Under WPA.

The system of emergency certifications also was reëstablished at the same time. Miner and officials of the IERC [Illinois Emergency Relief commission] knew that it did not have the money or the staf to begin to examine the needs of applicants for WPA jobs. The IERC, however, was helpless under the WPA pressure.

In March, when the first emergency certification system was in operation, there were 22,681 certified persons waiting for WPA jobs at the end of the month. At the end of April there were 16,831; at the end of May there were 15,984. Then the number of those waiting, under the new system, began climbing until it passed the 50,000 mark at the end of last month.

At the same time WPA employment in the state has increased from 215,000 on June 1 to nearly 250,000 at present. That is the best speed that WPA could make in hiring applicants.

Depends on Local Authorities.

Because of its shortage of funds, the IERC is still, despite its big, new program, dependent chiefly on local relief authorities to investigate applicants for WPA jobs.

Despite the failure of the IERC to increase the list of certified persons for whom there are no jobs Miner, with the elections near, is in a position to go to Harry Hopkins, national WPA chief, and say:

We've got 50,000 persons waiting for WPA jobs in Illinois. We need more money. No one can accuse us of dumping this multitude on the pay roll because of politics. They've been waiting for jobs for a month or more."

There are those near Miner's office who say that he planned it this way at beginning of the summer—giving him a plausible excuse for increasing the WPA rolls just before the election.

The local relief authorities are beginning to wonder what is going to happen to them this fall. One local relief official said:

"We haven't had much trouble out of it so far, but I'm afraid we will. After these men have been certified for a while and don't get jobs they are going to turn on us.

"They will say that we certified that they needed relief when we approved them for WPA jobs they didn't get. They are going to demand relief from us on that basis.

Buys Liquor with Relief Check; Jailed in $100 Fine

Emory Sobiesk, 37 years old, of 5713 Magnolia avenue, admitted in Town Hall court yesterday his wife's accusation that he spent part of his relief check for liquor. As a result, Sobiesk was sent to the Bridewell to work out a $100 fine imposed by Judge Joseph B. Hermes.

WOMAN FALLS FROM LINER AT SEA; RESCUED

Mrs. Martha Bach, 37 years old, daughter of Mrs. Laura Farne, 149 Glenwood avenue, Hubbard Woods, was recovering yesterday in New York after being rescued Thursday when she plunged into the sea from the Hamburg-American liner Deutschland. Mrs. Bach, a former resident of Denver, Colo., was returning with her daughter, Helen, 14, and Mrs. Farne from a visit to Germany.

Capt. Karl Steincke of the Deutschland said that Mrs. Bach was rescued by a lifeboat crew twenty minutes after she fell from a porthole. Relatives here, however, said she was unable to swim. Most of the ship's 823 passengers witnessed the rescue.

Mrs. Bach's husband, Herman, died two years ago after a long illness. Mrs. Bach, a German citizen, came to this country in 1921. A sister here said recent letters from her had spoken joyfully of her return to Chicago.

81 MILLIONS PAID IN STATE SALES TAX LAST YEAR

Illinois' 3 per cent sales tax revenue continues to increase, S. L. Nudelman, director of finance, reported yesterday. The 1937-1938 collections at the close of the fiscal year June 30 totaled $80,917,601, an average of more than $6,743,000 per month.

The 1936-1937 collections amounted to $77,685,924, compared with $64,222,255 in the preceding twelve months.

The report showed that with the aid of the sales tax and other revenue gains the state closed the fiscal year with a net surplus of $21,293,717 in its general revenue fund. This was an increase of $9,785,717 over the preceding year's balance.

The motor fuel tax ran a poor second to the sales levy as a revenue producer. A total of $39,223,568 was collected under this impost on gasoline. The 3 cent tax on utility services produced $10,531,720.

Motor vehicle licenses brought in $21,154,627; liquor taxes, $11,052,410; insurance taxes and fees, $8,811,550; inheritance taxes, $8,407,275, and corporation taxes and fees, $3,102,468.

Revenue from all sources amounted to $219,575,795.

WPA TO GIVE IERC 75,000 GARMENTS FOR RELIEFERS

Illinois is to receive 75,000 men's garments from the Works Progress administration's purchase of so-called surplus clothing. Although the WPA has kept its plans concerning the clothing a secret, this fact was revealed yesterday when the Illinois Emergency Relief commission was asked to approve the purchase of $500 worth of paper to wrap the clothing.

Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, induced Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator, to buy 10 million dollars' worth of clothing during the last summer. The clothing is to be distributed to those on relief rolls.

The IERC gave Chicago $2,658,798 in state funds to meet estimated relief needs for October of $3,506,368. Leo Lyons, Chicago relief commissioner, has indicated that he will use $216,946 in funds transferred from the vehicle tax fund to meet part of the $847,570 deficit.

Hank Richards reports the observation made by one of the girls in the Prairie Farmer bindery: When another employé commented, "Mussolini is nowhere near as bad as Hitler," the Prairie Farmerette replied, "He is, too. Just look what he did to Utopia."

Some American girls arrived in Rome on their way to Naples to board a ship for home (one of them was Rita Warshawska of Chicago, who spent the summer studying opera with Rosa Raisa in Verona) on the day Italian troops were mobilizing for border duty. As the soldiers marched through the streets one of the girls exclaimed, "A parade! How funny no one pays any attention to it." Reaction to this tale: Appreciation of living in a land where a turnout of soldiery means a parade—not mobilization.

Doc's Dissipation.

The big city sight of the week was seeing Dr. Allan R. Dafoe of quints' fame having his palm read by Lady Lavendar, the white haired fortune teller at Jacques' restaurant at 900 North Michigan.

Should you care what a famous doctor orders when he's out—Dr. Dafoe ate baked oysters, onion soup, fresh duck bigarade with wild rice, and crêpes suzette. The country doctor turned epicure.

Fashion Note.

Elizabeth Hawes (Fashion Is Spinach), in town this week, prophesies that hair will be down again by Christmas. Hers, which she wears on top of her head with a forehead fringe, has been up a year and a half. In case you care what a dress designer wears, she had on a full skirted wool model, skirt gray, blouse blue, the round neckline plain. No jewelry.

Recreation Note or Commissary Item?

(In the morning mail).

"While sitting in the lobby of the swanky Baker hotel, which overlooks the Fox river at St. Charles, I saw the chef make several trips through the lobby, open the French doors and from the iron railing of the balcony pull up a fish line with a big fish attached. The line was rebaited and in five minutes he had another catch.

OCTOBER 1 means moving to many; those friends of the Howell B. Erminger and the Aldis J. The bridesmaids will be Miss Mary Harrington, Miss Bonnie Jean Clark, the Misses Josephine and Caroline Castle, Miss Ethel Husband, Miss Frances Jeffery, all of Chicago; Mrs. John O. White of Waterbury, Conn., and Miss Jane Schmidt of Cincinnati.

Northwestern university football fans will be in Dyche stadium this afternoon for the first game of the season, in which the N. U. Wildcats will meet the Kansas State Wildcats. The University of Chicago Maroons will meet the Bradley Tech players from Peoria at Stagg field this afternoon. President and Mrs. Robert Maynard Hutchins give luncheons instead of tea parties on football Saturdays, but they are not having the first of the season until next week.

Hunting Enthusiasts Plan Gay Week-end.

This will be a gay week-end for hunting enthusiasts, especially for those who hunt with the Mill Creek hounds, for the Mill Creek's annual hunter trials will be held tomorrow in Millburn. As a prelude there will be a dinner-dance tonight at the Onwentsia club in Lake Forest at which there will be an auction on the horses that will compete in the trials tomorrow.

William E. Clow Jr. was to have been the auctioneer, but he has had the "flu" so, although he will be at the party, he will not be able to conduct the auction. There will be two auctioneers, but who they will be will not be known until today. Preceding the dinner-dance, cocktail parties will be given by the Howard Linns, the Laurance H. Armours, the Kimball Salisburys, the Edward H. Bennetts, and the junior Joseph T. Bowens.

Tomorrow the farmers over whose land the Mill Creek rides will be the guests at a barbecue luncheon of the hunt members. Other guests at the trials may buy luncheon at $1.10 per person. Numerous people are planning to take picnic luncheons with them, which they will enjoy during the time luncheon is being served in the big tent. In the little club-

Good Morning!

Those to whom home and the younger generation mean much [which classification undoubtedly includes a large per cent of the y. g. themselves] will be charmed with this simply told, human interest filled story of a real home in which live:

A musician father.
His four daughters.
A comfortable maiden aunt.
A home into which comes a revivifying and disturbing influence in the form of A young composer—
Whose presence changes in varied ways the lives of all with whom he comes in contact. [Magnetic yahoo, ye ken?]

All of the girls feel his charm—Thea, who is engaged to the up and coming and dull young business man, Ben Crowley; Emma, the oldest, who can't quite make up her mind to wed her stalwart, bashful admirer who works in the local florist shop; Kay, the one with the voice, and Ann, the baby—with whom Felix Deitz falls in love.

One day there drifts into the family circle a dour young musician firmly convinced that from birth the fates have been against him. It is through this Mickey Borden that tragedy descend and content finally becomes installed in the hearts of all the Lemp sisters.

Though all of the acting is splendid, it's little Priscilla Lane who walks away with the honors. She gives one of the finest performances I've seen on the screen by an actress, old or young. Never a false note mars the refreshing sincerity of her portrayal. Here, indeed, is star material!

Jeffrey Lynn, personable and pleasing newcomer, rings truer toward the last of the film than he does at the first. John Garfield—this is his screen debut — does a thoughtful piece of work as the gloom ridden Mickey.

The Lemp home, which backgrounds most of the action, is the lived-in sort of place that would house such a family and dialog is the kind of talk you'd hear from folks like the Lemps.

Your interest in the picture deepens as the plot develops. Which is a seal of merit for any movie.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

These Youngsters.

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 30.—Deanna Durbin, two months and six days shy of her sixteenth birthday, scores again in "That Certain Age," making it four bullseyes for the Canadian youngster in four tries—"Three Smart Girls," "A Hundred Men and a Girl," and "Mad About Music" all registering as smash hits. By the time the final box office totals are in these four pictures will have grossed $10,000,000, which isn't a bad earning record for a 15 year old. I dislike to rub salt in wounds, but the fact is inescapable that Miss Durbin once was the property of M.-G.-M., and was turned loose because they had no pictures for her. Leo the lion groans in anguish every time he thinks of that sorry day when Deanna walked out of the Culver City studio gates.

Deanna Durbin.

Joe Pasternak, the half-pint Hungarian, can share the Durbin bows. When Universal signed Deanna at the urging of Rufus Le Maire they were operating on a short bank roll and the bosses didn't have too much money to spare on an unknown quantity. Pasternak scrimped here and there, cut corners, and brought in a picture under $300,000. In an industry where a picture completed for $750,000 is akin to a miracle of economy Pasternak's feat was spectacular. "Three Smart Girls" cleaned up and Deanna Durbin over night became a star. Since then she's had three more smash hits.

Starting a bit younger in life, Shirley Temple has compiled a record that combined the best features of the United States mint and the Bank of England. At the ripe age of 9 Shirley's twelve pictures for Twentieth Century-Fox have grossed, conservatively, $30,000,000. However, after reading this don't go home and whack your 9 year old daughter across the buttocks because she hasn't a steady job. Not many 9 year olds have to pay 60 per cent income tax.

On stage 15 at 20th Century-Fox [the stage is a huge hangarlike building, soundproofed] Director Henry King is acting as midwife as a star is born. The star-in-the-making is 18 year old Nancy Kelly, signed by Joe Pincus as the result of her performance in "Susan and God" on the Broadway stage, and now emoting under King's direction in "Jesse James," in which she plays the femme lead opposite Tyrone Power. A rôle as important as that rarely goes to an 18 year old youngster unless she is unusual. I think that she is. In fact, after seeing the test she made for the part your reporter would make a bet on it.

What has she got, this Kelly lass? Dramatic talent, charm, dramatic sincerity, freshness. Where did she acquire these valuable assets? She was a child star at Biograph years ago, fourteen years ago, to be exact. So she always has had talent. Her dramatic equipment comes from radio. She is a veteran of the "March of Time" series, and the "Wizard of Oz" programs, and the Myrt and Marge programs.

No youngster ever had so great an opportunity in her first big picture. King is the ace director of the Zanuck forces, as witness "In Old Chicago" and "Alexander's Ragtime Band." Tyrone Power is one of the three most popular matinée idols. Henry Fonda is handling one of the leads. Henry Hull is handling another. In every sense, it is an important picture that will launch Nancy Kelly. So keep your fingers crossed for her, because the rise of a young star is the most refreshing story in Hollywood, nice to write, nice to read. Youngsters always are nice people.

For every youngster who clicks in the pictures the woods are full of those who miss. Hollywood proposes, the fan disposes. In other words, the movie fan is the only one who can make a star. I have argued, time and again, that it is incredible folly on the part of a movie company to state in advance that a new star has been born. It was tried unsuccessfully with Anna Sten, with Simone Simon, with Arleen Whelan, and too many others. The star label acts as a positive handicap to the performer because the pronouncement turns the audience from a sympathetic attitude to a show me attitude.

Deanna Durbin became a star despite a short budgeted picture because the public instantly responded to her youthful charm, her personality, and her voice. The same with Shirley Temple. The same with Sonja Henie. No amount of publicity could have sold them to the public if the public wasn't prepared to accept them.

The fate of young Nancy Kelly will be known a week after "Jesse James" is released generally. The theater manager in Grand Rapids, Mich., will have the answer as soon as the manager of the Roxy, in New York, or the 6,000 seat Fox theater in Detroit. He'll learn the answer from the movie patrons as they walk out of his house. They'll either turn thumbs up or down. They'll either like her or dislike her, or, perhaps, they'll withhold an answer until they see her in a few more pictures.

Pupils' Whims and Tempers to Be Studied

Thirty-five children, 2 to 5 years old, who report for school Monday, will be able to have few temper tantrums or even food whims, that are not recorded. They won't be aware, however, that they are to be laboratory specimens.

The children will see a new name over the door, the University of Chicago Nursery school, 5740 Woodlawn avenue. Formerly the University Coöperative Nursery school, where faculty wives and others brought their children and often stayed to help the staf to reduce tuition charges, the school now will be administered by the university and partly subsidized by the university.

In turn the university will use the nursery school even more than heretofore as a laboratory for students. Students in clinical psychology, beginning courses in child psychology, nutrition and health, and education can go ahead and observe to their hearts' content, under the watchful eyes of full time staf teachers who will see to it that the children's education isn't interfered with.

The teachers themselves will be busy working under psychologists and psychiatrists of the university doing what is described in the school's folder under "Psychological Guidance."

"The teachers," it says, "wrestle with problems of timidity, specific fears, misapplied aggressiveness, stuttering, destructiveness, thumbsucking, flightiness, negativism, dawdling, food-rejection, and too great dependence. . . . Detailed records are kept of each child's reactions to the various features of the guidance program."

"We have a very talented group of youngsters, children from unusually intelligent parents," said Dr. Helen L. Koch, associate professor of child psychology and coördinator of the school. "They are good at outwitting us, but we manage to make children eat who haven't ever really eaten before, and we can get them to sleep when they haven't ever slept properly before."

Although they have fewer behavior problems than other groups of children, as a whole they have more of the unsocial problems which result from the care of overzealous or overanxious mothers. The educator usually finds its simpler to guide a too aggressive child than a timid one, said Dr. Koch, but in each case no single rule is used.

They try to find out what makes little dictators that way, and they try to learn what in the background of a timid child makes him retiring. Not all of it, Dr. Koch said, can be explained by environment.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

You'd be surprised at how much dither the beauty specialists are making about the beautification of ears these days. It's the up hairdress that's responsible, of course. An able prophet in our department is taking bets that within a few weeks a box labeled "ear treatment set" will land on our desk!

At any rate, this is the technique to follow if you want your ears to look like pearly-pink shells: Soap and water, for the good scrubbing. But you mustn't stop there. Very delicately, with a pad saturated in skin tonic, you're supposed to cream them, using a lubricating cream to make the skin soft. Then, you use astringent to remove the last vestiges of the shiny cream and prevent any greasy look.

As a final touch you must rouge the lobes very deftly and lightly until they have a soft, rosy flush! A breath of perfume and you're all set, literally groomed to the ears.

The high hairdress and the strapless evening gown are natural companion pieces. And the very low cut gown, like the radically different hairdress, has presented some new beauty problems. But they're problems with which the salons can cope. There are now specialized treatments to improve the skin texture and the contour of neck and shoulders. And exercise has a new importance, especially supervised exercises designed particularly to improve the bustline.

The woman with a scrawny neck and flat bust finds the more dramatic gowns much too trying. She couldn't make a better investment than to undergo a corrective exercise course.

SYNOPSIS.

David Beddoes, young American, accompanies his cousin, Alison, to a party at Lady Wibbe's. By mistake they go to the house next door. While they are talking to the spinsterish woman who receives them they hear a woman scream and a body fall. The spinster explains it is a parrot. But 13 year old Penelope Wibbe says their strange neighbors have no parrot. While in the house David had seen a favorite book of his former love, Betsy Greentree, with her initials in it. Betsy's father died after losing his money. While traveling in Europe with her aunt, Fanny Rush, Betsy met and married an Englishman, Geoffrey Scarpath. David breakfasts next morning with Alison and her friend, Dr. Colin Ladbroke. Penelope calls to tell them their neighbors have acquired a parrot. David learns from the proprietor of an animal shop that a parrot had been sold that morning to Geoffrey Scarpath. David returns to watch the house and sees the parrot and a doctor paying a visit to the house. He sends a letter to Betsy at the address. A few days later David and Alison run into Scarpath at the American club, where he calls to deliver a letter to David. He tells them Betsy is suffering from a chronic nervous condition and can have no visitors; that she is being taken care of by his sister. David decides to try to see Betsy while her husband is absent at a sports meet.

INSTALMENT XII.

A SUCCESSFUL RUSE.

Next morning, at a safe distance, David watched for the event which presently happened. At eleven o'clock the gates of the Scarpath house sagged inward on their rusted hinges and Miss Scarpath edged through, to hurry with tripping steps and bent head round the curve of the road. He let her disappear, then with confident swagger made his approach.

His sole props consisted of an aged, crumpled raincoat mercifully not discarded, a soiled muffler worn high, and a stained and shabby hat secured just now in some slum region called Kentish Town, but as extra precaution he had omitted to shave. A jangle at the bell, shambling footfalls within, and now the old turtle, dingier by daylight, blinking at him inquiringly. No sign of recognition, but danger lurked in his American accent. Speech must be brief.

"Telephone," jerked the impostor, fag trailing from his lips. "Defect on the line. Where's your instrument?"

"Just 'ere," bleated the dodderer, and stood aside.

In full view stood the telephone, the old fashioned kind, upright on a cheap table. Lounging to cover it, David compressed the hook, lifted the receiver, and began an absorbed, conversational patter.

"All clear, sweetheart? Making a test. . . . See if you can ring me. . . ."

Maybe, for England, the sweetheart was a mistake, but the butler, thank God, had shuffled through to the rear—leaving the communicating door open, but one couldn't expect everything. Quick! Like lightning David reached the front door, banged it loudly, and while the chandelier still tinkled took the stairs three at a time. He ran a rapid eye along the uncarpeted upper landing, selected the last door on the right, and, turning the knob, whispered through the crack.

"Elizabeth! It's me—David Beddoes!"

There came a queer, choked gasp. Heart hammering, he stood within a room, large, warm, but shabbily dismal, gaze fixed on the small figure arrested midway the threadbare carpet. Emaciated, chalk-white to the roots of the dark, trimly waved hair—yes, it was the girl he had known, or rather what was left of her, for the alteration stunned.

"Betsy," he panted, backed against the closed door, and swallowed a dry lump.

He might have been a ghost. Clutching her little pale blue bed jacket over her childish breast, she stood with her mouth rounded in an O and her eyes so black their true color had vanished. Suddenly she sobbed, "David! You!" and made for him in a wavering rush. Her hands, thin to transparency, just grazed his coat sleeves, and then—she crumpled, sliding down in a heap at his feet.

Gathering her into his arms David felt all the pathos of that rush with its ignominious ending. At the same time he was sandbagged by the conviction that in essentials, at least, Scarpath had not lied.

Next moment, seeing her agony of mortification, he was treating the tumble as a joke, while she, face hidden against his collar, laughed with a catch of hysteria. Holding her close he felt her whole feather-light body trembling with emotion. It crossed his mind that already he had come upon two evidences of the dread complaint.

"How silly!" She was battling for control. "I . . . I do that sometimes. Put . . . put me down . . ."

He deposited her on the edge of the wide, ugly bed and sat down beside her, his brown eyes burning into her violet ones. Thus for long seconds they eyed one another, while a tinge of rose found its way into her cheeks.

"You!" she whispered. "I just can't believe it. Where did you spring from, David? How did you manage to get in here?"

"At the moment," said he, "I'm giving my best imitation of a telephone lineman. Hold on, though! How long is your sister-in-law usually out?"

"Evie?" Her eyes widened. "Who told you about her?"

"Quick; answer me!"

"O, a good hour—and she won't come up till she's cooked lunch."

"You never knew I was in town?" he demanded, to make sure.

"Me? How could I? Did some one you met tell you where I was?"

"You know Alison Young, my first cousin Well, she and I blundered into your house last Saturday night—by mistake."

"You and Alison! O, David, I heard you!" She was trembling anew with painful excitement. "I rushed out, but . . ."

She stopped with a gulp.

"Go on," she begged. "What happened?"

"O, we just cleared out! It was a book I'd seen, with your initials in it, and Cannes. A Katherine Mansfield. You remember? Well, drawing a long bow, I wrote you, five days ago."

"O! David, I never got it. This is . . . funny . . . I wonder? Never mind, they think they're doing right. Did . . ." She hesitated. "Did Geoffrey, my husband, answer it for me?"

"Correct. I ran into him as he was dropping the note at the American club. Alison and I met him."

She whispered mechanically, "I suppose he told you about—me. Everything?"

"He said you were ill. Not allowed visitors."

"Yes. Did he mention what was wrong with me?"

He tried to hedge, but too late. She had read his expression.

"Of course he did." A long, anguished pause, while the small hands gripped together. "Well, my dear, it's true."

"Look, Elizabeth," he blurted out, "I had to find out the truth about you. That's why I took this underground way. For one thing, I want to know if you've had more than one medical opinion."

"O, yes, there have been quite three doctors!" She sounded fatalistically calm. "And this one, it appears, is the last word for what I've got. You see, it began over a year ago, at Geoffrey's place down in Hampshire. I fell, on the golf links—put my foot in a rabbit hole. The sprain went on getting worse. We had the local doctor, then one from Southampton. They didn't help, either of them—and soon, well, other things started happening."

"What things?"

"My . . . my eyes. Some days I couldn't see across the room. They still get like that, and then they're all right again. Next, my hand—this one." She held out her right hand, looking at it as at some alien object. "All numb and cold. I can't, at times, hold anything with my fingers. I believed it was rheumatism. David, that house was so damp, especially after being used all my life to central heat. And the rain! All winter it never left off. So I just stayed in."

"Till . . . ?" he prompted, watching her with absorption.

"Till Geoffrey suddenly decided there was more wrong than we knew. He made a lot of inquiries and got down a . . . a nerve specialist."

"So Doctor Broderick came down. Then what?"

"His time was too valuable to keep on making the trip to Hampshire, so there was nothing for it but to cart me to London. That must be about two months ago—but it might be two years! You see, I don't know anybody, David—and if I did, I wouldn't be allowed to see them. All day, all night, with this ghastly wall paper! And what difference can it make if I'm going to die anyway?"

There's Week for Everything; Why Not You?

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

We are interested in reports from the growing number of women who are utilizing week-ends to catch up on themselves. Or, to get ahead of themselves, as one reported recently. She had gone to a milk farm for a three day stay, not to reduce, she said, but to get herself in the frame of mind to reduce. She did take off four pounds as a matter of fact. That was getting ahead of herself.

"I figured if I stayed around home and smelled the food cooking it would be all off with me. Too, I wouldn't have given myself the facials I've been needing. Also, I went after my hair as I had been wanting to with the new brush I was persuaded to buy recently by a friend who works with a fine hairbrush manufacturing outfit!"

Well, it's fun if you can afford to run off for a few days and get yourself started on a beauty care plan. There's good psychology in getting away where you have to pay for your stay. You will want your money's worth. The milk farms are growing in popularity and they are excellent mediums.

If, however, they are not available, either geographically or financially, you can have a little week of your own. It seems to us that everything nowadays is being commemorated in "Weeks"—"Better Foot Care Week," "Better Babies Week," "Better Parks Week," etc. Why not "Better Jane Doe Week?" You be Jane Doe. It is amazing what a week of concentrated care of self will do. A week in which first you go after yourself from head to foot deciding what approach to make. Extra attention to your figure? Extra attention to your skin? Your hair? Your hands?

All of the hours in the week necessarily are not given up to your beauty improving plan. But, during the week, you commit yourself to do those extra things for yourself that you've been meaning to get around to. There's a mental tonic in this. So the best time to plan your week is when you are feeling low or bored or discouraged or self-pitying.

During your personal week suppose, too, you commit yourself to read that good book on the shelf that you haven't gotten around to. Write a couple of those letters you've been putting off. Go on and make that call you've been promising to make. Telephone if you can't make the personal call.

In other words, wake up and live a good full week of intentions finally carried out, and see if you aren't establishing a more fruitful winter program for yourself.

I don't often sing the praises of cooking appliances, because I see so many of them, good, bad and indifferent, that I've become quite finicky about their merits. An appliance must, first of all, be of genuine, practical, everyday use to interest me at all. Next, it must be of simple construction and easy to operate. Third, its price must be reasonable.

A new table broiler fits all these requirements. I've had mine only a couple of weeks, but it grows steadily more valuable to me. The utensil consists of a sizzling steak platter with a domelike top which houses the electric unit that does the broiling The broiler is handsome enough to put on a company table, and when the steak has cooked, will keep it sizzling until every bit of it has been transferred to the dinner plates.

There's this advantage, too. If in your family there are advocates of rare, medium and well done steak, you can please them all with the greatest of ease. Carve off a portion, after 8 or 10 minutes, for the rare steak lover, put down the cover, and broil several minutes longer for one who loves medium well done steak and, after carving another piece at this stage, let the steak cook well done for him who likes it that way. It's so much simpler than oven broiling, and the steak is always pipingly, juicily hot.

Of course, if you don't want to leave the cover on the broiler, you may slide it off, and serve the steak on the hot platter on which it was cooked. The cover serves to hold it at sizzling until you're ready for it, however, and certainly is no disfigurement to a table. It's handsomely hammered from aluminum.

I'm planning to buy several more of these broilers to use as gifts, for I can't think of anything which would be more welcome to a homemaker at Christmas time. At least two of the large downtown stores carry them in their household departments. I'll be glad to give any one interested the name of the broiler and the name of the stores which now carry it.

All Public School Pupils to Get Eye and Ear Tests

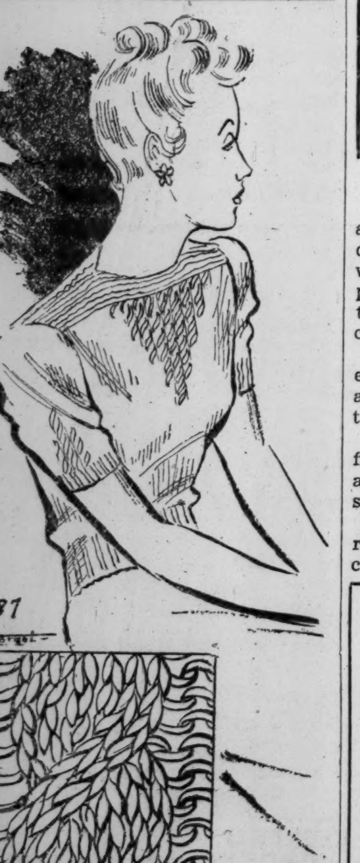
Angora Wool Is Favored for This Knitted Blouse



BY JEAN MACDONALD.

Fine angora wool is an all year 'round favorite for hand knitted blouses. The extra light weight two ply yarn is not frightfully expensive and works up effectively and quickly. Ribbing at the waistline is followed by the stockinette stitch in the body of the sweater. The small graduated cable stitch in front and back is the only trimming. The boat neck is finished straight across with an inch wide band of garter stitch worked just across the cables. Instructions for the sweater are available in sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement.

For instructions for knitting the sweater with the small cable trimming, No. X-87, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 20 5th avenue, New York City.

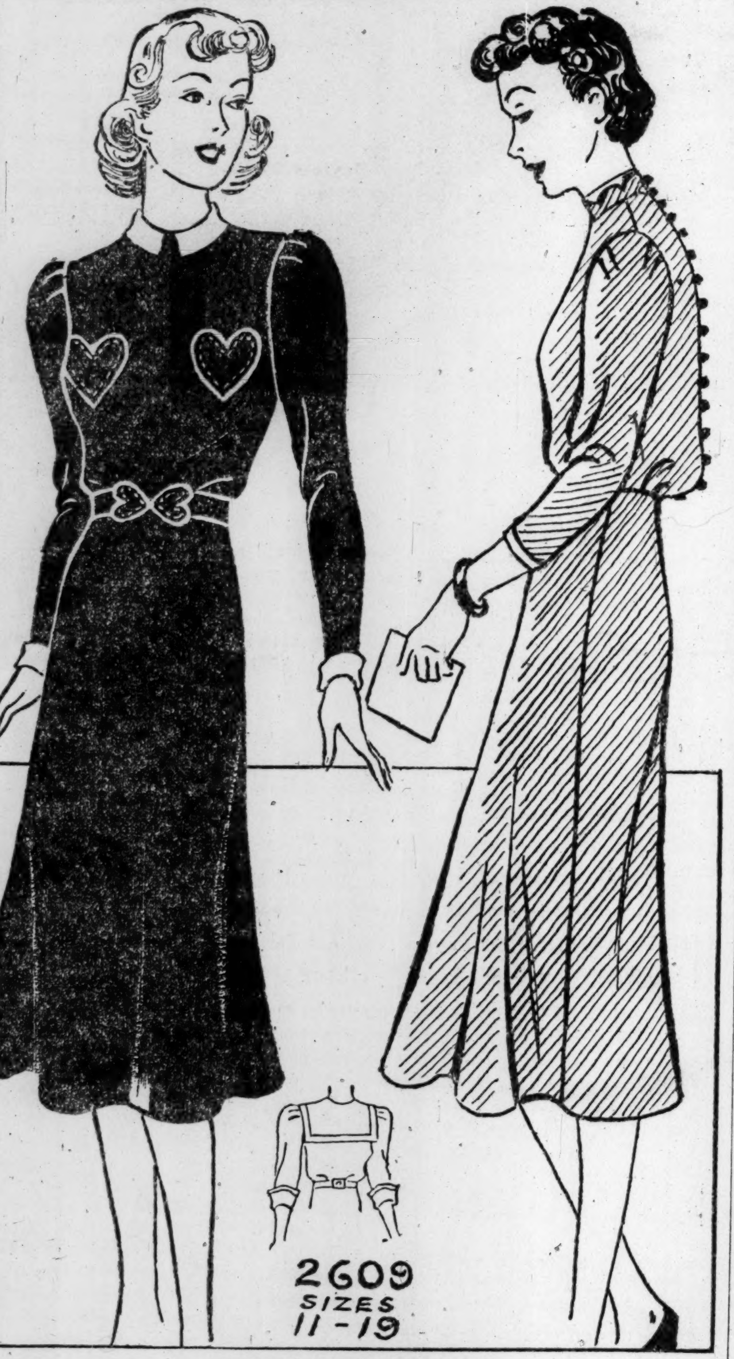
Designed for Junior Miss



FROCK IN JUNIOR SIZES.

It is generally accepted that one has to be young to wear a dress with a high neckline that is buttoned down the back. The rather plump shoulderline of middle age prohibits the wearing of this trying style. That's why we've designed this frock in sizes for the junior figure. If, of course, you're past the junior age and still find that your throatline is above reproach, there's no reason in the world why you cannot wear this frock with successful results!

Because this dress is styled primarily for young women, we've added an extra fillip that is decidedly on the girlish side. We mean the heart pockets and the heart motif on the belt. Aside from these touches, there is no trimming on the frock, except for the contrasting collar, if you wish one.

All the silks and soft woolens make up well in this model, which is fitted in the bodice, snug in the hips, and flared below the knees. Sleeves are squared shoulder high and gradually become slender until they fit snugly at the wrists.

Style No. 2609 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years. Size 15 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material, with one-quarter yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Look for Cause Behind Child's Air of Shyness

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

We have rather recently talked in the column about ways of dealing with shyness, particularly in our younger children. Most of these suggestions have concerned surface behavior and treatment. But with these children and frequently with older boys or girls shyness may have an underlying cause.

These are some of the possibilities worth your careful consideration in preventing shyness: giving your children opportunities to meet people; giving them interests outside themselves; not keeping them too much in the social background but introducing them simply to visitors; and keeping people's conversation off the child himself, but showing interest in his doings and his own interests—that is, not personalizing.

As to causes:

[a A child may become shy because of failure at school that is taken too seriously by his family or by himself.

[b] He may be made shy by a feeling of inadequacy resulting from being constantly criticized and found fault with at home.

[c] And many a shy child is one who has been less favored than the other children by his father and mother.

[d] Being controled through fear or by too severe discipline often makes a child shrinking and unsure of himself in meeting new people.

[e] Or he may be so restricted, so repressed in every way, that he is incapable of meeting new grown-ups or even children spontaneously.

Of course, common sense dictates the cure in each of these cases, which is: remove the cause! In each instance when the child is treated companionably, intelligently and lovingly, the inhibitions, self-consciousness and inferiority melt away, and with these the shyness, though it all takes time and faith.

Of course, to prevent difficulties is the ideal way. But if shyness hasn't been prevented, if it has already developed in your child, then bend every effort to its cure. The shy child or the shy grown-up seldom talks about his troubles, but he suffers intensely from them just the same. So help your child all you can to release him from the bondage of shyness.

Dr. George Gibson Takes Pastorate in Hyde Park

The Rev. Dr. George M. Gibson, formerly of Webster Groves, Mo., a St. Louis suburb, arrived in Chicago yesterday to begin his pastorate at Hyde Park United church, Blackstone avenue and 53d street. He succeeds the Rev. Dr. Douglas Horton, who resigned last spring to become general secretary of the Congregational Christian denomination. The Hyde Park United church was formed out of the union of Presbyterian and Congregational congregations.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

Almost every modern bridge player knows the main feature of the 4-5 no trump convention; that it is based on two aces and the king of a bid suit, or three aces, and that the responder must bid five no trump if he holds two aces, or one ace and the kings of all bid suits. There is another valuable use for the convention, however, which I fear is not so well known. That is to show the possession of 150 aces.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

SOUTH

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 no trump	Pass	5 spades	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	7 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

If the North-South partnership did not have at its command a convention that locates all four of the aces, the laydown grand slam contract would be unbiddable. Note the utter logic of the bidding when South uses the 4-5 no trump convention. The opening spade bid is obvious. North might respond with two diamonds instead of three spades, but the latter bid is better on two important counts: First, a double raise in spades virtually shuts out East, and this is something that should appeal to North, since he has very little defense against hearts or clubs. Secondly, a three spade bid smoothes the path for South to come in with four no trump if he has the values for it. Since there is nothing wrong with a three spade bid, and since it conforms beautifully to the requirements for this strong raise [good trump support and at least two honor tricks with a singleton], it must, by the process of elimination, be the right response.

Now let us return to South. After North's strong raise, South, with all four aces, must turn his thoughts to a slam. Naturally, he cannot be sure of taking thirteen tricks merely because he knows North has good spade support and outside strength. Hence, the best thing he can do is to present an accurate picture of his holding to North and let the latter make the final decision. To that end he initiates the 4-5 no trump convention, knowing that North will have to sign off [since he cannot have an ace], but intending to bid five no trump over North's response. This, then, is the meaning of the five no trump bid when immediately proceeded by four no trump from the same player. It shows 150 aces. No other combination of cards justifies this sequence of bids. Note how easy this information makes North's next bid. He can immediately count six diamond tricks and at least four natural spade tricks. South has also the aces of hearts and clubs and surely will be able to ruff a heart in North's hand. Thus, even if South holds only a four card spade suit, the thirteen tricks will still be there.

South, despite his four aces, cannot begin to make the right decision. It is only North who can do this after finding out about the aces.

The Housewife

It's a pretty dull table that won't respond and blossom like the flowers in the spring when you spread over it one of the charming colored linen cloths we saw the other day. In a soft rose, with napkins to match, all the pieces having hemstitched borders, this set is certainly most attractive.

Perhaps you like to have the mahogany or walnut of your table showing. If so, you'll choose the place mats and napkins in the seventeen piece set of the same linen. The colors available are a lovely gray, rose, red, burgundy, turquoise, blue, brown or golden yellow. And you'll be amazed at the reasonable price. All this linen was made in Czechoslovakia.

Seven Deaf Girls Become Members of Girl Scouts

Seven deaf girls, pupils of the Alexander Graham Bell school, Grace street and Oakley avenue, have joined the Girl Scouts. They are members of Troop eight, which meets in the Paul Revere park fieldhouse. The seven are studying for their second class Scout tests, which include signaling, nature work, sketch mapping, health routine, and knot tying. They are expected to form the nucleus of the first deaf Scout troop in the city.

house a group of young people will have luncheon as the guests of the Howard Linns at a party they will give for Debutantes Adelaide Taylor and Alice Wyeth.

A number of those attending the hunter trials will stop in Lake Forest en route to or back from Millburn to see the dogs in the show the Northbrook Kennel club is holding in the riding hall at the Onwentsia club. The show will open at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and continue until 8 in the evening.

The Conway H. Olmsteds have entered four English bulldogs. Mrs. Olmsted's brother, Hulburd Johnston, will show five dachshunds. The Stuyvesant Peabodys have entered miniature Manchester terriers; the Orrin H. Bakers will show their Kerry blue terriers, and the Owen Wests will show a dachshund and a Dobermann. The youngest exhibitor will be Suzanne Storey, daughter of the S. William Storeys of Kenilworth, who will show a black French poodle.

Hull House Takes Over Eli Bates Shop.

The Eli Bates shop will henceforth be known as the Hull House shop, for the larger settlement is taking over the little shop in East Delaware place today. The same women who have managed it heretofore will continue to run it with Mrs. William McCormick Blair as chairman and Mrs. Laurence B. Robbins as vice chairman.

Due to the last minute interest in Mrs. James W. Thorne's thirty minature rooms now on view at the Art institute, the exhibition will be open through tomorrow instead of being closed today, as announced previously. On Monday the rooms will be dismantled and packed to be shipped to San Francisco, where they will be displayed at the Golden Gate exposition.

The new Pump room of the Ambassador East will not be opened to the public until tomorrow, but tonight it will be the scene of a gay party when the board of managers of the North Avenue Day nursery gives its annual benefit super-dance. The party is scheduled to start at 10:30 o'clock and no doubt the orchestra will be there at that time, but probably there will be few dancers before midnight because of the dozens of dinner parties that are being given elsewhere.

Several Other Dancing Parties Tonight.

There are several other dancing parties tonight. The junior board of the Convalescent Home for Women and Children is giving a swing ball at the Palmer house, and Circle 27 of the Oak Park center of the Infant Welfare society is giving a babies ball at the Oak Park Country club.

The party at the Palmer house is to be a dinner-dance, starting at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Gilbert Healy is general chairman of the party, with Mrs. James Hyland as co-chairman. Mrs. Kane Cavanaugh is president of the board. Mrs. John Church, Mrs. Hyland, and Miss Jeanne Everett are giving cocktail parties before the benefit.

The party in Oak Park is one of the most popular of the year in western suburbs. Essentially a "young" party, prices are kept reasonable. Mrs. Vinton Jarratt is chairman. The Herbert Nyes and a number of others are giving dinner or cocktail parties before the dance.

Wool Evening Long Coats Are a Fine Surprise

BY RHEA SEEGER.

There's more to fashion than capricious whimsies, senseless changes, or even sky high luxury stuff. Prepare for a good surprise if you have harbored such thoughts. See the new wool evening long coats tagged with prices that are extremely easy on the slimmest clothes budget. While they sound more practical than a velvet they look just as sleek, every bit as distinctive as the more spectacular glories in brocades, velvets and heavy satins.

Made to reveal a well groomed streamline, with long sleeves simply squared into outline, lined with a slick rustling taffeta, they're real finds! The colors that are exceptionally interesting are two, one a dull old gold, the other a wine red. Both are lined with harmonizing taffeta, both are untrimmed, depending upon the smart simplicity and the soft wool texture and fine lines for eye appeal. Black affairs, in the same sort of wool, are also exceptional buys, for you can easily wear them on gala occasions with a fur scarf, a muffler or ascot of fur lamé or contrast velvet, or with one of the new high fashion huge muffs of either fur or fabric!

For more money, but at a price that almost takes your breath away, you can buy a white wool beauty trimmed with a stunning cutout applique of glittering gold kidskin down the front to the waistline and on the stand-up collar. Other colors can be ordered if the white number isn't just exactly what you desire. Velvet evening wraps bloom anew every fall; the youngest model we've shopped is the princess line coat, made with a military flavor. It has shiny narrow military braid around the cuffs, the collar and at the front around the revers. All of these new long coats are modestly priced and so smoothly fashioned that they'll easily perform for the next four seasons with average care.

BAUERS SAVES PIRATES FROM DOUBLE DEFEAT

Beats Reds in 2d of Two Games.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Russ Bauers rescued his Pittsburgh mates from the very precipice of elimination in the National league pennant race today with a four hit performance that gave the Pirates a split in the double-header with the Reds.

All but dropped out of the race as Paul Derringer beat them, 7 to 1, with a five hit job in the opener, the Pirates came back to retain their flickering hopes behind Bauer's hitting and pitching to score their first victory in five games, 4 to 2. The timely victory left the Pirates one and one-half games behind the Cubs, who tied with the Cards.

Reds Pound Three Pitchers.

In the opener Derringer and his mates pounded three Pirate pitchers, Jim Tobin, Bill Swift, and Mace Brown.

But Bauers, helping his own cause with a triple and a double, provided the oxygen tent for a dying baseball cause. So superb was he that he turned back 15 men in a row from the third through the seventh inning. After the Reds had scored a run off him in the second on a pair of singles and a fielder's choice, Bauers mowed them down until the eighth, when Harry Craft singled and scored as Nolan Richardson's drive caromed off Lee Handley's glove for a scratch hit. Outside of that, Bauers was complete master.

Traynor Won't Give Up Hope.

Manager Pi Traynor refused to give up despite the split.

"We're not licked until, well, maybe tomorrow at the earliest," he said, "and maybe then the situation will turn. We've won two games in a row and the Cubs have lost two in a row before—unless my memory is bad."

Notre Dame Opens Against Strong Kansas Eleven Today

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 30.—Notre Dame begins its fifty-first football season tomorrow against the University of Kansas. Success and Notre Dame have been synonymous in the last two decades. Tomorrow 45,000 fans, the largest opening day crowd in the school's history, hopes to learn whether the next half century will open as auspiciously as the last closed. The chief concern of Notre Dame partisans and Elmer Layden, the school's nineteenth coach, is the reaction of untried players in major competition.

Twenty-one of the thirty-three positions on the first three teams now are manned by men without appreciable varsity experience. Six of the men are sophomores.

Squad's Progress Satisfactory.

Layden and his assistants have been impressed with the progress of their large squad in pre-season practice. It has passed every examination and met every requirement. What its reaction will be in competition remains to be learned.

Kansas comes to Notre Dame fresh from an impressive victory over Texas last week. Its star is a sophomore, Ralph Miller of Chanute, Kas., who is regarded as the outstanding all round athlete developed in Kansas in the last twenty years.

Miller is surrounded by twenty of the twenty-six men who earned letters and held Nebraska to a 13 to 13 tie last year.

Eight Letter Men in Lineup.

Eight of the ten returning Notre Dame letter men were assigned places in the starting lineup after today's light workout. The three other starters, Quarter Back Steve Sitko, Right Guard August Bossu, and Right End John Kelly, are classified as new men, although Sitko and Kelly have been on the varsity squad one year and Bossu two.

Sitko faces the most difficult assignment. He replaces Notre Dame's All-America quarter back, Andy Puplis, who led the All-Stars to victory over the Washington Redskins a month ago. Six feet, 187 pounds, and a junior, Sitko was a member of the third team last fall.

Line Is the Real Problem.

Next to determing Notre Dame's strength as a unit, the 45,000 home town jurors will be interested in Saggau, 6 feet and 185 pounds of football dynamite, according to the experts in oases and smoke shops.

After appraising the backs, of which Notre Dame always is expected to have an abundance, it is evident that the real answer to the 1938 season lies in the line where Pat McCarty, Joe Ruetz, and Joe Kuharich were lost out of the middle through graduation. Add to their absence the injury which will keep Chuck Riffle from competing this year, and you have the major problem facing the coaches. Riffle was counted upon to be the regular right guard. Shifted up from full back, he quickly cinched the job then suffered the fracture of a small bone in the leg.

Northwestern opens its 1938 football season against a veteran Kansas State team at Dyche stadium today in a game which will show whether the Wildcats have succeeded in replacing Don Heap, Fred Vanzo, and John Kovatch, key members of Northwestern teams since Lynn Waldorf became coach in 1935.

A crowd of 35,000 including 10,000 Boy Scouts will see the first game ever played between the two schools. The contest is not without its sentimental side, as Waldorf was coach at Kansas State in 1934, the year before he came to Northwestern. nI that one year Waldorf led the Kansans to their first and only Big Six championship.

The two teams have more in common than the mutual relationship with Coach Waldorf. Each team is nicknamed the Wildcats and both have the same colors, purple and white. Furthermore, Wes Fry, Kansas State coach, was Waldorf's assistant during the latter's one year at the Manhattan, Kas., school.

Kansas Has Veteran Team.

Kansas State is in a position to provide stubborn competition for the Wildcats. With fifteen letter men, ten of whom will be in the starting lineup, the young men from Manhattan have both power and experience. The visitors boast a pair of line smashing fullbacks in Bob Briggs and Elmer [One Man Gang] Hackney, the latter a 205 pounder who holds the national intercollegiate shot put title.

The Kansas line, averaging 190 pounds, is fortified with veterans except at right guard where Bernie Weiner, 200 pound sophomore, will start. Spearhead of the forward wall is Capt. Ken Nordstrom, reputed to be the best center in the Big Six.

Northwestern also will start a veteran team. The lone sophomore slated for a starting rôle is Dick Richards, whose speed and agility have given him the call at quarter back over Nick Conteas, a letter man. The biggest question mark is at left half where Jack Ryan, a fine passer and ball carrier, will attempt to carry on in place of Don Heap. A pair of sophomores, Red Hahnenstein and Paul Soper, also will be given a trial at the position. Bernie Jefferson, a senior, is a fixture at right half.

Three Seek Full Back Post.

The game is expected to determine who is to be Northwestern's regular full back. George McGurn and Jay Laskay, two letter men, and Francis Purtell, a sophomore, are fighting it out for the honor.

Veterans man the Wildcat line. Capt. Cleo Diehl and Ted Grefe will start at end, the latter getting the call when an ankle injury forced Tom Eby, a senior, to the side lines. Bob Voigts and Nick Cutlich, last year's regular tackles, are back and Don Guritz and Hal Method, two more letter men, are at guard. John Haman, who edged into the regular center position as a sophomore last year, is firmly intrenched at that spot this season.

Syracuse Eleven Beats Clarkson in Opener, 27-0

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Syracuse university's football team made its 1938 debut tonight with a crushing 27 to 0 victory over the Clarkson Tech Engineers. Clarkson threatened to score only once.

Two Runs for Our Cubs—and All in Vain!

Michigan Eleven Seeks to End Michigan State's Domination

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 30.—Hitler can have Sudetenland for all they care over here, as long as Crisler gets Michigan. Before night comes down on Ann Arbor tomorrow the world will know whether Michigan or Michigan State will rule this valuable strip of football terrain for the next twelve months.

For the last four years the gridiron forces from Michigan State have been in power. There is some doubt whether they can maintain their position in the face of the attack they will encounter tomorrow afternoon. At any rate, interest is running so high that the greatest crowd of the 1938 season is expected to attend the battle.

Crisler Makes His Bow.

Fielding H. Yost said today that the stadium's capacity of 87,000 will be taxed. More than 75,000 tickets already have been sold. Eleven thousand were disposed of on the day of the game when State invaded Ann Arbor a year ago. More than 20,000

47th Chicago Football Team Faces Bradley

The University of Chicago's forty-seventh football team, which is described hopefully but cautiously as better potentially than last year, will open its season today on Stagg field against Bradley Tech of Peoria, champion of the Illinois conference. A crowd of 20,000, of whom 15,000 will be youngsters with free tickets, will watch the Maroons' debut.

Even the most hopeful among those who have watched the Maroons practice are not too optimistic about Chicago's performance today. Deployed in front of a competent, all-senior back field will be six sophomores and one veteran. All of the linemen's understudies are sophomores. These newcomers are fairly rugged, and fairly fast, but they are very green.

Veteran Bradley Team.

Coach A. J. Robertson of Bradley will bring a veteran team, including fourteen lettermen, which Peorians suspect is the best in Bradley's history. Only one lineman is new. Undefeated in its own league in two years, Bradley last season fought Iowa to a standstill until the closing minutes of its game with the Hawkeyes. Last week Bradley downed St. Louis university. Today the Peorians hope to establish their record with a victory over a Big Ten team.

Key to Bradley's attack is Ted Panish, triple threat left half back, who may be the outstanding player on Stagg field today. Panish is hailed by Tech partisans as the greatest athlete in Bradley's history. Coach Clark Shaughnessy of Chicago, who watched Panish lead his team to victory last week, has assured his own squad that Panish is "the best back we'll face all season."

Husky Maroon Back Field.

Despite Panish, Chicago's back field of Sollie Sherman, Ed Valorz, Morton Goodstein and Capt. Lew Hamity, is probably superior. While none of these is a brilliant star, all are experienced, husky and hard hitting runners and blockers, able on defense, and competent in passing and kicking. Lineups:

HARTNETT OUT OF 2 GAMES IN ST. LOUIS TODAY

Lee Held in Reserve for Emergency.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs, who now has almost as many injured fingers as he has reliable pitchers, was torn between two emotions tonight.

As he got to burning real well about the way Tex Carleton and Larry French gummed up a 6 to 1 lead, he reflected how lucky the Cubs were in the last three innings today when the Cards blew a half dozen chances to win and allowed the game to end a 7 to 7 tie. Mad and glad the fellow was.

Two ties in two weeks have caused Gabby to conclude that Allah must be rooting for the Cubs. In Brooklyn on Sept. 18, in the first game of a double-header, the Cubs suffered their last loss. In the second game that day French blew a 1 to 0 lead and then a 3 to 1 lead. It was agreed that the fifth would be the last inning. The inning started as a 3 to to 3 tie and it ended that way.

A Trying Situation.

The situation was more trying in the ninth today, when the Cubs escaped with a tie after the Cards had the bases full with one out and couldn't score to win. Only a bare hand stop for a forceout at the plate by tired Clay Bryant gave the Cubs the opportunity to play the game over.

As a result of the tie Charley Root, who will pitch the second game tomorrow, may have a chance to clinch the pennant. If Vance Page can beat the Cards in the first game, then Charles can have the honor of pitching and winning the clincher without having to look at the scoreboard to see what the Pirates and Reds have done in Pittsburgh.

The sentimental picture which such a victory by Root would produce is not likely to be complete. If Gabby were able to catch the oldest battery in the majors would do the clinching. But Gabby says he was willing to catch with one sore finger today, but that he does not believe it would serve any purpose to try to catch tomorrow with two sore ones. If the twin injuries throb less tomorrow, he may try to work, however.

If the very worst happens tomorrow—the Cubs lose two and the Pirates win—the Cubs still would have a chance to win the pennant Sunday. But they would have to win and the Pirates would have to lose.

Lee Held in Reserve.

Mr. Hartnett contemplates no such severe strain. His best hope is that the Cubs will win two games tomorrow. Next to that he wants the Cubs to split and the Pirates to lose.

If the Cubs clinch tomorrow, Gabby says, he might allow Carleton or, more likely, Kimball or Epperly, to pitch Sunday's game. If he's faced with having to win Sunday, he'll come back with his ace, Bill Lee, though he'd rather let Bill rest till the world series.

Quoth Dizzy Dean today: "I'm ready and want to pitch the opening game of the world series if Gabby Hartnett will let me. And me and Bill Lee and Clay Bryant are going to take the series by ourselves."

MINNESOTA AIMS FOR REVENGE IN NEBRASKA GAME

Faces Big Six Champions Without Van Every.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 30.—Minnesota and Nebraska, annually two of the big guys of football and currently defending champions in their respective conferences, are not satisfied with the fact that they will have enough trouble on their hands in their own league this season. Tomorrow afternoon they will pick on each other in Memorial stadium in one of the outstanding games of the day, one of such import that 55,000 guests are expected.

The Nebraskans will not feel alone in front of that gathering, for 5,000 Cornhusker fans, the largest football delegation ever to leave the state, will be in the stands. They will be there to cheer a squad of forty-five players, the numerical like of which has never come out of Lincoln.

Two Incentives for Gophers.

For Minnesota there will be a double incentive for victory. The Gophers finished the season with the Big Ten championship last year, but even that prize did not hold sufficient balm to sooth the smarting memory of their early season defeat by Nebraska in Lincoln. That 14 to 9 triumph for Nebraska was its first against Minnesota since 1913.

The other inspiration for Minnesota tonight could be found in a bed in the student health service of the university. That reason is Harold Van Every, the versatile back who was injured during the Gophers' 15 to 0 conquest of Washington last Saturday. Van Every sustained a stomach hurt which has kept him confined since last Sunday. Whether he will be able even to attend the game was doubtful tonight.

Van Every's known ability as a passer, kicker, and runner, not to mention the moral weight of his presence in the lineup, has put a definite crimp in Coach Bernie Bierman's reception plans for Nebraska. Because of Van Every's ailment, 165 pound George Franck of Davenport, Ia., will be given an opportunity at left half. Franck, a high school sprint star who is rated the fastest man on the squad, is a junior making his varsity debut.

Equipped with Brawn.

If Franck starts, Bierman plans to use George Faust at quarter back, Wilbur Moore at right half, and Larry Buhler at full back. Should Franck not come up to expectations, Moore will be shifted to left half and Buhler to right half, with Marty Christiansen in at full.

Moore, who distinguished himself in the Washington game by gaining more than 100 yards, intercepting passes, and recovering fumbles, symbolizes the alertness on which Gopher fans are basing their 1938 hopes. The team is equipped with the usual Minnesota brawn, but is lacking in speed.

The Nebraska squad, champion of the Big Six, worked out at Lincoln this afternoon. The party will arrive in St. Paul tomorrow morning.

2 Handicaps Top Program at Hawthorne

Hawthorne's semi-final stake program of the Chicago racing season will be presented this afternoon. It promises to be a good one. Although all the candidates for the Hawthorne Speed handicap and the Hawthorne handicap have appeared in other stakes in Chicago from time to time this year, the races have attracted two of the largest fields of the season.

A total of fourteen sprinters were placed in the six furlong speed handicap overnight, and an even dozen were named for the mile and a sixteenth race.

The Speed handicap is as open a race as has been presented in Chicago, because of the presence of Leading Article, Mr. Blaze, Mar Le, Shining Heels, Dora May, and Co-Sport in the field.

The Hawthorne handicap presents almost as difficult a puzzle to solve due to the entries of Her Reigh, Cardinalis, Visigoth, Chance Ray, Uneasy, Unselfish, and Sumatra III. Most of these have won stakes recently. Cardinalis captured the Arlington handicap and Her Reigh the Great Western in Washington Park.

The two stakes are the last of their kind to be run in Chicago this season. Next week's program is composed of the Juvenile handicap and the Illinois Owners' handicap.

Morris Vehon's Opera Star took Hawthorne's feature race yesterday, the River Forest purse. Opera Star scored by a nose, with the favorite, Sly Gal, racing up fast to be second. Dixie Girl was third.

Jimmy Ashcroft went into the leadership in the three cornered jocky race at Hawthorne yesterday when he won with Mister Jacko in the fourth race. It was the 22d winner of the meeting for the Arizona apprentice who now rates 17th in the national standings. Earlier in the afternoon Bobby Conley had ridden Toney's Tomboy to victory to go into a tie with Ashcroft and Nunzio Pariso for the lead.

Yesterday's winner of the Hawthorne rating contest was Mrs. J. C. Quinn of 1214 Jarvis street. Mrs. Quinn received the $500 prize after picking six of the first seven winners.

12 WILL START IN FUTURITY AT BELMONT TODAY

New York, Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Twelve of the nation's finest 2 year olds will go to the post in the $80,000 Belmont Futurity tomorrow. The program also will be featured by the $5,000 Jocky Club Gold cup in which three older horses will run against War Admiral.

Among the horses in the Futurity are W. E. Boeing's Forter's Mite; E. R. Bradley's Benefactor and William Woodward's Johnstown. These three each will carry 119 pounds. George D. Widener's Eight Thirty will carry 116 pounds.

In addition to War Admiral, the field in the Gold cup race are Walter M. Jeffords' Jolly Tar; Quick Devil, owned by Wheatley stable and Ogden Phipps' Magic Hour.

Sweet Relief.

With the rest of the world a madhouse,
A shambles of spite and hate;
With the only game they know, murder,
And the leering umpire, Fate.

It's grand to be one of a country
That reads about distant war,
But confines its interest mainly
To the query, "What's the score?"

I Can Write.

I can write of birds
Winging through the sky,
Of trees and farms and herds,
And cloudlets scudding by.

I can write of brooks
Running down the hills,
Of home and harth and books,

What Do You Think?

Been thinking about world affairs quite a bit lately, and I've worked out a few possible outcomes. If the Pirates win half of their remaining games, and the Czechoslovakians hold off the Cubs, Hitler will then have to win only three out of four from Ferebee to put him in the world series; on the other hand, if Chamberlain and Daladier lose to the Pirates, and the Cubs split with Mussolini, then Hitler and Benes will be tie for first place, provided Ferebee whips Green Bay, notwithstanding the Brooklyn Dodgers and Gen. Chiang Kai-chek, of course. —Dick Cody.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Columbus, O., Sept. 30.—Thirty-four football players from Indiana university arrived this morning to find that the 10 to 0 victory the Hoosiers scored here last fall still is considered unfinished business by Ohio State. The teams meet tomorrow in the opening Big Ten game.

No defeat since Andy Pilney led Notre Dame in the charge that whipped the Buckeyes three years ago has so completely possessed the minds of players and their supporters. From the deep-seated feeling that Indiana, after all, is mighty fortunate to be on the Ohio State schedule, has sprung the implication that Bo McMillin, Indiana coach, should have warned the Buckeyes last fall instead of crying over his "pore little boys" until Ohio State commiserated.

A Six Man Backfield?

In guarding against repetition Ohio State is talking down the obvious fact that Indiana, like the Buckeyes, has lost valued veterans. They are discounting McMillin's prediction Ohio State will win.

Then, too, in this suddenly intense rivalry, Indiana credits Ohio State with formal protest against McMillin's so-called five man backfield. That has been discarded, but with the reaction one might expect, McMillin now has promised to show the Buckeyes a six man backfield. This has been considered with a seriousness McMillin may have anticipated. If the Hoosiers can maneuver the Buckeyes into mental confusion the picture will look something like a little boy sticking out his tongue at the neighborhood giant, who isn't at all certain where to start or how.

Expect 70,000.

Seventy thousand, including 27,000 high students, will see this opening game. Before this throng, which undoubtedly will be a record for Indiana this season and with a prospect of a sorely needed share of the gate receipts, the Hoosiers will fight. The final position in the conference race is important, but Indiana also is fighting for athletic equality in the Big Ten.

Actually Ohio State and Indiana are difficult to assay. Each must depend on sophomores for backfield punch. Ohio State will have two sophomores in the backfield lineup, Don Scott and Jim Langhurst, with possibly another, Jim Sexton, replacing Mike Kabealo. Indiana will start Ed Herbert and Cobb Lewis, sophomores. Most replacements for the starting eleven are sophomores.

Buckeyes Have Weight Advantage.

Ohio State will have an advantage in weight, will have superior kicking, and it is likely that Indiana's passers are not as proficient as Scott or Bill Bullock. Indiana's tactics are built around Capt. Paul Graham, full back, who succeeds to the position held last fall by Corby Davis; Frank Petrick, right end, and Bob Haak, left tackle.

Because Ohio State has big, experienced tackles in Carl Kaplanoff and Alex Schoenbaum, the Buckeyes should be stronger defensively. But State's razzle-dazzle, multiple backfield passes may not be effective with sophomore execution in an opening game, and mistakes and fumbles may turn the battle. If Ohio State wins, and the Buckeyes are favored, only an upset can prevent their triumphal march to the top of the conference ladder.

JOHNNY BARBARA WINS A DECISION FROM RAY LYLE

Johnny Barbara won an eight round decision from Ray Lyle of Barberton, O., before 1,147 in White City last night. It was Barbara's ninth triumph in eleven bouts this year. Frankie [Kid] Covelli, New York, 128 pounder, outboxed Lloyd Pine, Akron, O., to win the secondary feature of eight rounds.

Frankie Kainrath, Catholic Youth organization bantamweight, beat Jimmy Mason of Milwaukee in four rounds. It was the former Golden Glove champion's fourth straight professional victory. Eddie Dempsey, this year's Golden Glove featherweight title holder, scored a disputed decision in four rounds over Sammy Sullivan.

SOX TRIUMPH, 7-5, FOR LYONS; THEN TIE BROWNS, 3-3

Darkness Cuts Second Game Short.

The White Sox won from the Browns, 7 to 5, behind Teddy Lyons in the first game of a double-header yesterday and then had to be content with a 3 to 3 tie in the second because of Umpire Lou Kolls' fear that some one would get hurt out there in the darkness of Comiskey park. Kolls called the second game because of darkness after eight innings.

Lyons won in the opener chiefly because his mates bunched their hits in two innings, the second and the eighth, to score six of their seven runs. It was Lyons' ninth victory.

Sox Outhit Again.

The second contest was a hurling duel between Jack Knott of the Sox and Harry Kimberlin. Once again the Sox were outhit, this time twelve to eight, but Knott had it when the going was tough.

Today and Sunday the same teams meet in double-headers. Johnny Whitehead and Harry Boyles for the Sox and Russell Van Atta and Jim Walkup for the Browns will pitch today.

FIRST GAME

The Sox took the lead in the first game with a run in the first inning and three more in the second, but the Browns came back with three in the third and they took over a 5 to 4 lead with two more runs in the fifth. The first Sox run was the result of Gryska's error on Meyer's roller, a stolen base, an infield out, and Radcliff's infield hit. The three in the second came about on a single by Rosenthal, a double by Tresh, Lyon's fielder's choice on which Rosenthal was safe at the plate, Meyer's single, and Hughes' error on Owen's roller.

Hughes singled to open the Brown's third. Trotter walked and Almada beat out an infield hit to fill the bases. Steinbacher then dropped McQuinn's fly ball which, combined with a fielder's choice and Grace's single, scored three runs.

Browns Tie Score.

The Browns tied it in the fifth on singles by McQuinn and Mazzera and Gryska, but the Sox came back in the eighth to reclaim the lead on Owen's triple, Steinbacher's single, which scored Owen, Radcliff's sacrifice, a fielder's choice, which put two men on base when Steinbacher beat the throw at second base, Connor's sacrifice, and Appling's double, the latter hit driving two runs across and making the score 7 to 5 for the Sox.

SECOND GAME

In the second game the Sox had a 3 to 0 lead at the end of the third inning. A pass to Meyer, Berger's double, and a pass to Steinbacher loaded the bases in the first inning and Meyer scored when Radcliff hit into a double play. In the third, Connors unleashed his sixth homer of the year to score Radcliff.

The first two batters to face Knott hit singles but he retired the side without any scoring. He got by the next three innings rather easily, but the Browns reared up and made two runs in the fifth on singles by Harshany, Hughes, and B. Mills.

The Browns tied it up in the eighth when Bell singled and Grace forced him at second. Kress, batting for Gryska, singled Grace to second, whence he scored on McQuillan's hit.

Cardinals Tie Cubs, 7-7; Play 2 Games Today

Hal Epps batted for Curt Davis and slammed one which Bryant knocked down. Clay recovered the ball in time to force Owen at the plate with a fast throw to O'Dea.

Foul Ends Game.

Joe Medwick, who returned to the lineup today for the first time since he was injured in Chicago a week ago, came up. He had a record of two productive doubles and two walks. Joe ended the game with a foul to Collins.

Carleton started the game and went into the fifth with a 6 to 2 lead, the Cub collection including a homer by Gabby Hartnett off Lon Warneke. Tex, who had been on the brink throughout, loaded the bases with none out and French was brought in to pitch to Johnny Mize. Mize tripled for three runs but was held on third for three outs to prevent a tie.

In the sixth the Cubs increased their lead to 7 to 5, but the Cards scored in their half. The Cub run in this inning seemed to exhaust their fire and it was just a question of trying to make the one run lead stand up.

Bryant got in the game in the seventh shortly after Hartnett had been injured for the second successive day. Gabby hurt his index finger, not seriously, and retired just before Don Gutteridge knocked out French with a single. Bryant couldn't hold the lead, although supported by the play in which Cavarretta saved the day with his freak play off the wall. A double by Terry Moore drove home the tying run.

Get to Warneke Early.

The Cubs lost no time in getting after Warneke, at whom they have been very sore ever since Lon tried to mow down Hartnett with a duster in Chicago a week ago. Hack opened the game with a double to left center, moved to third on Herman's out and scored on Demaree's single to left. Cavarretta forced Demaree and Reynolds struck out.

Carleton was wabbly at the outset, but managed to hold the Cardinals to a tie in the first inning. Moore walked and S. Martin knocked a double along the right foul line, putting Moore on third. Padgett popped to Jurges, but Medwick walked, loading the bases. Moore scored on a wild pitch, S. Martin going to third and Medwick to second. Mize bounced to Collins, who threw to the plate in time to get S. Martin. Brown fouled to Herman.

Hartnett Smacks One.

Hartnett got even for last week's bean ball when he opened the second inning with his tenth homer of the season, a line shot into the left field bleachers. Collins, Jurges, and Carleton were easy outs.

In the third the Cubs made four runs to get Warneke in the bath-house. Hack walked and went to third on Herman's single to left. Demaree forced Herman, scoring Hack. Cavarretta doubled to left, putting Demaree on third. Reynolds also doubled to left, scoring Demaree and Cavarretta. McGee replaced Warneke and S. Martin threw out Hartnett. Collins doubled to right center, scoring Reynolds. Jurges was given an intentional pass, but Carleton flied to Padgett.

The Cards made a run in their portion of the third. S. Martin again doubled, but was out at third when he tried to advance after Padgett's blooper fell in short left. Medwick then doubled, scoring Padgett. Mize popped to Herman and Brown fouled to Hartnett.

French Pitches Triple.

Neither team did much in the fourth, but after the Cubs had faded out after getting Cavarretta and Reynolds on base with none out in the fifth the Cards became deplorably disrespectable in their half of the inning. S. Martin opened with a single and went to third on Padgett's single. Medwick walked, loading the bases with none out. French replaced Carleton, got two strikes past Mize, after which Johnny whanged a triple to left, scoring S. Martin, Padgett, and Medwick. Mize did not get home from third with the tying run because Brown grounded out to Jurges, Gutteridge fouled to Collins, and Owen popped to Collins.

Each team scored a run in the sixth. After Jurges had fouled to Owen and French had fanned, Hack singled to right and went to third on Herman's single to left. Demaree singled to right, scoring Hack. Cavarretta fouled to Gutteridge.

Cardinals Peck Away.

Pepper Martin batted for McGee and singled to center to open the Cardinal sixth. Moore forced Pepper, Herman to Jurges, after which S. Martin walked. Bordagaray batted for Padgett and popped to Herman, but Medwick came through with his second double, Moore scoring. Mize was given an intentional pass, loading the bases, but Brown flied out.

Shoun was the Cardinal pitcher in the seventh. Reynolds opened against him with a single to left. Reynolds was picked off first on a quick throw from Shoun. Hartnett walked, but Collins flied to Medwick and Jurges fouled to Mize.

The home seventh was an eventful inning. During the pitching to Gutteridge, Hartnett's right index finger was injured [it was his third finger yesterday] and Gabby sent in Garbark to replace himself. Gutteridge then singled to left and Bryant replaced French. Owen lined a drive to right and Cavarretta leaped high against the wall and came down with the ball in his hand. Gutteridge on first was confused as to what happened and held his base while the ball was relayed to second, Cavarretta to Bryant to Jurges. Gutteridge was forced when it was ruled that Cavarretta had trapped the ball off the wall, thus depriving Owen of a hit.

J. Martin flied deep to Reynolds, Owen taking second after the catch. Moore doubled to the left field wall and Owen scored. After an intentional pass to S. Martin Pinch Batter Slaughter grounded out.

Then came the great and lucky stand of the Cubs to avert defeat in the ninth and the calling of the game.

BIG NETWORKS WILL BROADCAST WORLD SERIES

Announcers Named by Commissioner Landis.

Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis announced yesterday that the world series will be made available to all the major networks for broadcasting on a sustaining basis, no sponsor having come forward to underwrite the sports classic.

Commissioner Landis also announced his choice of announcers for the broadcasts. They were picked from nominations made by the broadcasting chains.

On the Mutual network the play by play report is to be given by Bob Elson, W-G-N's veteran baseball announcer. If the Cubs are in the series Quin Ryan will do the color reporting here; if the Pirates should win, Jim Murray gets this assignment in Pittsburgh. Stan Lomax will assist Elson with the play by play and Dave Driscoll will handle the color in New York.

The NBC-Red network will have Red Barber of Cincinnati and Tom Manning of Cleveland giving the play by play report, and George Hicks and Paul Douglas of New York for color. The NBC-Blue chain will use John O'Hara of St. Louis, George Higgins of Minneapolis for play by play, and Albert Rosewell of Pittsburgh for color.

The CBS staf: France Laux of St. Louis, Bill Dyer of Philadelphia for play by play; Mel Allen, New York, color.

87,000 to See Michigan Meet Michigan State

seats for tomorrow's contest were handled in Lansing alone.

Certain historical angles add special interest to the thirty-third meeting of the state rivals. It will mark the debut of Fritz Crisler, one of the University of Chicago's brightest stars, as head coach at Michigan. If State wins its fifth straight game from the Wolverines, it will be the first team to accomplish the feat since Cornell took seven in a row from 1889 to 1894. Most of all, however, is the institutional rivalry. Michigan State no longer can be considered Michigan's country cousin. It has an enrollment this year of 6,200 and a freshman class of 2,300, almost 500 more than Michigan's.

With the exception of tackles, Coach Charles Bachman will start substantially the same team that defeated the Maize and Blue, 19 to 14, last season. His forward passing combination of John Pingel and Ole Nelson is regarded as one of the best in the land. The team has a winning psychology. The success of its entire season rests more or less on the outcome of this game.

Crisler's biggest problem has been to rid the older members of his squad of a defeatist complex. He is satisfied they are ready to go. He will start a veteran line, but can't make up his mind definitly about the personnel of the back field. He has two good sophomores, Jack Meyer, a quarter back from Elyria, O., and a right half back, Tom Harmon of Gary, who have looked good in practice, but as Crisler points out, haven't made a yard in college competition.

Enthusiasm is running high in Ann Arbor. Thousands of students paraded through the streets waving banners and flags after a massmeeting tonight.

Wisconsin Ready for Test Against Marquette Eleven

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Sept. 30.—There is something wrong around here. Coach Harry Stuhldreher is in a contented state as he looks a few hours ahead to Wisconsin's inaugural battle tomorrow with Marquette. For a gentleman who has won medals for his ability to fear impending engagements his present complacent attitude is amazing.

It is possible, of course, that the former member of Notre Dame's "Four Horsemen," after three years in the Wisconsin atmosphere, has become infected with the long standing notion that the Badgers, before a game is played, are sure fire champions.

Or Stuhldreher may be the innocent victim of the guile of Roundy, the local downtown coach who figures the Badgers are going to be 40 per cent stronger than last season. Roundy admits he might be off by ½ of 1 per cent or such, but, not being good at fractions, he didn't carry his reckoning down to a fine conclusion.

Badgers Are Faster.

The Stuhldreher enthusiasm was evident by what he said this afternoon as he watched his boys fit themselves into new, flashy uniforms. He has more speed in this batch of athletes. He has more and better passers. His only gloomy note is that the miserable weather prevailing when fall training got under way delayed the performers in getting themselves into prime condition.

Stuhldreher's tendency to believe that he'll have an outfit of experience is warranted by the fact that of the eleven fellows he has billed for starting rôles tomorrow, nine are hangovers from other seasons. The two newcomers are sophomores and each will be stationed at an end position. They are Gordon Gile of Shorewood, Wis., and Al Lorenz of Oak Park, Ill. Of the nine others only four, Tackle Gene Brodhagen and Backs Billy Schmitz, Roy Bellin, and Howard Weiss, started against Marquette last season when the Badgers recorded a 12 to 0 victory.

Marquette, which invariably gives the Badgers trouble, will have to pay close attention to the back field Stuhldreher intends to start tomorrow. All the members of this quartet know most of the tricks of football. Four of them can pass or receive. They're all fairly fast. Three of them can punt, Weiss and Bellin being the best. That's a versatile combination, and to worry Marquette still further, the Badgers have several other excellent back field specialists for replacements.

32,000 May Attend.

Although the battle has no Big Ten significance it will not be waged before a slim house. Milwaukee, the home town of the Marquette warriors, is sending out as many of its citizens as can get away. Some of them will be Wisconsin adherents. This rush of business from the outside is expected to swell the attendance to 32,000—if the weather remains good.

DE PAUL SUPPLIES ANSWER TO ILLINI PUZZLE TODAY

Was Illinois Merely Off Stride Last Week?

BY HOWARD BARRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 30.—The University of Illinois will get the answer to an important question about its football team in tomorrow's game with De Paul in Memorial stadium. The question is: Was last Saturday's 6 to 0 defeat by Ohio university a true indication of Illinois' strength?

If the answer is yes, the supporters of the Illini must look forward with the greatest foreboding to a schedule which includes games with Indiana, Notre Dame, Northwestern, Michigan, Ohio State, and Chicago. If it is no, then good cheer will prevail again.

Illini fans point out that five of their team's six fumbles last Saturday were recovered by the opposition. They are inclined to gloss over this sloppy work by arguing that it was too early in the season for the team to be well drilled. Each of those fumbles meant a loss of distance equivalent to a punt. Multiplied by five, that's a lot of ground.

Learn to Hold Ball.

The Illini feel that they've learned to hang on to the ball during the last week of practice and expect to give a true account of themselves.

De Paul will go into the game with the confidence acquired in running up a 38 to 0 victory over Ripon last week. During the game, a number of back field men showed power and speed enough to give the Illini something to worry about. These backs are Walter Malinowicz, Ed Norris, Bill Hinckley, Bill Corrigan, and Tom O'Brien.

Malinowicz is a hard driving line plunger and O'Brien is a dangerous broken field runner who has the knack of mixing speed with a change of pace.

Peterson May Not Play.

There is considerable question whether Illinois will be able to start Cliff Peterson, generally considered the most capable member of the back field. Coach Bob Zuppke has stated that Peterson will not be used unless absolutely necessary because of a shoulder injury. If he doesn't play, his place will be filled by Bob Wehrli.

The Illinois team will be composed largely of unknown quantities, only five members of the probable starting lineup being lettermen. To speed up the line, Zuppke has indicated that he will start two comparatively light guards, George Bernhardt and Wes Martin, who weigh 188 and 180 pounds, respectively.

Scoreless Tie Last Year.

Last year's game between Illinois and DePaul resulted in a scoreless tie. In 1936, the only other meeting, Illinois won, 9 to 6.

It will be American Legion day tomorrow and approximately 10,000 members of the legion, veterans of foreign wars, reserve officers' association and women's auxiliaries will be guests of the university at the game.

PURDUE PLAYS BUTLER

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Purdue's football team will leave tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock for Indianapolis, where the Boilermakers will make their first appearance in thirty-three years in a renewal of the series with Butler.

Purdue ended its drill this afternoon with signal practice. Coach Mal Elward said that with the exception of August Morningstar, who will replace the injured co-captain, Paul Humphrey, at center, he would start the same team against Butler that opened the season with a 19 to 6 victory over Detroit last Saturday.

Gene Britt and Felix Mackiewicz will be at ends, Joe Mihal and Dick Johnson at tackles, Whitey Johnson and Carl Verplank at guards, Ted Hennis at quarter back, Lou Brock and Jack Brown at half backs, and Tony Ippolito at full back. The 130 piece Purdue band will make the trip to Indianapolis.

Investors' Guide

Pyramiding Profits.

Investors' Guide: During the world war I knew of a man who made $30,000 with $500 by pyramiding in United States Steel common. I understand he used a 10 per cent margin. How did he do it? Can you give an example with figures of how this could be done? The $500 was all the money he had.—H. G.

Answer: This would have been entirely possible, providing the person could judge the market well enough always to buy at the lowest price on a downswing and sell at the highest price on the upswing.

United States Steel common stock fluctuated during the war years as follows:

	Low.	High.		Low.	High.
1914	48	67¼	1917	.....79½	136⅝
1915	38	89½	1918	.....86½	116
1916	.....79¾	129¾	1919	.....86¼	115½

Assume the person had $500 and was able to find a broker willing to let him operate on a 10 per cent margin. If he had bought all the shares of United States Steel common possible for his $500 as margin at the low of $38 a share in 1915, he would have got about 131 shares with a total market value of $4,978.

To make the problem simple, let's assume that he held the stock until 1917 and sold it at the highest price reached that year. If he sold his 131 shares at $136 a share, he would have received $17,816. His investment was only $500. The profit on the two transactions, one purchase and one sale, would have been a little more than $17,000.

If, however, instead of holding his 131 shares until the peak of the market in 1917 the person had sold at the high each year and bought in again at the low his profit would have been much larger. By doing this, using round figures, we calculated a profit of nearly $42,000 at the end of 1918, making one purchase and one sale each year during the period.

This sounds pretty good, doesnt' it? The main catch, of course, is in knowing when the market has reached a peak or a low on a price movement, and selling or buying accordingly. Also, you cannot trade on a 10 per cent margin now. The minimum margin requirement is now 40 per cent. This kind of gambling is dangerous even for a shrewd professional. It is usually suicide for the amateur.

Margins used to be arranged by agreement between the broker and customer. The broker could use his own judgment in extending credit to his clients. The 10 per cent margin, however, seems very small protection in any market.

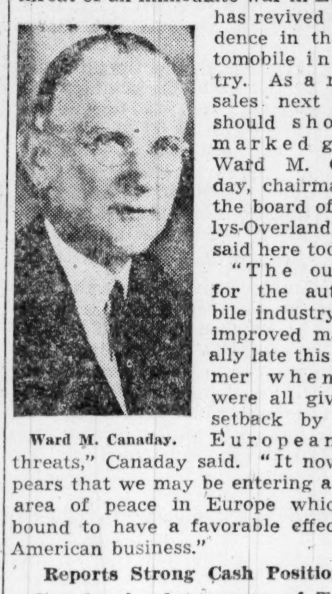
REMOVAL OF WAR THREAT BELIEVED AUTO TRADE AID

'39 Sales Gain Expected by Willys Chairman.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Toledo, O., Sept. 30.—Removal of the threat of an immediate war in Europe has revived confidence in the automobile industry. As a result sales next year should show a marked gain, Ward M. Canaday, chairman of the board of Willys-Overland, Inc., said here today.



Ward M. Canaday.

"The outlook for the automobile industry had improved materially late this summer when we were all given a setback by the European war threats," Canaday said. "It now appears that we may be entering a new area of peace in Europe which is bound to have a favorable effect on American business."

Reports Strong Cash Position.

Canaday heads a group of Toledo citizens and others that have been fighting to keep Willys-Overland, one of the oldest of the independent companies, moving forward. Despite the fact that Willys-Overland, along with most other automobile companies, had a bad year in 1938, it is in a strong cash position as it is preparing for its 1939 line, Canaday said.

Willys-Overland is a noteworthy example of what a going company in private hands means to a city of the size of Toledo. When its plant is in full production it gives employment to about 5,000 persons and directly or indirectly helps to support about 50,000 of the city's 320,000 population.

Consequently the efforts of this independent company to advance in the automobile industry are getting the support of the community. So far Willys has had no labor trouble.

Forced to Take Active Part.

Canaday is an advertising man by profession. Some years ago when the going was difficult for Willys-Overland he was forced to take an active part in the manufacturing end of the business.

"I wasn't sure of myself when I had to get into factory production," Canaday said. "That sort of work was clear out of my line. But I now get a real kick out of it, seeing automobiles come off the assembly line, because I know what it means to the people of this city."

OPEN ARGUMENT ON RAILROADS' PAY REDUCTION

Needed, Lines Insist; Harmful, Says Labor

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—Railroad management and labor today presented forceful arguments on the proposed 15 per cent wage cut. Hearings opened before President Roosevelt's three-man investigating committee. Both the strike and the wage cut, which would have become effective today and tomorrow, are postponed for sixty days under the provisions of the rail-labor act.

Both sides chose the same argument in pleading their cause—national recovery. J. Carter Fort, counsel for the railroad managements, declared that national recovery was impaired because the railroads faced financial disaster. The wage cut was necessary to preserve them, he said.

Argument of Labor.

Attorney Charles M. Hay, representing the Railway Labor Executives' Association, retaliated with the declaration that all industry, hence national recovery, will suffer from a railway wage cut. Other management steps rather than a 250 million dollar annual wage slash are necessary to bolster the railroads, he said. A coördinated transportation policy, worked out by management and labor, was suggested.

Presiding over the hearing is Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy of the North Carolina supreme court, chairman of the President's commission and a veteran arbitrator in railroad disputes. His conferees on the committee are Dean James M. Landis of the Harvard Law School, and Prof. Harry A. Millis, economist of the University of Chicago. This commission is to investigate the dispute and file recommendations for settlement with the President within 30 days.

Landis Questions Counsel.

Occasionally Landis, former chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission, put questions to the opposing counsel. For the most part, the other members of the commission quietly listened to the opening arguments.

About twenty days will be used for presentation of testimony, equally divided between the management and labor. The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will plead its cause separately from that of the 18 other unions comprising the labor executives' association.

A. F. Whitney, president of the trainmen's union, disclosed that its evidence will consist principally of a 482-page book entitled "Main Street Not Wall Street," prepared by Whitney and a staff of investigators who turned in information on the railroads to the Wheeler senate committee on interstate commerce. The radical tinge of the investigators was criticized at the time of the Wheeler investigation.

Emphasizes "Rail Scandals."

Whitney said that the book, which is dedicated to President Roosevelt, will not be released publicly until its presentation to the commission. It is said to consist of information on railroad operations, with emphasis on "railroad scandals."

"This is not a tin cup case," Fort argued. "We are asking for a reduction because the general level of railroad wages is unreasonably high in the light of existing conditions.

"These conditions include as a most important factor, the desperate financial condition of the railroad industry. Pay rolls cannot be met when there is no money to meet them. When a key industry of this kind is facing disaster, it cannot aid national recovery."

Fort said that repeatedly in the past rail wages have been raised because living costs have gone up, or because of improvement in the railroads' situation generally.

"It is a poor rule which does not work both ways," he said.

If other industry is to prosper, railroad wages must be maintained, Hay argued. Railroad wages have risen more slowly than in other fields, he contended. A wage cut would be a signal for other industries to follow, he asserted.

Argues Cut Is Harmful.

"A general wage cut," he said, "would have the effect of sending us into another nose dive. A wage cut at this time would do more harm from the standpoint of business, gross earnings, and net income than it could possibly do good."

Hay declared that railroad wages have presented no problems to the industry; that their problems arise from two major sources: [1] Decline of gross business due to competition and seasons and [2] bad financial policies and practices.

A wage cut will solve no problems and effect no reforms, Hay contended. What is needed, he said, is a comprehensive national transportation plan for the proper regulation and correlation of all forms of transportation, a correction of financial abuses, and a thorough going program of reorganization. Labor would be willing to coöperate in the formulation of a policy that would advance the cause of the railroads by providing better service and more efficient operations.

He accused management of failing "to squeeze the water out of their capital structures."

Argentina Finishes Paying 50 Million American Loan

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The Argentine government tomorrow will pay $1,936,750 to the banking house of Brown, Harriman & Co., the final instalment on a $50,000,000 loan obtained in New York early in 1930, it was announced today by the Argentine information bureau.

Nickel Plate Extends Note Deposit Date

New York, Sept. 30. — [Special.] — The New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad today set back until Oct. 11 the deposit date for its 6 per cent notes under a plan for a three year extension of maturity. The road's executive committee disclosed that deposits had been disappointing. Nickel Plate directors, meanwhile deferred payment of the interest due tomorrow on the refunding mortgage 5½ per cent series A bonds.

George D. Brooke.

George D. Brooke, Nickel Plate president, telegraphed the announcement of the road's actions to the stock list committee of the New York Stock exchange after a meeting of the directors in Cleveland. Referring to the new Oct. 11 deadline, Brooke said that "on that date the plan will be declared operative or application will be made for reorganization under section 77B of the bankruptcy act."

Deadline Extended Twice.

The new deadline marked the second extension of time for deposit of the $15,000,000 6 per cent notes, which mature tomorrow. A week ago deposits totaled 85 per cent.

The road on Sept. 1 deferred interest on the $59,875,000 refunding 4½s due in 1978.

The indenture on the 5½ per cent bonds provides for a grace period of sixty days, the same as in the case of the 4½ per cent issue. There is also a grace period for the payment of interest on the 6 per cent notes, but none on the payment of principal.

Nickel Plate securities broke sharply this morning when directors were in session and rumors that the road may petition for reorganization were circulated.

The 6s were down 15 points at one time, and the 5½s, 4½s and 4s lost much ground. All of the issues rallied, however, after the announcement.

Another Road Seeks Cut.

The Central railroad of New Jersey today began to prepare to ease its fixed interest charges, when Edward W. Scheer, president of the carrier, announced that such a proposal will be made to bondholders soon.

Some of the leading holders of the Alton Railroad company 3 per cent bonds have received suggestions from Alton that the interest be placed on a contingent basis for eight years.

MEMPHIS AGREES TO BUY ELECTRIC LINES OF UTILITY

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—The city of Memphis, in coöperation with the Tennessee Valley authority tonight agreed to purchase the electrical properties of the Memphis Power and Light company for $13,500,000. The system will be used to distribute TVA power.

The announcement was made by Mayor Watkins Overton after a conference with Paul B. Sawyer, president of the National Power and Light company. Memphis Power is a subsidiary of National Power.

The agreement must still be approved by the directors and stockholders of the two companies. It includes all the utility's electrical properties—lines and power plant.

Sale a Compromise.

Sawyer had submitted an offer to sell the lines for $16,401,418 on Sept. 23. The offer was rejected by the city, which made a counter offer of $13,000,000. Tonight's agreement was a compromise.

Details of the sale are to be completed before Dec. 1. The TVA "yardstick" schedule of rates is to become effective as soon as the city acquires title to the property. The TVA rates are about 25 to 40 per cent lower than those of Memphis Power.

Memphis is now serving approximately 4,300 customers with TVA current through a distribution system of its own, much of which is still under construction. It is estimated the complete system would not have been completed until January, 1941.

Price to Pay Bonds.

The Memphis Power will retain its natural gas distributing system, its office building, and the street railway and bus system.

It is estimated the $13,500,000, with the money in the treasury of the Memphis Power and Light company, will be sufficient to retire the $15,275,000 of bonds outstanding and leave something for the holders of the $6,000,000 of preferred stock. National Power holds all the common stock. The Memphis Power company probably will sell its outside distribution system [connecting Memphis with Mississippi and Arkansas] to TVA, it was said.

FREIGHT TRAFIC CLIMBS TO NEW HIGH FOR 1938

Railroad freight loadings in the United States during the week ended Sept. 24 totaled 675,553 cars, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. This was an increase of 15,411 cars over trafic of the preceding week, which had been a 1938 high.

Freight trafic, however, still was far below the levels of other years, according to the association. Last week's loadings showed a decrease of 161,332 cars from the like week of 1937 and 131,690 cars from the similar week of 1936.

The hurricane along the eastern seaboard had an adverse affect on freight loadings in the last few days of the week.

Chicago Business in August Less Active than Year Ago

Business activity in Chicago during August made a poor showing against that of the same month last year. This was shown yesterday in the monthly industrial survey of the Chicago Association of Commerce. However, in several instances improvement over July, this year, was revealed.

Like all preceding months of 1938 August found Chicago far below 1937 levels in almost all lines of business, according to the survey. There were only three exceptions of importance: More telephones were in use during the month than in August, 1937, conditions at the stockyards were better, and a larger number of passengers was carried to and from the city by aviation companies.

Indicative of the general letdown during August were the sharp drops from a year ago in electric power production, bank clearances, and post-office receipts.

Lines of business activity which showed improvement over July, this year, included production of pig iron, power production, and Chicago Surface Lines operations. Indices of department store sales also were higher than in July.

Meat Exports.

Exports of meat by the United States have been dwindling steadily for several years. Great Britain and Germany, once large buyers of American meat have cut imports drastically.

Great Britain has imposed "quotas" on imports of foreign pork to encourage home production. Germany has been too poor to buy from the United States the large quantities of meat formerly taken.

In 1937 the United States exported 63,000,000 pounds of pork, valued at $13,208,000. In 1919, the biggest pork export year in the country's history, shipments totaled 1,854,000,000 pounds, worth $582,745,000. The 1937 exports of lard amounted to 137,000,000 pounds which had a value of $16,103,000. In 1919, also the record year lard shipments to foreign countries totaled 784,000,000 pounds with a value of $245,709,000.

The United States sold 13,000,000 pounds of beef last year to foreign countries. The exports were valued at $2,229,000. In the record beef export year, 1918, exports totaled 700,000,000 pounds or $169,025,000.

STORES' SALES SHOW SMALLER DROP FROM 1937

Sales of department stores in the United States during the week ended Sept. 24 showed a much smaller decline from year ago levels than did sales of the preceding week. This was disclosed yesterday in the federal reserve system's weekly survey.

Throughout the nation department store sales were only 6 per cent below those of the corresponding week of 1937. In the week ended Sept. 17 sales were down 12 per cent. In the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district sales were 5.9 per cent under those of a year ago. In the preceding week they were 19.7 per cent lower.

In Chicago, department store turnover was only 2.6 per cent under that of the corresponding week of 1937. In the week ended Sept. 17 sales here dropped to 18.7 per cent.

AUTO OUTPUT MAKES ANOTHER 25 PCT. UPTURN

Automobile production in American and Canadian factories this week increased 25 per cent for the second consecutive week, Ward's Automotive Reports estimated yesterday.

Output this week was estimated at 25,405 passenger cars and trucks. Production totaled 20,390 in the preceding week and 44,330 in the corresponding 1937 period.

The agency said that dealers' stocks are now much lower than a year ago.

The Pontiac division of General Motors corporation announced price reductions of $20 to $25 on its six cylinder line and $20 to $40 on eight cylinder cars. A new lower priced six cylinder car has been added to the line, the company said.

BRITISH POUND 20 CENTS ABOVE ITS RECENT LOW

Other Moneys Rise in Terms of Dollar.

British currency was quoted yesterday on international exchange dealings at 20 cents above the low point it reached earlier in the week when the negotiations to avert a European war appeared to have failed.

The pound led other foreign currencies in a vigorous recovery which whittled down the big premiums at which gold and American money has been quoted for the last week.

Higher prices were quoted on the currencies of France, Holland, Belgium, and Switzerland. All had been adversely affected by the war scare. Hardest hit were the pound and the franc which sold at the lowest figures in recent years.

Pound Up 5 Cents in Day.

The pound rose 5⅛ cents over Thursday's quotation on transactions in New York, closing at $4.83¼. The final quotation was within four cents of the old parity figure of $4.8665. The france closed at 2.705 cents, compared with 2.6775 cents on Thursday. The appreciation in the currencies of Scandinavian, Dutch, and Swiss currencies corresponded closely with the upturn in the pound.

Gold fell 1 shilling 9 pence an ounce in London, closing at 144 shillings 1 pence. In terms of American money the London quotation on gold was higher than on the preceding day, amounting to $34.98 against $34.56. This was due to the sharp appreciation of the pound in terms of American money.

Expect Reversal of Gold Flow.

Foreign exchange brokers predicted that the removal of the war threat may soon reverse the gold movement to the United States. Capital sent here for refuge may be shipped back to Europe, it was said. More gold was engaged yesterday, however, for shipment to New York. Engagements included $10,477,000 in England and $703,000 in Holland.

The gold stock of the United States increased by more than $600,000,000 during September, the largest monthly increase since February, 1934, the New York Federal Reserve bank reported yesterday.

FOREIGN MARKETS RISE

The recovery of values in foreign security markets was extended yesterday. Official news of the Munich agreement released new buying on the exchanges in London, Berlin, Paris, and Amsterdam. The recovery carried some issues back to the level at which they were selling before the "war scare" selling began.

Brokers in London began to fill buying orders before the market officially opened, dispatches reported. The demand grew as trading progressed and after the official opening of the market prices made further advances. Final quotations were the highest quoted during the day.

European Bonds Rise.

British government bonds rose 2 to 5 points. Advances of 6 to 12 points were made in German bonds. Closing prices on Czechoslovakia issues were as much as 19 points above the preceding day.

Industrial shares made the largest gains in London, some issues regaining their pre-crisis prices.

Higher prices were quoted on the Berlin boerse, but the gains were not as spectacular as those recorded in other European markets. The volume of trading was described as moderate.

International stocks led the upturn in Paris. Trading was heavy. Gains of 5 to 10 points were posted in the Amsterdam market.

J. I. Case Votes First Dividend for This Year

A year-end dividend of $5 was declared yesterday on the common stock of the J. I. Case company. The corporation, which pays common dividends on an interim basis, is a large manufacturer of farm machinery with headquarters in Racine, Wis. The current payment will be made Oct. 24 to stockholders of record Oct. 12, directors said.

S. De Witt Clough reports Abbott Laboratories sales higher.

The disbursement will be the first on the common shares since Oct. 23, 1937, when $6 was paid. On Dec. 24, 1936, a payment of $4 was made.

Interim dividends also were voted by directors of the Quaker State Oil Refining corporation and the Dubilier Condenser corporation. The former company will pay 25 cents on the common stock on Nov. 1 to holders of record Oct. 14. The last previous payment was 25 cents on March 15.

Dubilier Condenser Dividend.

Dubilier Condenser directors voted to pay 10 cents on the common shares on Oct. 12 to stock of record Oct. 7. This concern's last previous payment was an initial dividend of 15 cents on Oct. 8, 1937.

In a letter accompanying dividend checks sent yesterday to stockholders of Abbott Laboratories, President S. De Witt Clough took an optimistic view of the company's prospects.

"New products introduced this summer plus strong selling effort have boosted sales ahead of a year ago for both August and the first fifteen days of this month," he said. "Sales of vitamin products promise to be better this year than was the case last winter."

Abbot Laboratories yesterday paid 40 cents to holders of its common stock.

SEC. WALLACE DEFENDS COTTON CONTROL PLAN

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, today vigorously defended the federal cotton control program against widespread southern criticism. He addressed a farmers' meeting here. He assailed both the domestic allotment plan as faulty and proposals for a substantially higher loan on the staple.

Wallace advocated reënactment of a cotton processing tax to assure maintenance of a parity price for the south's money crop. He urged the same thing for wheat at Hutchinson, Kas., yesterday.

He suggested proponents of the domestic allotment plan and supporters of higher loans "argue it out with each other." After that, both groups may be willing to go along "with the rest of us down the middle of the road," he said.

STOCKS CLIMB SWIFTLY WITH PEACE ASSURED

Buying Orders Pour Into Market.

New York, Sept. 30.—Confirmation of the news that a peaceful settlement of the Czechoslovak crisis had been arranged was greeted by the stock market today with further advances. Gains ranging from substantial fractions to around three points were common in active issues. Preferred and sensitive common stocks spurted six to twelve points.

Transfers totaled 1,897,860 shares. The list broadened to 859 issues, of these 735 closed higher, forty-one lower, and eighty-three unchanged. According to the Dow-Jones averages the industrial section surged to 141.45, up 4.29. The rail group gained 0.99 to 26.61. The utility index swelled to 19.44, up 0.82.

Expect General Settlement.

The reported "nonaggression" pact signed by Prime Minister Chamberlain and Adolf Hitler strengthened Wall street's optimistic sentiments. The agreement was held to indicate a general European settlement was in prospect.

Augmenting the peace news as price making factors were several favorable business items.

The bulk of the day's gains was registered in an active first hour. Some 790,000 shares changed hands. Demand came from all parts of the country, as well as from foreign sources. Improved public buying also was evident. The ticked fell behind after the first few minutes of trading. It did not catch up until 10:30 o'clock.

Several leaders had late openings as specialists were hard pressed arranging the windfall of orders.

Several Stocks Open Late.

Among the prominent stocks to appear fifteen to twenty-five minutes late were United States Steel, Chrysler, and General Motors.

After the first hour activity diminished somewhat. Final prices were close to the highs of the day.

The Dow-Jones hourly averages for thirty industrial stocks, showing the rapid advance made in today's trading hours, follow:

11 a. m. [New York time]	140.18	3.02
Noon	140.47	3.31
1 p. m.	141.05	3.89
2 p. m.	141.23	4.07
Close	141.45	4.29

General Motors again took volume honors. It closed 1⅝ points higher. Chrysler netted almost 3 points. United States Steel held to an opening gain of 2⅛ points. Republic, Youngstown, and Bethlehem were other active steel stocks. Greyhound and Yellow Truck were in good demand. Both added fractions.

Some Industrial Favorites.

Other prominent industrial issues were General Electric, up 1¾ points; United States Rubber, up ⅞; Montgomery Ward, up ¾; Goodyear, up 1; Westinghouse, up 3½; International Nickel, up 2⅛; Anaconda, up ⅝; and Douglas, up 1¼ points.

Chemicals were strong as a group. Allied Chemical jumped 5½ points. Du Pont and Union Carbide each gained more than two points.

Carrier shares were more active than they had been recently. Gains in some issues were substantial. New York Central, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, and Great Northern rose a point or so. Union Pacific gained a conspicuous 4 points.

Nickel Plate issues turned in a poor performance. The common gave up 1½ points and the preferred 2 points. Reputedly, they reflected the news that the road had deferred payment of interest due tomorrow on two bonds.

Spanish Peace Move Aids I. T. T.

International Telephone and Telegraph continued active and strong on the rumored prospect of settlement of the Spanish civil war. The stock closed at 9¾, up 1 point. American Telephone gained 2 points.

Radio corporation again was active and worked fractionally higher. Fractional advances were the rule in the power and light section.

Phillips Petroleum was a big gainer in the oils, spurting 2 points. Texas corporation and Standard Oil of New Jersey both gained around one point.

COTTON

Trading in cotton futures yesterday was reported to be heavy. Buying attributed to Bombay, Liverpool, and to domestic and foreign mills and spot interests early advanced prices nearly $1 a bale. Southern hedging developed later, and a reaction followed. Closing trades were at net gains of .03 to .08 cent a pound. October cotton in Chicago was .03 cent lower.

A broad demand developed for cotton goods in New York. Sales were estimated at 15,000,000 yards. Prices were quoted ⅛ cent a yard higher on all types. Sales late Thursday were placed between 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 yards.

Senators from cotton growing states were reported to be asking for a higher loan level on cotton. A loan price of 11.85 cents a pound was mentioned. The current maximum is 8.30 cents.

Spot cotton closed .05 to .06 cent higher, with New Orleans, 8.17 cents, and Galveston and Houston, 8.06 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Commodities

Rubber, hides, and nonferrous metals were leaders in a further advance in commodity futures yesterday. The upturn was attributed to the rising stock market and assurance of European peace. Gains were also shown by coffee, silk, and wool tops. Easing slightly against the trend were sugar, cottonseed oil, and cocoa contracts.

Reflecting a stepping up of industrial demand in spot markets, crude rubber contracts climbed 0.62 to 0.68 cent a pound. The spot price of smoked ribbed sheets advanced to 16.65 cents from 16 cents on Thursday.

* * *

Raw hides futures moved up 0.21 to 0.26 cent a pound at New York. Contracts on the Chicago Mercantile exchange were up 0.15 to 0.60 cent a pound. Light cows in the Chicago cash market were up ¼ cent to 11¼ cents and steers were ½ cent higher.

Prices for export copper reflected the firmer tone in staples by ranging up to 10.54 cents a pound. This was 0.10 cent above prices a day earlier and about ½ cent higher than Wednesday's low of 10.05 cents. Copper futures rose 0.13 to 0.16 cent a pound. Lead sales in the spot market were active, and futures gained 0.05 to 0.10 cent a pound. Tin contracts advanced 0.20 cent a pound.

* * *

Closing ½ cent to 2½ cents higher were raw silk contracts. Rio coffee was up 0.05 to 0.07 cent and Santos closed 0.05 to 0.10 cent higher.

Domestic sugar contracts, unsettled slightly by a lower cash market, finished unchanged to 0.02 cent a pound lower. The spot price of raw sugar declined 0.06 cent to 2.99 cents a pound.

Weakness in lard and grains influenced an easiness in cottonseed oil, which closed off 0.03 to 0.07 cent a pound.

WHEAT SLUMPS AS EUROPEANS TURN TO PEACE

Many Recent Buyers Sell Speculative Holdings.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

Closing prices on the December delivery of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday:

	Yesterday.	Thursday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .63¾	$ .65⅝	$1.07¾
Corn	.48¼	.49⅝	.63¼
Oats	.25⅜	.26	.30¾
Rye	.43½	.44⅞	.79
Soy Beans	.75⅝	.77⅝	.94⅛

The fading war scare in Europe was reflected yesterday in sharply lower prices for grains in American markets. Wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade closed with net losses of 1¼ to 1⅞ cents. Corn was 1⅜ cents a bushel lower. Final sales in wheat and corn were about 2 cents and 1½ cents, respectively, above the lowest prices so far this season.

Many speculators who were buyers recently on the war scare sold out their holdings of futures.

Buying of wheat futures in Chicago against sales in Winnipeg tended to check the decline in the former market.

Winnipeg Prices Lower.

The Winnipeg market closed 2¼ to 2⅝ cents a bushel lower, with the October delivery at 60½ cents. This was 1 cent a bushel under the price prevailing on Sept. 13, when it was reported that the European political situation had become tense.

European wheat markets yesterday continued to readjust from a war to a peace basis. Liverpool futures closed 1¼ to 1¾ cents lower. The Rotterdam market declined 4½ to 5¼ cents a bushel. A very slow demand was reported for cash wheat. Only a few small lots of North American grain could be confirmed as having been sold.

Hedging Sales Depress Corn.

Liberal hedging sales had a depressing effect on the corn market. Purchases of old grain for deferred shipment from the country were estimated as high as 600,000 bushels. Chicago handlers were said to have immediately resold about 500,000 bushels of the grain to eastern states and Montreal. Vessel room was taken for 750,000 bushels to Buffalo. Large shipments are expected to be made next week from local elevator stocks.

Oat futures closed major fractions of a cent a bushel lower. Rye declined 1⅜ to 1½ cents and soy bean futures were 1⅝ to 1⅞ cents lower. Lard closed with net losses of 22½ to 40 cents per 100 pounds.

WINTER WHEAT RAISERS EXCEED AAA ALLOTMENT

American winter wheat farmers are coöperating in a half-hearted manner with the AAA acreage reduction program for the 1939 crop.

Approximately 47,497,000 acres of winter wheat will be seeded for the 1939 crop, it is estimated by C. M. Galvin, statistician for James E. Bennett & Co. This is 9,819,000 acres less than the 57,316,000 acres seeded in the fall of 1937. The AAA winter wheat allotment for the 1938 seeding is 38,000,000 acres. The estimate indicates that farmers will seed about 9,500,000 acres in excess of the allotment.

MEATS AND LIVE STOCK SINK AS WAR IS AVERTED

With war in Europe averted, the trend of most live stock prices at the stockyards turned lower yesterday. Wholesale markets for meats also were affected. Beef and veal met narrower demand at weak rates. Lamb meat as well as fresh pork sold off 50 cents per hundred pounds. Some kinds of meat declined to the lowest levels in several weeks and to new four year lows for September.

Final rates in all hogs except sows were steady to 10 cents lower than the average of the preceding session. Sows held steady, being extremely scarce.

Lamb prices slumped 15 to 25 cents after a few loads had sold to early buyers at fully steady rates yesterday.

Not enough cattle were offered to put prices to a test yesterday. Quality was plain and the selection limited in the steers and yearlings. Sales were called steady, considering quality.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Silo Filling Time.

September 30, 1938.

THERE is lots of activity in the cornfields, on the farm roads, and around the silos this week. The men on the Du Page county farm are busy with the important job of filling silos. They are operating the mechanical corn binder and loading the bundles onto the flat wagons. Draft horses and tractors haul the heavy loads to the silos, and there the corn is chopped up by the silage cutter and blown to the top of the white silos.

The last few days have been ideal for filling silos. Last week the rainy weather kept the men out of the fields and delayed the job of corn cutting. With the silos filled, the only other field harvest on schedule is that of picking corn. After the first frost, and the pumpkins are ripe in the test plots, it will be time to think about corn picking. Until that time the only harvesting to be done is that of picking soy beans. Soy beans are the last vegetables to be gathered.

Gourds Add Autumn Touch.

On the wire fence bordering the test plots a different kind of "vegetable" is growing. It is a vine bearing numerous colorful gourds. Some of them are green, some are half orange and half green, and others are striped light green and dark green like miniature watermelons. Although they are not edible, the gourds are decorative and add another autumn touch to the farm.

In the farm fields near the test plots one of the workers found another kind of vegetable this week. It is a giant puffball . . . the second found in the farm fields in the last two weeks. The first of these large mushrooms weighed 6 pounds and measured 42 inches in circumference. The one brought in this week sets a new record for the farm—9 pounds and 46 inches in circumference.

Another giant puffball was found in the same field, but it has been left to grow. Maybe it will wind up in first place in this year's mushroom contest.

Shortage of Wild Fruits.

The shortage of thornapples, wild crabs, and other wild fruits has forced the robins and other bird residents of Chicagoland to look for other food this fall. The supply of wild fruits is limited because of the killing frosts last spring. When there is a good crop of thornapples the robins flock to the red fruit. Many of the gray dogwood shrubs have been stripped of their bitter berries, and the elderberry shrubs in the farm woods also have been visited by the birds. In one wooded area on the farm almost all of the elderberry and dogwood fruit clusters have been eaten.

The big pond on the farm looks as if it had a light fall of snow on it. The white comes from the feathers of the white swans. The ducks and the swans have been moulting. In some parts of the pond there are good sized areas of water completely covered with the discarded plumage of the birds.
